WASHINGTON, July 11.—Fearing international embarrassments, President Hoover was reported today as certain to refuse the request of the senate for the secret preliminary correspondence exchanged between the State Department and America's Ambassadors abroad over the London Naval Treaty.

Rumor had it that Mr. Hoover feared publication of the documents would lead to serious diplomatic entanglement in Great Britain and Japan and the withdrawal of ambassador Charles G. Dawes, now representing the United States at London. It was further said the President would decline even to send the documents to the senate in confidence, through fear of a "leak" in that body, which would be just as embarrassing as formal publication of the correspondence.

Requests All Data
The senate requested all secret memoranda, relating to the treaty, in a formal resolution, adopted 53 to 4, the dissenters voting against it solely because it was couched in polite terms. The resolution however

PA NEW OBSERVES

Fire-plug at the corner of Mercer and North streets has become a thing of beauty today. It is so "loud" that it will certainly be heard from now on, as well as the fact that Pa New observes the other water plugs in the city will be given the same attention.

It is about time that city employees paint the curb stones of the city to the no parking zones. Pa New notices that cars are parking too near intersections.

Next Monday is a big holiday in France. It is Bastille Day, or French Independence Day. There are many New Castle folks in Europe at the present time. Pa New wouldn't be surprised if some of them will be in France on the big day July 14.

Over night hikes, picnics, swims, parties, games are a few of the many diversions the girls at Camp East Ewok are enjoying. There are nearly 50 girls out there at the present time and they are making merry!

Some of the women about town are very much disappointed at the name Charles and Anne gave to the boy. One local woman says she had thought of three names just to cute for words!

With a few more gas stations and practice golf courses scattered along the main highways throughout the country districts, the problem of lighting these roads will be taken care of.

SIMPLE CEREMONY WRITER'S WISH

(International News Service)
CROWBOROUGH, SUSSEX, Eng., July 11.—With an utter absence of the usual signs of mourning, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who forsook literature to probe the mysteries of death, was laid to rest here today. The body of the great writer, creator of the world-famous "Sherlock Holmes," was interred in the garden of his estate, Windlesham. Plans for an impressive funeral in the parish church were abandoned when it was learned Sir Arthur had expressed a wish to be forever beneath the rolling terrain of his Sussex home.

Two Non-Conformist ministers, in simple suit of black, conducted the brief ceremony as the coffin was lowered into its grave, dug by faithful retainers of the Doyle family. Besides Lady Doyle, her two daughters and her son and other immediate relatives, only a few close friends gathered in the fragrant garden as the body was lowered into its last resting place.

The Crowborough Golf Club, of which Sir Arthur formerly was team captain, flew its Union Jack at half mast, but the little village, respecting the wishes of the man to whom death

LIGHTNING BOLT STRIKES ONE PLANE

(International News Service)
ARKANSAS PASS, Tex., July 11.—Experienced aviator who viewed wreckage of the monoplane which fell near here yesterday, killing four prominent Kansas City men and their pilot, agreed today that a bolt of lightning struck the plane, tearing both wings from the fuselage.

The plane was returning to Kansas City from a fishing trip in the Gulf of Mexico when eye witnesses saw what they thought was an explosion. Both wings parted from the fuselage, and the plane plunged to earth about five miles from here. The wings fell several hundred feet from the men's bodies.

The dead:
Murat Boyle, president of the Missouri State Bar Association and leading Kansas City attorney.
R. J. Delano, contractor and prominent real estate dealer.
Raymond Watson, prominent attorney.

Eugene M. Lynn, president of the Kansas City Golf Association and expert accountant.
Eugene Gabbert, Airplane pilot. County authorities were expected

Curious Crowd Gathers Around Conan Doyle Home

(International News Service)
LONDON, July 11.—Hundreds of tourists and others gathered early today at Crowborough, Sussex, about the estate of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, in the hope of getting a glimpse of funeral services for the famous writer scheduled for this morning.

The departed spiritist and more famed creator of "Sherlock Holmes" will be interred in his own garden on Windlesham estate. Simple ceremonies have been planned by his family. Nevertheless, many journeyed to the locality to join, if possible, in the funeral procession. Not a few are secretly hoping for an unusual event in the way of a spirit manifestation, many of which have already been reported in various parts of England since Sir Arthur's death.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT COMES FROM SESSION

Believe Huston Plans To Step

By GEORGE L. DURNO

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Clausius H. Huston has enjoyed a reputation for many years as a poker player of no mean parts, and political observers today were fully convinced he is applying the tactics of the national indoor pastime to the situation revolving around his continuance as chairman of the republican national committee.

Whether the hand he is holding contains nothing more than the suspected pair of deuces, or whether he has drawn to a full house, no one knows.

No Show Down Yet
There hasn't been that promised showdown, and Huston apparently has those seeking his resignation bluffed to a standstill.

On the basis of a rather cryptic statement issued by the chairman personally, it is being assumed generally he plans to step aside after the special session of the senate has adjourned, but those who hope so have no assurance.

And meanwhile, the men who twenty-four hours ago were loud in

Six Hundred In Crowd At Camp Ceremony—Tully

A tract of 26 acres of beautiful camp ground along the Slippery Rock creek in Scott township, known as Camp Fred L. Rentz of the New Castle Y. M. C. A., was dedicated Thursday night to youth and the finest things it represents, at appropriate ceremonies held in the presence of 600 or more interested parents and friends from New Castle and its environs.

The evening's program, which took place in the newly completed dining lodge, marked the formal presentation of the grounds to the association by the donor, whose name it will always bear. The exercises, or the greater part at least, turned out to be a testimonial affair before the program had gone far, and tribute upon tribute was paid to the man and woman who have made the camp possible—Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Rentz.

Camp Purchased.
Back in January of this city, Mr. Rentz handed over to the board of Y directors a check covering the entire cost of the immense property. Only a few weeks ago Mrs. Rentz announced that she would build a dining and library lodge—the same building in which honor was paid to them Thursday evening.

Their interest in the development of the camp has been genuine, manifested most nobly by the things that they have done. They were determined the boys should have a place to go out in the open which would rank with the best of camping grounds in this section.

The camp was without a water system, so the thing for the Rentz family to do was to fill this important need by drilling a well. J. F. Rentz

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 11.—Although gasoline slumped to new low levels in California today Governor C. C. Young declined to intervene in the fight between major oil companies and independent companies and filling stations.

Gasoline fell to a new low of seven cents here and elsewhere throughout the state the fuel was retailed from 5 to 15 cents a gallon.

The gasoline industry should exhaust all means within itself to remedy unhealthy conditions before seeking any form of state intervention, Gov. Young said.

INTENSE HEAT WAVE GRIPS MIDDLE WEST

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, July 11.—Central western states remained in the grip of an almost intolerable heat wave today with warmer weather promised by forecasters.

Temperatures above 100 degrees were common throughout the Mississippi valley and mountain states. Six more persons were reported dead from sunstroke. Huron, S. D., Sioux City, Ia., and Little Rock, Ark., each reported temperatures of 104 degrees above zero while unofficial Kansas temperatures ranged as high as 109.

Three deaths were reported in Minnesota, two at St. Louis and one at Council Bluffs, Ia.

Harvesting operations in Kansas and Minnesota were abandoned during the middle of the day in many sections due to the intense heat. A bright moon permitted harvesters to work on into the night in the Missouri valley region, it was reported.

STAYS ON JOB AFTER 50 YEARS IN STEEL PLANTS

Fifty years of labor in the steel industry mean nothing in the life of William E. McLaughlin of 218 East Falls street, for he smilingly accepted the congratulations of his friends on Wednesday and proceeded to start on another year of service.

"Billy" McLaughlin, as he is known to hundreds of New Castle people, started in the business of making steel at Middletown, Pa., July 9, 1880, and in the 50 years which have elapsed since that time, he has continued in the employ of the United States Steel Co. in various plants in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

For the past 35 years, he has labored at the New Castle works of the Carnegie Steel Co., where he is one of the most faithful employees on the payroll. For the past five years he has been a roller.

"Billy" came to the United States from Scotland in a sailing vessel at the age of nine years, making the voyage to America with an uncle. After landing in New York they proceeded to Middletown, Pa., where the family located. At the age of 17 he went to work in the steel plant at that place, later going to McKeesport and from thence to Youngstown, where he remained until 1898. In the latter year he came to New Castle, where he has since lived.

Although he became eligible for a pension in November, 1928, Mr. McLaughlin chose to stick to his job, because he knew he could not be contented to loaf after so many years of hard work. And so today he is still "rolling 'em out" at the Carnegie plant, with an inherent love for his job.

Maybe "Billy" will retire in a few years. He's close to the "three score and ten" mark, but not as long as he feels as young as he does today, he asserts.

Turkish Man Claims 155 Years

States

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 11.—That age-mellowed citizen of Turkey, Zaro Agha, who is to visit modern America, will bring with him a visa giving him age as 155 years.

The question of doubt about Mr. Zaro Agha's exact age is still unsettled, but the State department has been informed that a physician in Turkey gave the much married old chap the once-over and pronounced him well over a hundred years old.

His Turkish passport gives Agha's date of birth as 1775, one year before America started caring about the Fourth of July, and so this figure was placed in his visa.

Agha, it appears, has given little attention to his diet during the century and a half of life he has lived, but does claim to have scorned alcohol and tobacco.

Irene Schroeder, the Gun Girl and her paramour W. Glenn Dague, murderers of Corporal Brady Paul on December 27, 1929, who are under a death conviction for the crime, had a place in the sun again today. Not as glaring a spot as they had perhaps in March when their trials were held in the Lawrence County court, for today they were present in the court room, with their counsel, arguing their right to a new trial, because of alleged errors committed during the trials.

At noon Attorney Benjamin Jarrett, who with Attorney Thomas W. Dickey represents the famous pair, had completed his argument for a new trial for Irene and had been partly answered by Special Prosecutor Charles J. Margiotti. Margiotti will finish early this afternoon and the argument in Dague's case will be taken up. The case should be ready for Judge Hildebrand and Chambers who are sitting en banc, by tonight.

Gained In Weight
Neither Irene nor Glenn show any ill effects of their prison confinement. On the contrary they look better than they did in March. Always pudgy, Irene has gotten stouter and looks to have gained 10 or 15 pounds. Dague still has his ruddy complexion and also seems to have gained weight. As the lawyers wrangled over technicalities, the pair of them sat directly

To Try To Solve Mysteries Of Ancient Ruins

(International News Service)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 11.—Scientists at Yale University and at the Bessie P. Bishop Museum in Honolulu are attempting to solve the mysteries connected with the ruins, apparently of great antiquity, discovered in the Mariana Islands, lying in the Pacific between Hawaii and the Philippine Islands, which are said to indicate a vanished civilization comparable to that of ancient mainland Asia.

Co-operating, the scientists hope to find in the ruins themselves something that will throw light on the origin and the immigration of the Pacific peoples, by what routes in the distant past they left the Asiatic continent and spread over an area 8,000 miles long and 6,000 miles wide. For all the Pacific Islands seem to have had as residents people of the race that built the structures on the Marianas. Coincident with the study of the ruins comes announcement that Yale and the Bishop Museum are now in an agreement which will bring about a closer affiliation between the two institutions. The museum devotes its entire attention to a study of the Pacific area, and is the only institution so doing. Some departments in Yale's graduate school are working along the same lines, and the activities of both will be intensified.

Prof. Herbert E. Gregory, who was graduated from Yale in 1896, is now director of the museum of Honolulu. In the future, as occasion arises for a new director, the appointment is to come from the ranks of the Yale graduate school faculty. In addition each year the museum is to send a visiting professor to New Haven to give instructions and direct research in the problems of the Pacific area.

From the graduate school faculty is to be appointed a standing committee to supervise the research work of the museum and co-ordinate it with Yale's work at home. Fellowships of a large stipend are to be awarded annually to Yale graduate school students, under the new plan, going to those who are qualified to engage in research work under direction of the museum.

President James R. Angell, head of Yale University, finds that the Bishop Museum, "by reason of its central position is strategically placed to study the cultural, biological, and zoological problems of the Pacific area through scientific expeditions to the islands and the bordering mainlands, which gather data of great importance to the anthropologist, the social scientist, and scholars interested in various branches of natural sciences."

"Hereafter all these activities will be a part of the general program of the Yale Graduate school," President Angell announces.

BLINKS AND DUFFY were living in the rooming house of a widow.

Both Blinks and Duffy were poor pay in the matter of their rent. Neither worked much, and neither seemed at any time possessed of any money.

But one day Blinks appeared before his landlady and asked her to change a $20 bill. She did not have the change, but noticed that Blinks went into conference with Duffy, and that together they left the house. Her curiosity led her to watch them through her apartment window. She observed that they both walked across the street to a little bakery, and that Duffy went in while Blinks remained outside, and that soon Duffy emerged with the change.

The next day another roomer in the house reported that he had been robbed of some money. The landlady recalled the episode of the change, and police soon came to arrest both Duffy and Blinks. But Duffy had meanwhile disappeared, and only Blinks was arrested, and was charged with being an accessory after the fact.

At his trial Blinks' attorney argued that Blinks to be guilty should have given some personal assistance in the commission of the felony. And he did not.

Y. M. C. A. CAMP IS DEDICATED ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Mr. Rentz' son, who happened to be a director of the association, was quick to respond with money for this and it wasn't long before one of the finest artesian springs in the district was flowing there. State sanitary officials declare the water to be free from the sign of any impurities.

Since the camp opened this summer on July 1, the dedication program has been in the planning, although the directors were not sure as to a date. However, the matter was discussed further and last night was chosen for the affair. The dedication climaxed a period of notable improvements.

Weather was ideal for the occasion. Hundreds of New Castle folks drove out, New Wilmington had a representation there as did other sections of the county.

Tully Presides.

President R. J. Tully of the Y's board of directors opened the evening's program by asking the Rev. Samuel L. Maxwell, pastor of the Episcopal M. E. church, for the invocation.

Boys' Work Director W. A. Thomas camp director during the summer, was then introduced to the audience. For the benefit of the guests a short program of entertainment had been prepared and it was given at this time. The program included comical songs and acts as given below.

Ten 5 boys, Joe Fisher, James Fox and John Byers, formed a trio which sang a hymn as the opening number. They contributed other numbers, too. Boys of tent 3 then sang a parody for Mr. Rentz' own benefit. They were Dale Gardner, Ernest Stitzinger, James Burr, George Stitzinger, Dan Old, Ross Bridenbaugh, Jack Crombie and David Taylor.

At intervals the entire group of 71 campers, dressed epic and span for the occasion, sang "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," "My Wild Irish Rose" and other popular tunes.

A ukelele trio, with Robert Otto playing the uke and Tom Stevenson and Robert Wilkins singing appeared next to entertain the visitors. They represented tent 4. After their act came Bob Meermans, Jr., and Bill Shilton with a humorous recitation.

Present Play.

"The Gathering of the Nuts," a play minus words but with a real moral, was next. Bob Muse and Bob Mercer picked the cast from the audience, then excusing them after announcing the name of the play. Then came a song to Mr. Rentz, a parody to "Hinky Dinky Parlezvous."

The closing number of the boys' program was the unveiling of the American flag, a thank you sign for Mr. Rentz, and a cross made of tree limbs. As the flag was unveiled five boys, Richard Cramer, Richard Allen, David Taylor, Gethin Thomas and Jimmy Houston, sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee." As the thank you was shown an appropriate song was sung while the singing of a hymn accompanied the unveiling of the cross.

With the boys' part of the evening over, President Tully resumed the speaking program. Mr. Rentz was called upon next, and a heavy applause greeted him as he rose. Mr. Rentz said in part:

Mr. Rentz Speaks.

"I don't see what else is to be said right now; the camp is here, the building is here. I don't know whether I should go through a ceremony to present it or not," said Mr. Rentz.

He told of his own grandson staying at the camp several summers ago, and of how his son, J. F. Rentz, had explained to him that the association was in need of a summer camp.

That was what really attracted his attention at first and resulted in the purchase of the camp. After conferences with committees negotiations were finally made for the deal. When the grounds were purchased we saw that it was not equipped as it should be so decided to further equip it.

"I am interested in everything for the good of New Castle," Mr. Rentz declared. "I am glad to see as many out here tonight for that shows there's an interest. I'm not going to forget about the camp because it's here, but I'm going to keep in touch with it from now on. I want to see it become a real place for the boys, but others should help. I hope more of you will become as interested as I am."

Mr. Rentz closed by informing his listeners that the local Y's camp was about the second to be operated by a Young Men's Christian Association in the country. Pittsburgh had the first summer camp, and New Castle the second. "That's something to be real proud of," he concluded.

Appreciate Mr. Rentz.

Responding to Mr. Rentz was Mr. Tully, who spoke for the directors. He said that the directors are certainly thankful for the gift of the camp. I think that all in all our camp is about the most wonderful on the universe. He also thanked Mrs. Rentz for her gift of the lodge, and closed by repeating the words of a New Castle man, speaking of Mr. Rentz' gift, "a great gift for a great need from a great man."

Following Mr. Tully's acceptance speech impromptu talks were given by representatives of the various civic clubs of the city. President T. W. McCullough spoke for the Rotary, saying that Rotarians have a feeling of pride on this occasion because of the fact that Mr. Rentz is one of their number.

Attorney Frank A. Hover, speaking for Kiwanis brought the felicitations of that club. In his tribute he said that Mr. Rentz always is willing to back a worthy cause, not alone to back it but to start the thing itself. He then thanked Mr. Rentz for the gift of the lodge, and closed by repeating the words of a New Castle man, speaking of Mr. Rentz' gift, "a great gift for a great need from a great man."

The Girls Scouts of the city were represented by Miss Martha K. Bigley. Miss Bigley said that she speaks knowing how much the Y's camp grounds two weeks every summer. She praised both Mr. and Mrs. Rentz for their thoughtfulness and generosity.

Getty Speaks.

In the audience was a New Wilmington man, H. T. Getty, who also has a boy in camp. Chairman Tully espied him and asked him for a few remarks. Mr. Getty walked to the center of the room confessed little more could be added to what had already been said. He did, however, want to inform the New Castle people that the ninth ward of the city looks to Mr. Rentz as a kind man. The impression of this gift has a real effect. He contrasted the marble building in the city, which he termed a monument to the donor's business success, to the monument of growing boys which is building for himself by the interest he is showing. The latter, he said, is far greater.

Y. Boy Speaks.

For the boys' camp, Robert Wilkins, chosen to represent them, spoke. He brought the heartiest thanks and appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Rentz. General Secretary R. L. Meermans spoke next, adding his appreciation for the donation. He said that he feels as if he's the happiest person on the grounds. After outlining the history of the camp he announced the names of contributors who have helped the association in developing the grounds this year.

The following were included besides Mr. and Mrs. Rentz:

R. J. Tully for the sanitary system installed this year.

Daniel Woolcock for designing the camp building and new stone gate entrance.

J. Clyde Gillfillan, contractor who erected the lodge at cost.

Russell Melvin, superintendent of labor at the Carnegie Steel plant here, who with 12 other foremen of the company contributed their bit of work on the lodge.

Leonard Cramer for a gift of $10 to improve the road.

Charles Cripps, who donated the pump hardware.

At the conclusion of Mr. Meermans' remarks, President Tully called upon Dr. Charles Wallace to give the closing prayer.

Refreshments were served after the program under the direction of Mrs. Ernest Stitzinger, Mrs. Wayne Stitzinger, camp directors, and several boys.

gave the President a formal excuse for refusing the papers relating to the request upon the condition that the President's compliance would not be incompatible with the public interest. The President, according to authoritative information, will say he finds it "incompatible" to yield the documents.

Mr. Hoover undoubtedly will convey his decision to the senate in a formal note sometime during the day. Whatever official reason is given, it was said his refusal will be due to the fact that the documents include confidential reports from ambassadors Dawes on the delegates representing Great Britain and Japan at the London conference.

Dawes Very Frank.

The Dawes reports were said to have been written in the full and frank manner which characterized the ambassador when he served as vice president of the United States. During his rule over the senate, Dawes was noted for saying what he thought regardless of the consequences.

In his correspondence with the State Department, report has it, Dawes included resumes of confidential conversations with premier Ramsey MacDonald of the British Empire. Publication of these sections of the Dawes letters, it was said might lead to disastrous political consequences in England.

The President's refusal to yield the papers may have serious effects on senate consideration of the treaty to receive every year, premier Ramsey MacDonald of the British Empire. STAR LORE SOME EXCELLENT CELESTIAL PHOTOGRAPHS

By Arthur D. E. Corntner
THE ANNUAL REPORT of the Smithsonian Institution for 1928 contains some good photographs of celestial objects. It is only by such pictures that we may become acquainted with the structure of nebulae. Some nebulae of the spiral kind photograph broad-side on, showing their spiral arms; others hold an edge-wise position to our vision, producing a most beautiful disk-like effect. The Great Andromeda Nebula is at an angle between an edge and a flat, making a very impressive picture. It is made up of "some thousand million stars and much gaseous matter." The reader is urged to consult the Smithsonian report for these photographs.

to call an inquest today to determine the exact cause of the crash. In support of the theory that a bolt of lightning brought the account residents hereabouts pointed out that thunder showers had occurred throughout the corpus christi region all day yesterday.

The plane, a single-motored Lockheed-Vega, had been chartered from Dr. Walter Cross, president of the Kansas City testing laboratories.

Plane Side-Slips

(International News Service)
ALAMEDA, Calif., July 11.—One man was dead and another believed dying today as authorities investigated the crash of a two passenger biplane which went in a spin above the Alameda Municipal Golf links late yesterday.

The plane side-slipped at an altitude of 250 feet, went into the spin and half buried itself in the turf. The dead man has not been identified at an early hour today. The injured man was the pilot David Hutch of Oakland.

Probe Crash
(International News Service)
TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., July 11.—An investigation was begun today to determine the cause of an airplane crash here late yesterday which killed Lieut. A. H. Coleman, Michigan National Guard, and brought probable fatal injury to Lieut. Trooper George Watson, his passenger.

The plane had been stunting at the Michigan Cherry Festival Air show and failed to come out of a dive, according to witnesses.

their demands that Houston get out, are now strangely silent. They say they pledged themselves to Houston to let him do the talking, but the chairman says he gave no promise of future resignation in exchange for their silence.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican floor leader who had asked for a hearing at yesterday's meeting of the committee officers in order to present the views of "at least twenty senators" that Houston should resign, didn't show up, but it is now fairly certain Houston has no intention of giving those twenty senators a field day at his expense.

NEW TRIAL APPEAL FOR TRIGGER WOMAN AND DAGUE HEARD

back of the counsel table. Dague all attention, Irene bored.

Perhaps it was too warm for a girl of her weight for the sultry July weather had made of the court room a place to be shunned if possible. Back in the spectators' seats a small crowd lolled in their benches, there out of curiosity but apparently getting little enjoyment out of it.

In opening his argument Attorney Jarrett said that they would submit the two arguments in one, and what was said for Irene, in the main would be said for Dague also. There are some points in each however which will need some individual attention.

Cites Public Opinion

"It is hard to try a case when the public has no opinion," said Mr. Jarrett, "but it is doubly hard when the public has an opinion. The court will agree that public feeling ran high in these cases. The press of the country covered them thoroughly and it is safe to say that every juror sworn on this voir dire had read of the case and had formed an opinion. It is the very serious business of the commonwealth to see that nothing creeps into a trial of this kind that will prejudice the rights of the defendants. We are here in earnest and wrapped up in the cause."

Confusion of Issues

Mr. Jarrett said they would not press seriously the admission of error concerning the submission of certain photographs taken at the scene of the crime. The first point he argued at length was the testimony of Mrs. Ella Kerber Resch a Youngstown newspaper woman who served a week end in the Lawrence County jail for contempt of court when she refused to testify. Later she changed her mind and did testify.

"The testimony of this witness was not necessary to the commonwealth," said Mr. Jarrett. "The little good it might have done them was more than offset by the prejudice it created against the defendant Irene Schroeder. It created a confusion of issues. The real purpose was to show that Irene Schroeder had entered into a contract with the New York Daily Mirror for the publishing of her life story."

Dealing with the theory of "an irresistible impulse to steal, rob and flee" Mr. Jarrett complained that their original offer to prove insanity had been ruled out on the objection of the commonwealth and that after their case was in, they had been allowed to proceed with their "irresistible impulse" theory although not permitted to show the environment of the defendant.

Objects to Cross Examination

The cross examination of Glenn Dague was cited as error in that the commonwealth had been permitted to go beyond the limits of the examination in chief, when Dague was called as a witness in Irene's favor. The main question asked Dague in chief was whether or not he had a 38 Spanish gun at the scene of the shooting. Jarrett protested against the presence of Corporal Brady Paul's mother at the commonwealth table during the trial on the grounds that she was there for no other reason than to shed tears.

Jarrett argued that the court erred in its charge to the jury insofar as the comment upon Irene's habitual criminal tendencies was concerned. This comment he said dignified the commonwealth's attempt to prove her an habitual criminal and tended to set up in the minds of the jury a feeling that the court was of the opinion that she was guilty.

Irene's mental condition was brought out and Mr. Jarrett argued that she was mentally normal. He also insisted again that the ballistic expert, Louis Marr, should not be taken too seriously, and that there was a possibility that Paul was shot by Patrolman Ernest Moore. He flayed Moore again, saying that he was a coward.

Margiotti Answers

Answering for the commonwealth Attorney Charles G. Margiotti made the argument. He said that in view of the voluminous record involved, it was remarkable that there should be so few assignments of error. He then went into Jarrett's argument and said that the commonwealth was amply justified in calling Mrs. Resch, that the purported life story of Irene Schroeder had been sent to New York by Mr. Resch and that it contained admissions which were damaging to the defendant and valuable to the commonwealth. He was just through with his development of this argument when the noon recess was taken and court adjourned until one o'clock Daylight Savings Time.

Irene's aged father, Joe Crawford of Bellair, O., two brothers and a sister-in-law were present in court today, seated in the auditorium of the court room. Seated inside the rail was Mrs. Glenn Dague, wife of one of the two defendants.

There was an intimation this morning upon the part of defense counsel that should the motion here be refused, they will take the case to the State Supreme Court.

McBride Forced To Return To Hospital

J. Harold McBride Enters St. Francis Hospital For Another Operation

The many friends of J. Harold McBride of Norwood avenue will regret to learn he has been re-admitted to the St. Francis hospital where he will undergo treatments for one week in preparation for another operation. Mr. McBride met with an accident several months ago which resulted in the amputation of his limb. Due to the wound not healing satisfactorily he was forced to return to the hospital for further medical attention.

the treasury of Sheet & Tube in the merger fight. This latter amount, Dalton said, does not include attorneys' fees and other items.

Sold at Loss.

Of the 60,000 shares of Youngstown stock bought by the Pickands, Mather concern, 13,000 shares were resold at a "slight loss" between March 22, the date of record, and April 8, the date of the now famous stockholders' meeting, Dalton testified.

The $800,000 borrowed from Bethlehem, Dalton said, was loaned by the eastern concern without a note and without could the entire amount of the loan, with interest four or five days later, Dalton said.

curb on North Mercer street, last night.

It is no unusual sight to see women around town wearing riding outfits. Horse back riding has come back into prominence again and seems to be particularly appealing to women. Pa News saw a lady in the library this morning with whip in her hand, riding boots on her feet and wearing a blue shirt and riding breeches.

Folks, you ought to take an excursion trip right down to the New Castle public library for the especial reason of looking over the garden at the rear. The credit for this neat little flower garden goes to H. L. White, caretaker of the library, and to Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, and her staff. There are astors, margolds—and oodles of other varieties of flowers. The margolds are in bloom and the others will blossom out in colors any time now. And dear, you must inspect the lawn, and the rose bushes.

New cards giving the exact hours of collection of mail have been placed on every letter box throughout the city. The post office attempts to keep the cards up to date, changing them every so often.

The public square drinking fountain was gone when Pa News passed by this morning. Looked as if a new one was going to be installed, for the pipes were still extending from the ground.

The talkies made a great change in the industry. Directors are now dumb on purpose.

MRS. BENTON IS HONORED BY DINNER

Mrs. Bertha Smith and Miss Della Glenn were joint hostesses at the home of the former on Laurel boulevard, Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Frank Benton, of Pasadena, California.

Mrs. Benton formerly Miss Blanche Douthett, was a graduate nurse of Shenango Valley hospital in the year 1906. She has many friends in this city. The class of 1906 was represented at last night's gathering by four women, Miss Della Glenn, Mrs. Frank Benton, Miss Emma Dodds and Mrs. Bertha Smith.

A delicious dinner was served by the hostesses at six o'clock. Sweet peas formed the centerpiece on the prettily decorated table. Places were marked for the following guests: Miss Augusta Whitmore, former superintendent of nurses at the Shenango Valley hospital, Miss Blanche Thomas, Miss Emma Dodds, Miss Jeanette Patterson, Mrs. Louise Isaac, Miss Alice Busk, Miss Jane Ligo, Miss Lottie Nicklin and Miss Edna Uber and the honor guest.

Miss Dodds is of New Wilmington, Miss Busk of Rochester and Miss Uber of Philadelphia.

Evening hours, spent socially were most enjoyable.

Picnic Dinner

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Booher of the old Pittsburgh road was the scene of a jovial gathering Wednesday evening when a group of friends assembled for a picnic dinner. Music rendered by Mrs. S. H. Altman, Mrs. Andy Kahner, Mrs. Martha Ward, Mrs. Charles Kahner and Mrs. Wlonca Altman was greatly enjoyed throughout the evening. Various games also formed a part of the entertainment, with Miss Mildred Altman and Mrs. Edwye McCann being awarded prizes for the contests indulged in.

Guests present were Miss Margaret Altman, Mrs. S. H. Altman, Miss Mildred Altman, Mrs. Andy Kahner, Mrs. Charles Patterson, Mrs. Lloyd Moore, and children, Junior and Gerald, Mrs. Charles Kahner and children, Ida and Junior, Mrs. Clyde Altman and children Eleanor and Billie, Mrs. Edward Stickle and children Lois Jean and Ronalds, Mrs. Albert Booher, Ellen Payne, Albert Wardley, William Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Altman, Mrs. Edwye McCann, Mrs. Martha Ward of Youngstown, Ohio, and Mrs. Joe Washburn of Pittsburgh.

HIGHLAND BOOK CLUB LUNCH AT FIELD CLUB

The Highland Book Club members assembled at the Field Club House Thursday for a 1 o'clock luncheon with covers being laid for 18 guests at a beautiful appointed table. Bouquets of Spring flowers and tall tapers in crystal holders were artistically used in the arrangement. As a special guest of the occasion the club had Mrs. Clyde Gillilan's mother, Mrs. Sioane of Bellevue.

The remaining hours were pleasantly spent in playing bridge, adjourning the meeting.

First Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Garver, of Wampum R. D. 1 entertained a number of little guests in their home on Thursday afternoon, in honor of their daughter, Anna Belle's first birthday anniversary. A social time was spent and refreshments were served on the lawn. Pink and white tones were used and a birthday cake with one pink candle centered the table.

Those present were Dorothy, Charles and Walter Bruntun, Sara and Vera Mae Tanner, Johnnie and Elmer Loy, Anna Louise Sankey, Margaret and Clifford Baker, Edwye Jean Cameron, Patterson Baker, William and Henry Jr., Tindal, Anna Belle Garver, Mrs. Sankey, Mrs. E. J. Baker, Mrs. Carl Cameron, Mrs. Henry Tindal, Mrs. S. C. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Baker, Mrs. Edward Garver.

The honored guest received many pretty and useful gifts.

Engagement of Interest

Interesting a wide circle of friends in this vicinity is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Genevieve Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Sutterly, 232 Donner avenue, Monessen to Allen E. Wierman of Sharon. No wedding date has been set.

Mr. Wierman is exceedingly prominent in athletic circles. He is a Sharon High school graduate and attended Westminster College and was graduated from Carnegie Tech. At the latter he starred as quarterback on the football team. Mr. Wierman has been a popular coach at Monongahela and Monessen High Schools and is now with Beaver High as coach.

T. Y. C. Club

Members of the T. Y. C. Club were charmingly received at the home of Mrs. Dora Johnson on East Lutton street Thursday when she entertained at their regular meeting. Games formed the pastimes of the social hour with the prize being won by Mrs. Maude Burdett while the club prize was given to Mrs. Clara Walker. At a suitable hour, the hostess assisted by Mrs. Rose Alexander, served a dainty lunch which was followed by an interesting reading by Mrs. Ruth Boalick.

On July 22 the club will meet with Mrs. Clara Walker, Cunningham avenue.

Jolly Dinner Club

Mrs. Walter Van Horn was hostess to members of the Jolly Dinner club at a one o'clock luncheon held at Cascade Park Thursday when covers were marked for 20 at a table cleverly centered with bowls of nasturtiums.

Miss Jane Cannon of Youngstown and Robert Griffith of Follansbee, Va., were special guests. Mrs. William Reynolds was assistant hostess. At the conclusion of a delicious menu the club enjoyed swimming, boating and the park amusements.

MISS RUTH PARKER AT FIELD CLUB SUNDAY

The Social Committee of the New Castle Field Club is planning some delightful Sunday evening entertainments which will take place at 8:30 o'clock during the months of July and August.

The first which will be most interesting as well as entertaining, is the appearance of Miss Ruth Parker of Pittsburgh on Sunday evening July 13. Miss Parker is a member of the Pittsburgh Musical institute and a soprano soloist at the Fourth United Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Marion Clark Bollinger of Pittsburgh will play her accompaniment.

Large crowds are anticipated to attend these entertainments at the Club House which will prove most enjoyable at all times.

BRIDGE PARTY AT FIELD CLUB SUCCESS

Another of the series of Thursday Evening Bridge parties scheduled for the Field Club members and their friends took place last evening with a splendid number in attendance, and the host and hostesses who comprise Mr. and Mrs. James M. Higgins and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kirk, are to be congratulated upon the complete success of the event.

Play beginning at the usual hour, was highly enjoyed with lovely awards being given to Mrs. James Wallace, John Higgins, Mrs. John Elder and E. A. Fenton for honors. Delicious refreshments were later served closing an enjoyable evening.

There will be another Thursday Evening Bridge party in two weeks, the committee to be announced later.

Young Married Class Meets

Members of the Young Married People's class of the Third United Presbyterian church met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Bertha Gifford, Sheets street for the regular meeting, when Mrs. Forest Pobes, teacher of the class, led the opening devotional period.

Special guests were Olga Smolnik and Mrs. Gertrude Arrow.

Plans were made for a picnic to be held at the West Side Playgrounds Tuesday of next week with a picnic dinner at noon.

A feature of the evening was a miscellaneous shower presented the hostess by members of the class.

Mrs. Gifford, assisted by Mrs. Gertrude Arrow, served dainty refreshments at the close of the evening.

W. C. B. Class Meets

Members of the W. C. B. Class of the Wesley M. E. church entertained their husbands at the annual class picnic dinner Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Kimmel, Etna street when covers were marked for forty at a table set on the lawn and cleverly centered with summer garden flowers and orange colored tapers fashioned of lolly pops.

Mrs. J. C. Baker presented a lovely gift to Mrs. John Morrison of Oakwood avenue, a member of the class who is soon leaving to make her home in Ambridge.

Special guests included "Uncle Jimmie" McClelland and "Daddy" Botham, the two oldest members of the church.

Ladies Scottish Club

The Ladies Scottish Club held their regular meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. James Greig on Division street having as special guests Mrs. Agnes Steinbrink, Mrs. Alec Gray, Mrs. A. Carr of Glasgow, Scotland, and Mrs. George Massie.

The hours were enjoyably spent in a social manner, with the club prize being presented to Mrs. David Leishman. At a chosen hour, a dainty lunch was served at a table centered with a bouquet of snapdragons.

In two weeks the club will be re-opened at the home of Mrs. Anna Wheel, DuShane street.

WEINER ROAST IS ENJOYED BY CLASSES

The Sunday school class taught by Mrs. W. Scott McCaslin of East Washington street and the Young Men's class motored to Wymer's camping grounds on the Wurtemburg-Portersville road Thursday evening and enjoyed a weiner roast. All the dishes necessary to complete such an event were on the tables at a selected hour, covers being laid for 28 guests. Special guests included Mrs. Kenneth McCaslin, Mr. and Mrs. John Wymer, and Miss Burnett Mae Frey of Youngstown, Ohio, who was the only out of town guest. At the conclusion of the menu, games and music were forays of pastimes marking a most enjoyable affair.

The committee in charge of arrangements were the Misses Lucille Wymer, Ruth McBride, Mary McBride and Helen Hettenbach with the Messrs James Devore and Robert Gillilan assisting.

Climbers' Club Has Hike

The climbers' garden club of St. Mary's school enjoyed a hike Wednesday morning to the McGrath Home on the Pulaski road and after getting to their destination built a fire and cooked themselves a picnic luncheon.

The hike was under the supervision of Mrs. William Hawley and those participating included James Hawley, William Chip, Robert Joyce, Margaret Bodlinger, Helen Chill, Rose Green, Mary Mescall, Bernice, Victoria and Cecelia McGrath.

The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. William Hawley.

Entertains Postal Clerks.

The clerks of the local postoffice were entertained in a delightful manner Thursday evening at the home of Miss Allura Leslie, near New Galilee, when they gathered for an informal party.

Croquet, golf and 500 formed the amusements of the evening and later a delicious lunch was served about a large bonfire, where the guests toasted marshmallows and joined in pep singing, which is always inspired when a huge bonfire is built in the open.

At a late hour the guests came back to town, thanking their hostess for a most pleasant evening.

G. A. T. 1914 Club

Members of the G. A. T. 1914 Club enjoyed a picnic dinner at Cascade Park, Thursday with eight present. The menu was spread on the table at 6:30 o'clock after which the remaining hours were enjoyably spent informally.

Plans were completed for another dinner at the park in two weeks with Mrs. John McDonald and Mrs. Thomas McNicholas as joint hostesses.

Picnic at Lakewood.

Members and families of the Katherine Von Bora society of St. John's Lutheran church met at the church at 6 o'clock Thursday evening and motored to Lakewood beach where an enjoyable picnic supper was held with covers marked for 25.

After supper the members indulged in a game of ball and enjoyed the beach amusements.

Breakfast at Park.

Mrs. Beryl Hartzell and Mrs. C. E. Patterson entertained with a breakfast at Cascade park Wednesday morning in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mitchell of Portland, Ore.

HONORS BRIDE-ELECT AT SHOWER THURSDAY

Honoring Miss Constance Maielli of West Grant street, a bride-elect of next month, the girls of the Peoples Savings & Trust company, of which Miss Maielli is a former employee, gathered Thursday to honor her with a miscellaneous shower.

Tables prettily decorated in pastel tones and most fitting to the occasion where a delicious menu was served at a selected hour, formed an enjoyable part of the program, later followed by informal pastimes.

The guest of honor received many beautiful gifts.

L. A. B. Club

Mrs. James McCulloch of Warren avenue was a pleasing hostess to members of the L. A. B. Club Thursday when she entertained in her home with 14 being present. The usual routine was carried out with a social time being enjoyed, indulged in games and music. At a late hour, the hostess served a delectable lunch having as her aid, Mrs. H. D. Ray who was also a special guest.

Plans were completed for a breakfast to take place at Cascade Park on Wednesday, July 16th. The next meeting of the club members will occur in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Annabelle McFadden, Highland avenue.

B. Y. C. Club.

A lawn party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Moser featured the meeting of the B. Y. C. club members when they entertained their husbands Thursday evening. Covers marked for 16 guests at an oblong table prettily decorated with garden flowers.

The social hours were pleasantly spent in playing 500 with prizes going to P. D. Moser, Mrs. Trevor Griffith and consolation awards went to Herbert Rose and Mrs. F. D. Moser. Guests of the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kelley.

Mrs. Moser had as her aides for the evening Mrs. Herbert D. Rose and Miss Oliver Moser.

Six O'clock Dinner

Mrs. Samuel Broadman, of S. Mill street was hostess at a six o'clock dinner given at the El Patio on Wednesday evening, in honor of her mother, Mrs. Sara Pitoff and sister, Martha, of Boston, Mass., formerly of New Castle. Covers were laid for six, the out-of-town guest being Mrs. H. Caro of Boston, Mass.

Dinner Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Rowland of Highland avenue entertained with a dinner bridge in their home Thursday

SIX O'CLOCK DINNER FEATURES CLUB MEETING

A 6 o'clock dinner at Mrs. Burnside featured the gathering of the 1929 Kensington members Thursday when they met for their regular meeting. Covers marked for 16 guests at a table prettily decorated in pastel tones with tall tapers in crystal holders placed at either end.

At the conclusion of the menu a period of cards was enjoyed followed by a brief business session when plans were made for a picnic dinner to be held in two weeks at the cottage of Mrs. Sol Davis at Rose Point.

Mr. and Mrs. George Beck and family have returned to Halladay's Cove, W. Va., after spending a day recently with their grandmother, Mrs. McFarland.

Refreshments were served at a selected hour by the hostess having as her aide, her daughter Mrs. Alfred Baldwin.

What Is Education?

Gas War Coming.

The Evils Of Liquor.

Marvelous New York.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1930, King Features Synd., Inc.)

Educators between the closing and opening of schools discuss "What is education? What should it do? How can we form the young?" etc.

Educators should start with the meaning of the word "educate" and stick to that. It means "to lead out" to bring out of the youthful mind and capacity that which is in it. It does not mean to force the opinions of teachers on that youthful mind.

Dealing with raw materials, science and industry "educate" those materials by bringing out the best that is in them.

They seek the hardness in steel, for resiliency and wear in rubber. They don't try to make rubber of steel or steel of the rubber. But that is exactly the process applied to many young minds.

And for that reason, in reading the biographies of many successful men, you find that their first proof of real ability was ability to evade the process of education.

And their greatest road fortune was an irregular education, or none.

A great gasoline price war seems probable. Small retailers on the Pacific Coast are crying for government help against big oil men of "unfair" price cutting.

Recently the big men were accused, little men of ruining the industry and wasting the nation's oil supply.

At this moment, the world has too much oil, too much gasoline, and, in consequence, reckless waste.

Recently will come a shortage. Those that now read, in some places, the sign "Gasoline 10 cents, plus 2 cents tax," may read "Gasoline 50c. plus 2 cents tax."

It would seem almost a case to justify government regulation, only that probably, would be "Polshevism."

Twenty-five thousand pupils in 274 Bible schools are to be taught "the evils of liquor" and the desirability of leaving whiskey alone quite apart from prohibition.

Prohibition and girl in this dryland reads that teaching. It should begin in the graveyards, made prosperous by bootlegging, continue in hospital wards, and wind up at the social function, where Americans, of all ages, make fools of themselves, and show that they despise the law.

A big city is New York, amazing in growth. Losing hundreds of thousands of population, migrating to outlying suburbs. New York City, in the last 135 years has gained in population 1,335,315, more than 23 per cent.

Of the five boroughs in New York four have more than a million population each. Queens, one of the boroughs, is probably the fastest growing big small community in the world and within a few years, with all respect to Chicago may be "America's second city."

A German scientist starts Berlin with a long range loud-speaker that carries a great orchestra to be heard for 25 miles in all directions. A Chicago band could play in the loop and be heard with painful distinctness on the North, South, and West sides, and 25 miles out into Lake Michigan.

Think, then, as the old Puritans used to say, when describing hell, "Think of Gabriel's horn that will be heard 25,000 miles" in all directions, around the world, bringing the dead from their graves, and reassembling the disintegrated elements into which they will have been dissolved. That will be a real loud speaker.

Prohibition enforcement announces that its energies are concentrated on eastern states, which, apparently, need them. On the Hudson, just above New York City, enforcement officers seized a large yacht with $250,000 worth of rum. One man shot in a gun battle probably will die.

On New York's Park Avenue which is getting more and more expensive, police raided an "exclusive" gambling institution with liquid refreshments of course, as part of the attraction.

The "guests in evening attire" said to have lost individually, as much as $250,000 in a night, were not molested by the police. Apparently we are not all poor yet.

Final figures show that Dwight W. Morrow, in New Jersey, carried every race, and himself, a "wet" beat his nearest competitor, Mr. Fort, a dry, almost 4 to 1.

That Mr. Morrow spent on his campaign less than $50,000 is a remarkable fact in these days of extravagant office-seeking.

Mr. Grundy and Mrs. McCormick, for instance, spent several hundred thousand dollars each, and legitimately, no suggestion of corruption.

Cardinal Vannutelli, dean of the Sacred College, died yesterday at the age of ninety-three.

His death is a great loss to the Pope's government. He had served the Papacy in many important offices for seventy years and had visited nearly all parts of the world as the Pope's representative.

A bandit in Chicago took a taxicab driver and his taxi and started out to rob gasoline stations and he told the taxi driver when he got through robbing he was going to kill him. As they cruised along robbing stations this sort of got on the nerves of the taxi driver and his wife for help and assistance brought the police and the capture of the bandit. After riding in a Chicago taxicab and sitting in the traffic while the meters run up a bill for about two dollars on a 25 cent trip one don't have much sympathy for a taxicab driver. The meters run while the cab stands still and often changes the price three or four times without turning a wheel on the cab.

Many attempts have been made to enforce the so called blue laws of Pennsylvania. If we are not mistaken we have never known or heard of any good coming from any such attempts. We have known of a lot of bitterness and hate that originated against people who tried to enforce the laws. If any one knows of any real good results we would like to hear from them. And we are for the great American Sunday just as strong as any man living.

MOVIE TROUBLES
Dear Hints and Dints: Speaking of annoyances caused by thoughtless moving picture patrons, I thought I had been a martyr to them all; loud readers, hard-candy crunchers, paper bag rattlers, chewing-gum snappers, and even those who have devoured bad smelling choise sandwiches, as they watched the silent drama. But, I had one more annoyance in waiting for me; however, it had a humorous side, which eventually gave me an attack of irrepressible giggles.

Hubby and I was seated on the aisle of the parquet section. The auditorium was filling rapidly to capacity.

A young woman in New York, after being married only a few months, wants a divorce from her husband because he "thinks only of himself." That is one great trouble in this world, too many people think only of themselves and their own welfare, no matter what happens to other people.

Hubby: "Well, needa do 'em! But you wanted to sit here!"

Wife: "It was the girls, they wanted to sit here!"

The girls: "Let's watch out, when somebodys go we get better seats!"

Then the fun began. Every time patrons left the theatre, they made a wild rush for the vacant seats.

has been forced to pass, according to the Erskine Bureau for Street Traffic Research, and at the height of its power was probably more congested than any city of modern Europe or America.

This early traffic rule was put into effect by Caesar, who issued an order prohibiting the passage of wagons through the central district for ten hours after sunrise. Rome also had its counterpart of the skyscraper in tenement four and five stories high. Their height was later limited by Augustus, due either to the instability of their construction or the desire to decrease congestion by persuading people to move outward from the center of the city.

Permanent Pure Food Policy Declared Dr. Wiley's Legacy

Death Of Famous Chemist, Known As Fighting Public Official, Reminds Public Of Debt To Him In Connection With Pure Food Laws

Courage, unselfish public service and enthusiastic devotion to purity in manufactured products are credited to Dr. Harvey Washington Wiley, famous among American chemists, who included a distinguished career which included duties under the Federal government. It is declared that his have since contributed to the success of those who were reluctant to accept them.

"His usefulness as a public servant has been far-reaching, and its benefits will continue to be enjoyed by posterity," declares the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, with the added tribute: "Every table in the land has benefited from Dr. Wiley's labors to enforce the results of his laboratory tests and bar deleterious adulterants or chemical preservatives which were deemed injurious to the human system. Legislation upheld him, and the Department of Justice has been vigilant to enforce the principles that emanated from his laboratory."

"The memory of Dr. Wiley will live long after those who opposed him have been forgotten," says the MADISON WISCONSIN STATE JOURNAL, pointing out that "this motto was that all foods and drugs should be sold under terms that would give the consumer knowledge of their ingredients," and that "he did not believe that the permitted under subterfuge or in a manner giving any opportunity for misleading the purchaser."

The COLOMBIA (S. C.) STATE emphasizes the fact that "nowadays much of the regulation for which he pleaded is accomplished from within by the industries themselves, through their own voluntarily imposed codes of practice."

Observing that "thanks to Dr. Wiley, it is against the law now to put a lying label on a food or drug package," the DULUTH HERALD finds it "amazing that there was a time when there was no law against it." The ANNISTON STAR also remarks that, in the former days, "adulterated foods were sold indiscriminately and remedies for practically all the ills the human body is heir to were being dispensed under labels that claimed cures where cure often was impossible, and hid ingredients that were calculated to do more harm than good."

To him the people of the country owe a heavy debt of gratitude," avers the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, a thought which is voiced also by the JACKSON CITIZEN PATRIOT and the CONNELLSVILLE COURIER. The TOLLEDO BLADE recalls that "the activities that brought him into public notice also worked to his disadvantage politically," but that he "has left a record of strenuous work in behalf of the people's physical well-being."

The doctor's genius "for capitalizing his ventures into the field of regulation" is mentioned by the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL, with the conclusion that the work "needed his fighting quality to interpret the public in its necessity."

"The laws he formulated and which stand today unchallenged throughout the length and breadth of this country constitute his most lasting monument," asserts the HOUSTON CHRONICLE, while the HARTFORD TIMES voices the judgment: "In view of the immense expansion that has taken place in the use of canned goods to estimate the boon which Dr. Wiley bestowed upon the American people in giving them the protection in law which science so clearly proved it was their privilege to enjoy."

That he created in the system that has been created the verdict of the LA CROSSE TRIBUNE, while the ALTOONA MIRROR suggests that there is "a present urgent need for an energetic renewal of the important and useful work to which he devoted some of the most active and useful years of his life."

"He was one of the great benefactors of his age," in the opinion of the

MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL, and the LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT proclaims that he "deserves to be ranked among the nation's most valiant fighters, a crusader in the true sense of the word." As to his record, the LOUISVILLE TIMES says: "He was a Chevalier du Merite Agricole and a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, in France. He was a corresponding member of the School of Chemical Science of the Museo de La Plata of the Argentine republic, a medalist of the Argentine Academy of Italy, and was the author of a book upon hygiene which was read in many languages." In addition to these marks of distinction, the SCRANTON TIMES recalls that he "had been honored by many universities with degrees."

Of his three decades in office, the MANCHESTER UNION states that "the period was sometimes called the 'Thirty Years' War' and adds: "The term gives a pretty good idea, not only of his militancy but also of the character of the opposition he had to meet. In one of his biggest fights, two cabinet officers endorsed a board's findings that he should be 'permitted to resign,' but President Taft took other view, sustained Dr. Wiley and paid high tribute to his services. Soon after, however, Dr. Wiley offered his resignation, and took up the duties of a contributing editor."

The CHARLOTTE OBSERVER finds that "the movement which Dr. Wiley initiated has resulted in much good to the general public, through having raised the standard of both drugs and food to a standard from which recession is not at all likely to be encountered."

"As the leading protagonist of purity in foods, he impressed himself, his dogged persistence, his scientific thoroughness and his capacity for gaining results upon the nation," says the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE, while the RALEIGH NEWS AND OBSERVER gives the appraisal: "Dr. Wiley was one of the strong, resourceful and useful men of his generation, a man who set up conditions of health which will not die. He had originality and vigor and a personality that made him a power."

In estimating his influence, the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION holds that "he lived to see some of the more progressive factors in the food industry starting a campaign to set up still higher standards, which will define quality, as well as freedom from adulteration or harmful impurities." The CLEVELAND NEWS attributes his success to the fact that "the country had unlimited confidence in the judgment and integrity," while the GENEVA DAILY TIMES avers that "he never ceased his vigilance, and once in a while he dropped the genial tone of his later years and in the up-lifted hand one saw again the shining sword."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE DOG'S DIET

At the recent forty-fourth annual ordinary general meeting of Spratts' Patent Ltd. and where else in the world but at the Cannon Street Hotel, London, the chairman addressed the stockholders in part as follows:

"The fallacy of low priced dog foods cannot be too strongly emphasized by me. Innutritious or unbalanced foods, whether for human beings or animals, are sold at any price. Human beings are able to discriminate in the choice of our food, but the dog, the best friend man ever had, cannot do so, and has to rely absolutely upon his master, whose duty it is to provide him with a wholesome diet, a very small return for the unswerving loyalty and affection which he gives under any conditions. It is mistaken kindness to give sweet and very soft foods, which do not necessitate using the teeth for thorough mastication and thus quickly conduce to pyorrhea, dental troubles, bad breath and indigestion."

The point is, obviously, that a victim of canine halitosis will never hear of it from his friends.

BETTER TO MAKE MISTAKES

In doing something that to make excuses for doing nothing. In trying to make the mistake of not trying. By trying to run things that make the mistake of trying to block things. And admit them that to make them and try to defend them. Through being overly zealous than by being overly cautious. By trying to do something than by trying to avoid doing something. And apologize for them that to remain idle, for which there is no apology.

WELL, THAT'S PERFECT
"Yes," said the man in the ancient overcoat with bulging pocket. "Bill and me are in partnership, but we don't carry the same goods."

"Explain yourself," said a friend.

"Well, Bill goes around sellin' a stove polish that leaves a stain on the fingers, and I go around next day with the only soap that will take it off!"—Arcanum Bulletin.

Opinions Rendered By Superior Court

Decisions Are Handed Down In Several Cases Taken Up From Lawrence County

Decisions on several appeals from the Lawrence county court were handed ed down by the superior court sitting at Philadelphia yesterday.

In the case of Tony De Joseph against the Standard Steel Car Company, Judge Chambers was affirmed. This was a case in which a decision of the Workman's Compensation board, had sustained the referee in a case for compensation brought by De Joseph. When the case was brought in the local court, the petition was dismissed, and this action has been sustained.

In the case of Charles W. Graham against the county commissioners, growing out of an appeal by Graham from an award for damages for land taken on the Slippery Rock road, near Elliott's mills, the opinion of Judge Hilbrand is sustained.

In the case of John C. Wardman against F. L. Iseman of Ellwood City the opinion of Judge Hilbrand is reversed and the record submitted. This case grew out of exceptions to the auditors report in the matter of the distribution of money in the sheriff's hands, growing out of an execution on real estate.

In the case of Harry Schlosberg against the City of New Castle, the decision of Judge Chambers is affirmed.

This is a case in which plaintiff had been awarded $671.70 damages, by reason of the grading of a street, and the decision means that the money must be paid.

In the case of Arthur H. Hirschfeld against Harry Robins, Judge Hilbrand is reversed. This was a case growing out of a civil action involving $2,500, in which an application for a new trial by the defense was refused.

Vice President Curtis Presents
Sharp Contrast To Predecessor
In Handling Of Upper Chamber

Vice President Curtis and Charles P. Stewart

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Among other high functionaries of the government to whom congress' adjournment brings a period of much needed rest is the Hon. Charles Curtis of Kansas, vice president of the United States.

Vice President Curtis has been on the job almost continuously for nearly 15 months.

It has been no such uninterrupted grind for Speaker Longworth, at the representative's end of the capitol building, as the Kansan has been through at the senate's end, where he presides.

The tariff bill is the piece of legislation which has kept Vice President Curtis swinging his gavel so persistently.

Due to their congressional branch's hard-and-fast rules, the representatives disposed of this measure in short order; then left a mere corporal's guard of their number in Washington to maintain the semblance of a session, while the rest of them went where they pleased for weeks at a time. Speaker Longworth was gone all last summer. With scarcely anything to do, an understudy was able to act for him as well as not.

But while the representatives loafed, the senators (the regulars versus the coalition) were fighting over that bill like cats and dogs.

Vice President Curtis takes his position, as senate umpire, seriously.
For one thing, he likes it.

The duties of rather, perhaps, the lack of them) got on Vice President Dawes' nerves. He never reconciled himself to the idea that the senate is a "deliberative body." Indeed, its deliberations were just what irked him worst—as entirely too deliberate, he thought. Action was what Dawes craved. Words bored him almost to death. Maybe he would have been more sympathetic toward senate procedure if ever he had had any senatorial experience of his own, but he never had.

On the other hand, Vice President Curtis was a veteran of 20 years on the senate floor before the gavel passed into his possession.

Parliamentary tactics interest him intensely. He understands and has practiced them for all they can be made to accomplish, as leader of the senate majority. He sees their purpose, follows them alertly; it shows in his face as he rules on a fine-haired point or technicality.

Pinchot May Run Independent Race

Prepares For Emergency If Court Rules Against Him In Ballot Argument

MILFORD, Pa., July 11.—Gifford
Pinchot, whose nomination as the Republican candidate for governor in the fall election has been attacked by his principal opponent in the May primary, says he does not intend to be caught napping if a court decision keeps him off the Republican ticket.

The former governor announced that the present situation with regard to the nomination makes it necessary for him to prepare to run on an independent ticket.

To that end, he said, at the proper moment, he and his friends would present a ticket, state wide and in every congressional, senatorial and legislative district. A place on the ticket, he added, would be offered to every candidate nominated by the Republican party in the primary.

The present unprecedented situation in the Republican party in Pen-sylvania was brought about by Francis Shunk Brown, Pinchot's principal opponent, challenging the legality of the ballots used in Luzerne county, the third most populous county in the state, Wilkes-Barre is the county seat of Luzerne.

The Luzerne county court declared the ballots legal and the Brown supporters have appealed to the State Supreme Court.

Pinchot carried Luzerne county by 26,000 and carried the entire state by 20,000 plurality. If the Supreme Court should decide the ballots illegal, the Luzerne vote would be thrown out,
Brown would be in the lead for the Republican nomination.

The Supreme Court has fixed Sept.
29 for arguments.

Plane Is Nosed On Butler Farm

BUTLER, Pa., July 11.—A Waco-10
biplane owned by the Bernard Aviation Field, near Youngstown, O., was still nosed today in a cornfield on the farm of Charles Radka, about 5 miles south of Butler, where it was landed late yesterday by the pilot, M. G.

Graham of Youngstown. Pilot Graham made the landing with two passengers, Anthony Sherba and Dr.
John McCurdy, when magneto trouble developed. After he had corrected the trouble, the pilot tried to take off from the field, but the plane did not rise, and it ran through a fence into a thicket, uprooting a cherry tree and nosing into the ground.

The passengers were shaken up, but did not receive injuries of a serious kind, and the pilot was unharmed.
All returned to Youngstown in a plane from the Pittsburgh-Butler airport. The damage to the Waco plane is estimated at $1,000.

Scouts Hike To Scenic Spots In Camp Vicinity

(Special To The News)
CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 11.—Boy Scout Camp Phillips was a scene of much enjoyment during Thursday. Thursday was hike day and many of the boys visited various places of interest near the camp. These excursions were under the leadership of Rambo, Timblin, Leslie, Hawkins and Christman. Among the places of interest visited was the Game Farm near Harlansburg, Muddy Creek Falls or the Ne-Ca-Hi football camp, the old iron furnace near Rose Point (which proves to be a point of interest in that it was the first in western Pennsylvania. McConnell's Mills was also one of the places visited. This perhaps was the greatest for natural scenery and for actual outdoor life. Hut inspection was won by the Kit

Carson Stockade. Each hut in the stockade had a high score of 98 per cent out of a possible 100. High honor points for individuals was won by Bob Goldman with 180 and Chester Biven placed second with 170 points. Boys acting as color guards in the evening camp ceremony were Douds, George Phillips and Dunn. Boys receiving first place map making, hike and a story of the hike were Gwinn, May, Hamilton, Timblin, Biesel, Liependorfer, Mills, Welch and Lee. Each of these boys hiked within a radius of seven miles from the camp drawing a map of their journey and making a written story of what took place during the hike. Second class knife and ax was passed by Thomas Douds. Wayseeker scalps were awarded to Scouts Biven, Goldman, Harland, Gjavor, Rosencrans, Newton, Franchetti and Lennig. The following scouts received the pathfinder scalp: McClure, Davis, Cochran, Harper, McCaslin, Ferris and Biesel. Bill Shira and Bob Bayers passed the hunters scalp. Hap Hawkins was awarded the achievement emblem of the camp. This is a very high honor and he deserves the congratulations of the other campers. Thursday night was "Whoopie Night" and the old camp sure did rock with fun. Many boys were gathered around the canteen and a very good time was enjoyed by all, but only thru the efforts of Luke Rowe. The totem pole is getting a new coat of paint and by the change it sure needed it. This artistic improvement is being made by Tom Rambo. In the evening a mysterious meeting of the camp staff was held to discuss the coming of Siam the dreadful and weird.

Memphis To View Billiard Tourney

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, July 11.—The southern sectional pocket billiard championship final will be played at Memphis, Tenn., at a date to be announced later, according to C. A. Storer, director of players for the National Billiard Association of America. The southern sectional three-cushion final already has been awarded to Decatur, Ill.

St. Louis, which has been promised one of the divisional tournaments in the southern sectional three-cushion, has just been selected for the northern division of the southern sectional play.

Happy though! When machines produce everything, Big Business will have to hire consumers.

Glimpses Of Nature By OWEN FENFIELD FOX

This is the season of the year of young bird life, and no doubt as you go about your flower garden you will notice young birds that are not full feathered and wings that are not very strong. When young birds are at this stage they will be easy prey to cats; by keeping a close watch you may save the life of many a future songster.

Do you know that the Morning Dove raises four broods of birds a season? and it takes just two weeks for the eggs to incubate.

Mourn Death Of 162 Miners In Disaster At Neurode, Silesia

(International News Service)
NEURODE, Silesia, July 11.—Bells tolled mournfully today and black flags waved from the grimy buildings of the town in mourning of the 162 miners who died in the gas-filled 1000-foot depth of the Wenceslaus mine here when a coal gas explosion sealed the main shaft.

While 94 bodies have been recovered hope has been abandoned for the 68 men still in the black pit a fifth of a mile below the surface.

Haggard women and children crowded the offices and bulletin boards of the mine, clutching hungrily at every bit of information that rescue squads could offer following each new attempt to break through the wrecked shaft. Many brought blankets and pillows in order to have comforts ready for their folk in case any should be brought out alive.

Belief was current here that the Wenceslaus mine, practically the only support of the village, would be closed after the disaster which sharply decimated its population.

Relief contributions poured in today, led by a $25,000 contribution from the Prussian government, and $2,500 from President Hindenburg. It was reported that the Reichstag would vote a sum for relief during today's session.

The exact cause of the catastrophe, the worst in Germany's history, has not been determined, but was believed entirely due to explosion of a pocket of coal gas. A physician stated that the bodies of the victims were found "as if they had simply fallen asleep."

The Making Of A Saint

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? —Matthew 16:26.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

While we experience a feeling of awe and reverence in the presence of Abraham, the great father of the faithful, we feel very much at home in the presence of Jacob. He is so perfectly human, and so full of faults, like the rest of us. That God ever succeeded in making much of a saint out of Jacob is one of the greatest evidences of the power of divine grace. It explains the comfort sinners of all ages have found in saying: "The God of Jacob is our refuge." For if there was salvation for Jacob no sinner need despair of the power of God's grace in his own life.

The meanness of Jacob's disposition crops out again and again in the Bible story. No attempt is made to white wash him or put a halo about his scheming head. Even his brother, Esau, whom the Scriptures hold up as an illustration of a "profane person," appears again and again to better advantage than Jacob. The hard bargain he drove with Esau to get him, in an evil moment, to barter away his birthright as the elder son for a mess of pottage reveals the meanness of his disposition, even though it does not excuse Esau for thus despising the spiritual inheritance symbolized in his birthright. Esau was not the last to sell a birthright for a mess of pottage. Millions do it today, when for the fleshly pleasure of a moment they surrender virtue, character and future happiness.

Another occasion when Jacob lived up to the name he bore was when he deceived his father, Isaac, into giving him the blessing which Isaac intended for Esau, the first born. Covering his hands and neck with hair to resemble Esau, he deceived his blind father into thinking that he was giving the patriarchal blessing to Esau, with whom we can scarcely help sympathizing in his bitter cry, "Is not he rightly named Jacob (supplanter)? for he hath supplanted me these two times: he took away my birthright; and behold, now he hath taken away my blessing." If at this time, Jacob had been the youth we generally imagine he was we might find more excuse for him. But he was an old man of 77 years at the time of this deceit, and his father 136. Surely, youthful folly can hardly be pleaded in extenuation of his meanness!

Jacob's New Name

But the next 20 years' association with Laban, who was a bit meaner even than Jacob, gave the "supplanter's" conscience a chance to do its work, and prepared him for the call of God to return to his home and the brother he had wronged. God's grace was busy meanwhile also in Esau's heart, and the brothers met in peace and joy. But Jacob's vision of God at Bethel as he fled from Esau 20 years before, and his vision at Peniel on the eve of his meeting with Esau, had done God's work.

It required a tremendous struggle in the night in which Jacob's old spirit was broken as symbolized by his crippled thigh, but with his new nature the Lord, with whom he wrestled, gave him a new name, "Israel," meaning "Prince of God." Thus God made Jacob a "new creature," and "the God of Jacob who is our refuge" does the same for us when, by the same grace, he makes us "new creatures in Christ Jesus."

(The suggested daily Bible readings for next week's study are: Monday, Exod. 2:1-10; Tuesday, Exod. 2:11-15; Wednesday, Exod. 3:1-8; Thursday, Exod. 11:4-10; Friday, Exod. 19:1-6; Saturday, Heb. 11:23-31 and Sunday, Psalm 90:12-18.)

Fire Department Rescues Tom Cat

AUGUSTA, Me., July 11.—The local fire department was called out to rescue a tomcat which had become embroiled in battle with a flock of robins.

Evidently the cat had climbed a tree to rob the robins' nest. When the birds resented the attack they swooped upon the feline, which retreated. Unfortunately the tomcat's retreat was not strategic. Instead of descending to the ground he climbed to the topmost branches and there became fair game for the enraged robins.

Norton H. Plummer saw his plight and called Fire Chief McCurdy, who summoned Lou Hill, another fire fighter. The three managed to rescue the dazed animal, its body covered with cuts from the robins' beaks.

Of sheer batiste, in new designs

Now is undoubtedly the time to refresh your summer suits with new blouses! These are exquisitely sheer, with eyelet embroidered frills, lace-trimmed bows, and jabots cascading gracefully. Some have collars embroidered in flower motifs, the petals forming scalloped edges. And they may be had in eggshell, pink, green, yellow, and blue... in sizes 32 to 42.

New batiste blouses—$1.95

Many of these blouses are white, with eyelet embroidered frills, or frills edged with lace like old-fashioned "hairpin" trimming. Others are in pastel shades.

(Second Floor)

Summer sponsors new gaiety in accessories

JEWELRY, for instance, sometimes simulates garlands of fruit, such as might be found in old Italian paintings. Or strings carved crystal beads on slender chains, the better to enhance a graceful neck. You'll see many new necklaces and bracelets here at $1.00 and $1.95.

HANDBAGS, are most summerlike when they are pastel-toned... whether fashioned of linen, Shantung, calf, or "candlewick" fabrics. Many of these have ornaments or handles of simulated crystal, $2.95.

(Main Floor)

New hat fashions make themselves FELT

Dark felts for travel and pastel felts for sports... thus runs the latest version of what's new in millinery. The felts adopt brims, bandeau effects, and other smart details of the summer mode. At $5.00 and $6.50.

(Second Floor)

Inexpensive youthful fashions for mid-summer

FLOPPY HATS that are white on one side and pink, blue, maize, orchid or green on the other (according to the shade of one's newest frock!) are especially popular with the younger set. In pique, $1.50.

SHEER DRESSES of organdy or voile will accompany the aforesaid hats gladly to parties or to Sunday school. Many of these frocks are hand-made or hand-embroidered, and certain ones have matching panties. Sizes 1 to 3, at $1.95.

CREEPERS of broadcloth or dimity meet the requirements of young business men of 1, 2 and 3 years. They are smartly trimmed, but all are washable, in case their wearers become involved in a transfer of "real estate" from the sandpile. At $1.95.

JUNIOR GIRLS share in the remarkable values offered by a group of sheer dimity and lawn frocks. Sizes 7 to 14 are $1.95.

(Second Floor)

shed light on a travel problem

Navy and black chiffon, georgette, and silk crepe dresses will go to many smart places this summer, being attractive on any occasion and practical to travel with or to travel in! Many of these are embroidered, dotted or printed in small motifs. Some are long-sleeved... others are caped, or puff-sleeved. The sheer frocks seem to prefer lace accents. $15.00 and $19.50.

College To Start School For Janitors

(International News Service)
DENVER, Colo., July 11.—Denver University is going to accord janitors an opportunity to receive the advantages of a special background in an institution of higher learning. Janitors will be given, if they so choose, a summer course in the "School for Building Custodians," to be conducted as part of the University of Denver summer school system during the first week of August.

Upon completion of the course the man who takes care of the apartment house furnace and lawn is to be known as "building custodian."

James J. Ball, assistant superintendent in charge of the business management of the Denver Public School system, Rudolph G. Petchek, novelty electrical expert, and G. W. Henderson, electrician, will be instructors in the course.

The first subject to be considered by janitors who take the course will be the pace of the custodian in the organization of school, apartment house, office building, hotel, or other large structures.

A discussion of his responsibilities in relation to other occupants of buildings will be given by men who have had practical experience in that field.

The janitors are to receive the instruction for a tuition of $10.

Another need of the times is an auto polish that will look old enough to fool the rain clouds.

Two Families From Ward Go To Summer Cottages During Present Week

Mabel Wilson lodge number 567 to Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen had their lodge meeting Thursday evening in the Knights of Malta hall. During the evening the routine lodge meeting was conducted and lodge business transacted. Mrs. Pearl Taylor, president, presided.

During the meeting plans were discussed for the joint lodge picnic planned by this auxiliary and Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The picnic will be on Thursday, July 31 at Cascade Park.

At the meeting of Mable Wilson lodge the president appointed the officers of the lodge on the committee in charge of the arrangements with Mrs. I. W. Taylor, vice president as chairman. Mrs. William Ellgrass was named chairman of the sports committee.

The event is for the members of the two lodges and their families. There will be a picnic supper in the evening. A sports program will be a feature of the picnic.

Committee from the Brotherhood for the picnic comprises R. J. Metzler, W. H. Evans, Frank Taylor.

SUMMER READING

A number of children of the seventh ward are interested in the summer reading offered by the library. There is special summer reading, known as a trip around the world by books. Children may choose from a list of books on sixteen different countries. When children who are interested in the course read three of the books on the list they are given a passport. When they read ten books, their passport is completed and the books they have read is listed. A number of seventh ward children have begun the special summer reading.

O. S. C. CLUB

The members of the O. S. C. club had a picnic supper at Cascade Park Thursday evening. The supper was served at 7 o'clock. Covers were arranged for nine. A feature of the picnic was the presenting of a beautiful gift to Mrs. Richard King, a bride of recent date, by the club members.

After the supper the evening was spent with the park amusements. Plans for the next club meeting will be announced later.

2,000 Kiddies Attend Carnegie Playground

Many Sport Activities For Boys And Girls Daily At Carnegie Playground

Approximately 2,500 Children See Movies Daily, Tennis Tourney On Now

Approximately 2,000 kiddies from all sections of this city daily enjoy themselves at the Carnegie playgrounds on South Jefferson street. It is through the courtesy of General Superintendent T. J. Tully and J. C. Miller, superintendent of welfare and safety of the Carnegie Steel Works that the playground is a reality for the children as well as the community of New Castle. The supervisors at the recreation center are: girls' supervisors, Miss May Martin, assisted by Miss Mildred Miller, and Miss Katherine McMillin. William Sullivan has charge of the boys.

Numerous activities are going on daily at the Carnegie playground. The athletic activities include tennis, golf, volleyball, baseball, basketball, shuffleboard, and checkers. Girls who do not like sports amuse themselves, some by practicing dramatics, clay work and weaving. Classes in sewing, weaving and dramatics have been organized, according to the supervisors.

This afternoon the dramatic class is presenting folk dancing to the other members of the playground. For the smaller youngsters the slides, swings, see-saw, checker, dominoes, jacks and paddle tennis are offered by the playground. The small youngsters appear to make use of all the amusements the playground offers.

Close to 2,500 children attend the movies which are shown in the auditorium of the playground daily. In the afternoon the first show starts at 2:30 and sometimes at 3:30. In the evening the movies start at 6:30 and sometimes at 7:30. Some days films numbering as high as nine and 10 reels are shown. No matter what kind of a day it is, nearly 2,000 kiddies gather to see the daily movies. William Sullivan, who has charge of the movies, stated:

At the present time a tennis tournament is in progress among the older members of the playground. The youngsters have been divided into classes. Some classes are in the semi-finals of the tourney. This seems to create rivalry among the tennis players.

Sullivan also said that a new baseball team is being organized at the present time.

J. D. Warnock is the groundkeeper at the playground this year. Mr. Warnock has quite a task ahead of him. The appearance of the playground daily with its beautiful flowers and neatness is the first thing that attracts the eye.

Thursday and today the Carnegie playground was host to children of the Margaret Henry Home. It is customary that two days during each month the Margaret Henry Home children visit Carnegie playground.

Marjorie Syling Confined To Home Has Been Bedfast Since Injuries Sustained In Fall Three Months Ago

Little Marjorie Syling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Syling, of 822 East Lutton street, who received serious injuries three months ago in a fall, while playing with her scooter near her home, has been confined to her bed most of the time since. Several X-rays have been taken, and the trouble has been located. It will be some time before she will be able to get about.

Masonic Body Meeting In Erie

ERIE, Pa., July 11.—The sixth annual executive session of the Pennsylvania council of deliberation, supreme body of Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Free Masonry, opened here today.

Two hundred delegates from over the state, half of them 33rd degree Masons are in attendance. John S. Wallace, of New Castle, state commander, presided.

The meeting will come to a close tonight with a boat ride on Lake Erie for the delegates and their wives.

Dog Bites Little Boy On The Lips

Owner Notified To Keep The Dog Tied Up For The Next Ten Days

Earl, Jr., the little three year old son of Earl Locke of 307 South Crawford avenue, was severely bitten on both lips last night by the dog of Charles Hunter.

Officers Letera and H. E. Richards were detailed on the case and ordered the owner to keep the dog tied up for ten days, pending the outcome of the little boy's injury and for the purpose of determining the condition of the dog.

Al Espinosa Has Fine Round Today In National Open

Al Espinosa Beaten By Bobby Jones Last Year Has Fighting Chance

SKIPS BALL OVER HAZARDOUS LAKE

INTERLACHEN COUNTRY CLUB, MINNEAPOLIS, July 11.—Al Espinosa, last year's runner up to Bobby Jones, if a man beaten by 23 strokes can be said to be either running or up, staged a magnificent rally at the outset of the second round of the national open golf championship this morning, being one stroke under par for the first nine holes. He finished yesterday's first round with a 76 and still had a fighting chance this morning, so he proceeded to make it a fighting probability. Another sub-par nine holes would place him among the leaders, if not in the lead itself.

At this immature hour, Tommy Armour and Mac Smith, the overnight leaders, and Jones and Whiffy Cox, the immediate contenders, one stroke back, were yet to appear for their daily sweats through the searing heat.

Men Tampering With Automobile On Grant Street

Tamper Also With Detour Signs And Red Lights In The District

Police were advised this morning at one o'clock, that two men had been seen tampering with an Ohio license car parked in the vicinity of Jolly Bowl and acting in a generally suspicious manner.

Officers Hanna and Alliger were detailed to the scene and found that a couple of young men had parked their car there, while they went into a barbeque lunch nearby to get something to eat.

While they were in that place, the two men sought by the authorities had been seen trying to start this car. Evidently unable to do this, and desirous of doing something unlawful, they were found on investigation of the officers, to have stolen a red light placed in the vicinity to warn motorists of the detour necessary on account of the repaving of Grant street, also to have torn down the detour signs, endangering the lives of many people by doing so.

The officers were unable to locate the perpetrators of this nefarious trick. One was described as being of a heavy set build, while the other was of slender build.

Curtiss' Operation Declared Successful

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 11.—The operation today for appendicitis on Glenn H. Curtiss, airplane inventor, was reported to have been successful by Dr. Thew Wright, his surgeon.

Wright described the condition of Curtiss as "fine" after one hour and a half in the operating room.

Curtiss was rushed to Buffalo yesterday from his home in Hammond, N. Y., for the operation.

Boiling Paraffine Causes Small Fire

Firemen from No. 4 and Central Departments were called to the home of Edward Porter of 1415 East Washington street at 1:05 this afternoon by an alarm from Box 48.

Mrs. Porter was heating paraffine on the stove when it boiled over and ignited, setting fire to a window curtain nearby. The damage amounted to approximately $10.

More Figures On Census Announced

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Final 1930 census figures announced today gave Bradford, Pa., a 1930 population of 18,375 as compared with 15,323 in 1920.

Pottsville, Pa., showed 24,276 in 1930 as compared with 21,876 in 1920.

FARM INSTINCT DOWN SENTIMENT

GRIDLEY, Cal., July 11.—The instincts of good farming and sentiment met here recently.

Sentiment won. Elmer Edson was called upon to decide whether to kill a large gopher snake, which kills mice and other farm pests, and permitting the snake to dine on a nest of quail eggs.

He found the snake, almost a pet on the farm, working his quiet way to the eggs.

Edson killed the snake and saved the eggs.

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 11.—Alfred V. Sayre, for sixteen years supervisor of the Southwark School here, has retired after forty-seven years in the school service.

Flagpole Sitters Are Determined To Set New Records

"Shipwreck" Kelly And "Dangling" D'Agostino In Heated Race For Title

(International News Service) BROCKTON, Mass., July 11.—"I'll stay up indefinitely," was the verdict today of Ralph "Dangling" D'Agostino, champion flagpole sitter as he entered his 29th day of "squatting" atop his 50 foot flagpole in his backyard here and was informed that

Alvin "shipwreck" Kelly, deposed "king" was still going strong 225 feet above the boardwalk at Atlantic City, N. J.

A message was received from "shipwreck" inquiring how long the "dangler" intended to stay up and when D'Agostino was told of Kelly's interest in his endurance capabilities he said, "I intend to come down next Wednesday and set the record at 34 days but now I'll stay until 'shipwreck' comes down and I'll still have my ten days advantage over him."

Meanwhile, Kelly, who had intended coming down on July 19, was reported as determined to stick to his perch until D'Agostino descended and remain there for ten days more to break whatever record the "dangler" may set.

PAYS SPEEDING FINE D. L. Pitzer today paid a fine of $10 at city police court on a charge of speeding on the streets of this city, which was preferred some time ago against him by Motorcycle Officer Ray Richards, who is now confined to the Jameson Memorial hospital with a broken leg.

Local Doctors May Examine War Vets For Pension

Examiners For Civil War Pensions May Be Empowered To Examine World War Men

APPLICATION BLANKS
RECEIVED HERE

Further Information On Recent Pension Plan Received By Red Cross Chapter

Application forms for World War veterans, who desire to make application for disability compensation under the terms of the new Act of Congress, passed last week and signed by President Hoover, have been received, Secretary Orville Potter of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross stated this morning.

It is possible that local doctors who constitute the examining board for Civil War veterans applying for pension, may handle the examination of World War veterans under the new law. This matter is now being discussed by officials of the U. S. Veterans Bureau and a definite announcement along these lines is expected shortly.

This would eliminate the necessity of veterans going to Pittsburgh for examination, and would save the government a considerable sum in the way of transportation, which is now paid to all men called in for an examination.

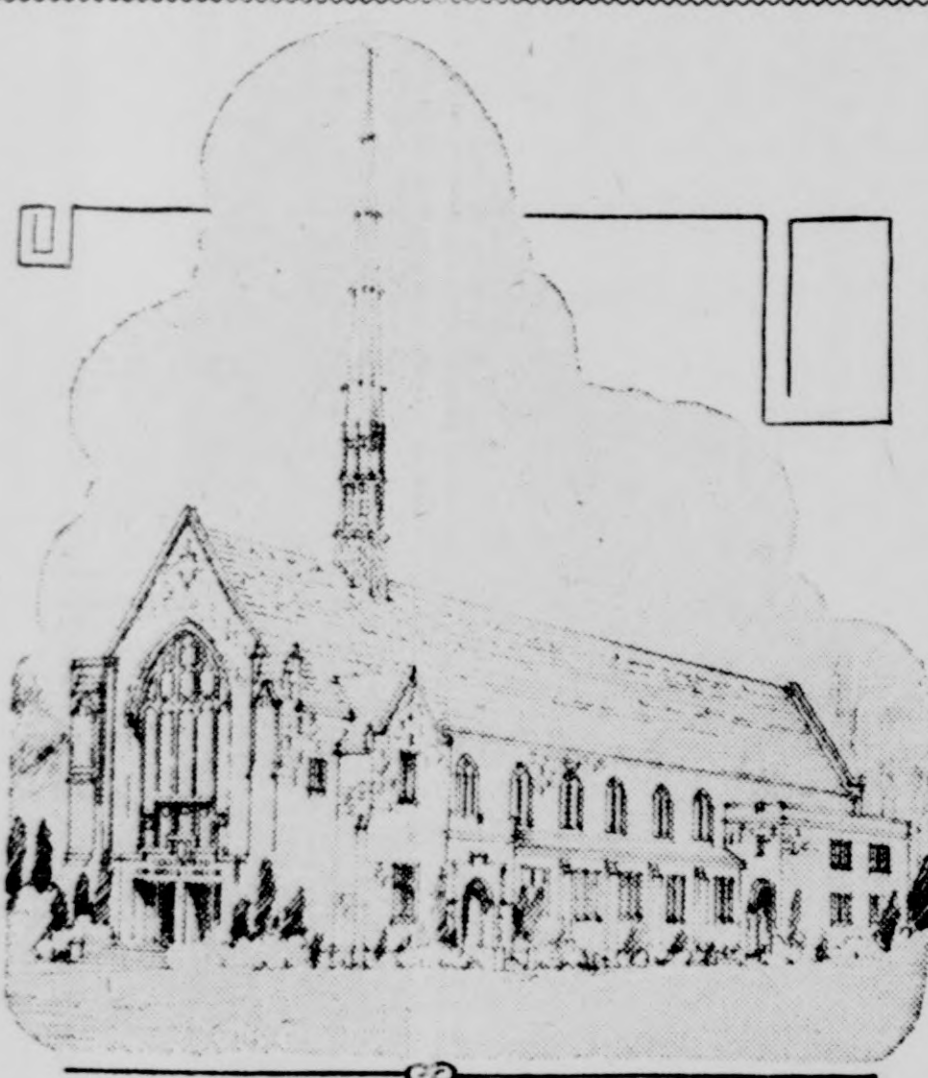

Under the terms of the new bill, World War veterans who are now disabled and who cannot prove service connection will be permitted to apply and will receive a pension, ranging in sums of from $12 to $40 per month.

Those who can prove service connection will receive the old rates, the maximum of which is much higher than under the terms of the new act. No time limit is set on the date for applying nor is there any presumptive clause included in the new bill.

Only those who have paid Federal income tax during the preceding year, are excluded under the terms of the new act.

It is expected that a great many claims of local World War veterans will be approved under the new act. Advice from the Pittsburgh office of the U. S. Veterans Bureau are to the effect that the disabled men now in hospitals will be taken care of first under the new law, after which the claims of others will be taken up for consideration.

New Chapel For Grove City College

Seating accommodations for 900 students will be provided in the new chapel to be built at Grove City College. The edifice will be constructed of stone, in the center of a new development plan laid out by College officials working with Olmstead Brothers, noted landscape architects of Boston. Contracts for immediate construction will be awarded this year. As may be seen in the illustration, the building is of severe Gothic architecture.

The chapel is part of a $750,000 building program authorized by the Board of Trustees in June. A Science building and another men's dormitory will also be built.

RABBIT MEN PLAN FOR EXHIBITION

Association To Sponsor "Rabbit City Plans To Pave; Wants To Know Liability Of City For Work"

Discussion of tentative plans for a rabbit week in New Castle and arrangements for a basket picnic to be held in two weeks, were the principal matters taken up by members of the New Castle Rabbit and Cavy Breeders' association at their meeting last night. The association met at the home of H. W. Miles, 1214 Albert street.

UNIVERSALS TO PLAY ON ELLWOOD GROUNDS

A game between the Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company ball team and Ellwood City will be played Saturday afternoon on the Ellwood Park ball field, starting at 3:30. The game promises to be one of the best of the season.

Yet the man who has no radio still thinks the stein song is "Sweet Adeline."

Laurel Boulevard Plans Approved

City Plans To Pave; Wants To Know Liability Of City For Work

Councilmen at the city building this morning and approved plans and specifications for the paving of both sides of Laurel boulevard between Highland avenue and Neshannock boulevard. Council requested City Solicitor Robert White to furnish a written opinion, stating the city's liability for the paving.

Grant Street Not Fit For Travel

Grant street is in a torn up condition, according to F. F. Miller, city engineer, who stated today that Woods & Golder have the thoroughfare torn up between State street and the bridge and the Penn-Ohio has the street torn up between the bridge and Green street.

Woods & Golder will repave the street between State street and North Jefferson street. The P-O company is removing their rails between the bridge and Beaver street.

The only persons who are driving cars in Grant street are those who live along the thoroughfare. Detour signs have been placed warning 422 route users to travel to State street via West Washington street and Greenwood avenue.

Accident Victims Leave Hospital

Trio Injured Slightly In Recent Auto Accident Return To Their Homes

Three victims of recent automobile accidents, who have been confined in the Jameson Memorial hospital, have recovered sufficiently to return to their homes.

Mrs. Mary K. Guy of 608 West Madison avenue and Miss Mary Harward of 416 Euclid avenue, who were injured last week when the machine in which they were riding enroute to the picnic of the Strouss-Hirshberg Co. employees overturned, returned to their homes late yesterday.

James Brisbane of 835 Lathrop street, who was injured on July 4 when the machine in which he was riding overturned on the Wilmington road, has also returned to his home.

City Council Approves Bills

When council met at the city hall bills for the following amounts were approved: Henry Dysart, expense, public service hearing, Pittsburgh, $4.85; Sheriff Johnston, serving papers for the city against the New Castle Electric company, $4.65; Dr. Popp, medical service to Miles Stewart, hurt at the golf course, $31.09 and Charles Benson Sons, $81.36, construction of sidewalks along city property, Boyles avenue.

Women With Children Please Mussolini

(International News Service) FLORENCE, July 11.—Plenty of children is higher honor than nobility according to Mussolini. As a result the Florentine ladies devised a new system of introduction, on the occasion of the recent visit to their town of Premier Mussolini. As the great reception he gave to the city's notables the novel plan was started by several of the ladies. They introduced themselves to the Duce by announcing not their aristocratic titles, but the number of children they had.

Said Marchioness Ricasoli, with a bow: "Mary Theresa Ricasoli, six children."

Another great lady, Countess Guicciardini, advanced and said: "Norah Guicciardini, seven children." And a third, Princess Corsini, introduced herself "Mary Carolina Corsini, four children."

Mussolini was quite pleased with this action. By the way it is rumored consistently that, following the tax on bachelors, the Fascist Government is now planning to put a heavy tax on childless marriages.

MORAVIA STOP

Bo Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

Central Press Staff Writer.
NEW YORK, July 11.—Charley Hand of the sanitation commission has asked for more esprit de corps on the part of the city's street cleaners and the request has engendered some bitterness and no little resentment in the ranks of those brain workers upon whom devolves the solemn duty of manuring the boulevards with broom and shovel.

Cornelius McGillicuddy, veteran Broadway asphalt-masseur, speaking for his fellow men-about-town, thus epitomizes the situation:

"When we run into any esprit-de-corps we'll do what we always do—shovel it into de can, but if Mr. Hand thinks we're gon' strain our eyes lookin' fer it, he's got another guess comin'. If dey ain't enough t' suit him, dat ain't our fault. Dis is a mechanical age!"

A LOSING GAME

The city has quit towing away automobiles whose owners exceeded the parking limit. It stood you ten bucks to get your car back; but it cost the city $16 to haul it off. After the police had spent $238,608 to collect $149,139 in fines, some genius in the department discovered that there is no percentage in that sort of thing. Of course, the fine might have been increased to offset the deficit; but why go to all that trouble and annoyance when the difficulty could be solved by merely abolishing the law?

It recalls the old Wobey & Fields skit where they bet each other a thousand dollars. Both lost and they threw the money away.

CRAMPED STYLE

Time has put a crimp in the rank of New York's famous after-dinner speakers. Some years ago there were at least a score of Little Tommy Tuckers who mightily arose and "sang for their suppers"—men who, as Jimmy Walker has said, "could get a lot of mileage out of a shirt front."

But no more. Some of them, pushing the demi-tasse aside for the last

HARD-SOFT LARGE-SMALL CORNS

Out To Stay Out—Roots And All
Magic Oxygen Salts Bath Never Fails.
No More Burning Aching Feet.

No matter how many corns you have or how painful they are—soak your feet for 15 minutes in a delightfully soothing and revitalizing Radox footbath for 3 or 4 nights—then lift corns and callouses right out—roots and all and they won't come back either unless you wear shoes again which aggravate your feet.

No cutting or digging is required because Radox liberates oxygen which softens hard outer layers of corns, each night penetrating the pores further and further, carrying the salts right to roots of corns which are loosened they can be lifted out bodily.

Your feet are made strong—healthy—vigorous—hard skin on heels and toes goes also.

Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., and all good drugstores are stocked with Radox—if they aren't insist upon them ordering it if you want to experience great foot-joy and comfort.

Airplane Builder At Last Gets His Pilot's License

DETROIT, Mich., July 11.—William B. Stout, president of the Stout Air Lines, constantly referred to as "one of the country's leading fliers," finally got so interested in flying that he became a pilot recently.

Stout's close association with things aeronautical for many years, coupled with the fact that he is widely known as the builder of the Ford all metal plane has led to the mistaken belief that he is, among other things, an expert pilot.

However, the other day a department of commerce inspector examined him and gave him a license to pilot a plane.

"I should have had a pilot's license long ago," Stout said, "but I was so busy building airplanes I never got around to it."

Man Asks Another Year In Prison To Miss Number 13

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 11.—Nate C. Faulkner is particularly afraid of the number 13. So much does he dislike it that he wouldn't mind spending an extra year in prison to get away from it.

Sentenced to 13 years in the state penitentiary on a robbery charge, Faulkner protested.

"Make it 14," he pleaded, "What's a year to get away from that number."

The judge did not share such fears.

Policeman Turns Actor, Makes $500 Weekly

LONDON, July 11.—Twenty-seven years ago Tom Walls was a burly policeman patrolling a beat in C Division.

Today he is an actor-producer, drawing more than $500 a week in salary. His beat as a cop happened to be in the theater district. His constant mingling with the theater crowd caused him to decide to be an actor. He is now one of the best in England.

China Tourists Must Have Good Character

International News Service.
NEW YORK, July 11.—In the future Americans can't knock about China at will.

The Chinese Minister of Foreign Affairs has issued a regulation that Americans desiring to visit in the future will be required to produce three acceptable character witnesses "preferably respectable merchants."

Peter's Adventures

BY FLORENCE VINCENT

FLY FLIES INTO A FURY
BOATMAN rowed himself off and Peter was not sorry to see him go. The fellow had proven none too agreeable.

"Water Boatman didn't like me very well," Peter remarked to Brown Beetle. "I wonder what I said to make him so snappy. Insects have the queerest dispositions. Nothing at all sets them off in a temper—they explode like a bunch of firecrackers."

"Ha, ha, ha! That's funny. Go off like firecrackers, do we? Well, my dear young sir, few of the insects would know what you meant, but I do, since I have lived in the house of a human. You are right and you are wrong, boy. Some insects are hot tempered. But I, well, I have a sweet disposition. It is many a day now since I got good and angry."

"Who are you? And I do wish you and your friends of insect-land would quit appearing out of nowhere and all of a sudden. You made me bite my tongue and I would not have done so if you had come into sight first and spoken afterwards."

"If you don't see me it's your own fault," went on the voice, apparently out of the nowhere. "I am right in front of you—really on a level with your eyes which see not. Look closely at the fern clump—there! Don't you see me standing on the topmost leaf that is beginning to turn a bit yellow and curl up?"

"I see nothing but a common fly," cried Peter, and then could hear bitten his tongue out. His careless remark was received with angry buzzing.

"Common fly, indeed! And I as big and fine a specimen as you will find in all insect-land. Just like all the humans, aren't you? Consider us flies as pests. And I know why it is because we feast on the food you want for yourselves. Such selfish folks, humans. Rude, too! Call us names right to our face. Common, indeed, I am a very extraordinary fly, let me tell you!"

Next: "Head Full of Eyes."

Often we wonder whether, if the names were mixed under the photograph of the prominent thing and as counsel, the fact would be discovered before five editions had gone to press.—The Detroit News.

German Robot Stamps Turf Better Than Men

International News Service.
LEIPZIG, July 11.—Football fields, polo grounds and areas of turf that require stamping need no longer present a labor problem if a new machine shown in Leipzig, Germany, is all that is said to be. This novel "earth beater" does away entirely with the need for human effort. The machine pounds the ground with powerful automatic blows.

Like a monstrous sized upright frog it leaps up and down landing each time with full force and weight to flatten the turf with its huge bell-shaped foot. The operator has merely to stand by and let the willing robot do the job much better than he could do it himself.

About 50 Attend Croton Playground

Track Meet For Boys And Girls Is Today's Feature; Miss Mildred Battley, Supervisor

Miss Mildred Battley, supervisor of the Croton avenue playground announced that about 50 children from that section of town attend the playground. A new tennis court was recently erected and this is expected to bring a larger turnout daily. Today's feature will be a track meet for boys and girls.

Every morning the kiddies enjoy themselves by playing games. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week Miss Elizabeth Mackey conducts a sewing class. About 10 girls are members of this class. Plans are being completed so that contests in baseball and mushtball can be arranged with other teams of other playgrounds.

Horse-shoe pitching is a strong sport among the boys. The trees which were planted several years ago in the Croton playground are still small and it will still take a number of years before the trees will provide shade. This playground is five years old.

Three Kiddies Have 10 Grandparents

FRANKLIN, Pa., July 11.—Three children of Franklin have ten grandparents to visit. They are Miss Inez Jean, Jack Jr., and Dicky Darrell Davis of Franklin. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Young, Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis, Ludow, Pa., three great grandfathers and two great grandmothers. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hefferman, Franklin, the former being a step great grandfather, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Butcher, Franklin, the former being a great stepfather. Jas. Young, Franklin, also a great grandfather, Mrs. Elizabeth Hart, at the age of 88 being a great grandmother.

This "truth serum" stuff may be all right, but who is going to guarantee the report of those who administer it?—The Lynchburg Virginia News.

FINE PIECE OF LAND AT A GREAT BARGAIN

This is a fine place for a Miniature Golf Course, right close to the business center of the city. The plot is two hundred feet wide and one hundred and ninety feet deep. This piece of ground is located on Beaver street, just across the street from the old Shengango Valley Hospital, and is part of the hospital grounds. It is about half a block from Grant street and it can be made level as a floor with a scraper in a few days. Go up and look this ground over and you will see what a wonderful bargain you can get. There is just one tier of lots between this plot and Jefferson street.

Market Today Is Unsettled

Spiritlessly Today—Air-

STEEL GOES DOWN BUT RECOVERS

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 11—Stocks churned about spiritlessly today, with the broad vigor of yesterday's upturn being supplanted by generally sagging tendencies in the run of speculative favorites.

Constructive forces appeared contained to hold the pivotal market leaders at support points, but slightly under previous closing levels, while the bear faction took advantage of the general dullness to hammer away at a number of vulnerably situated issues.

Such leaders as U. S. Steel, American Can, General Electric, Radio and Westinghouse gave evidences of persistent accumulation despite a slight easing off in price. U. S. Steel for example dropped more than a point to 13 3/4 on light offerings, but always came back when buying orders made their appearance, as did others of like caliber.

Among the air-pockets which developed in the course of the session were those in American Radiator, Air Reduction, Case Threshing, Eastman Kodak, and Johns Manville in which losses of from 2 to 5 points cropped up.

Former Navy Pilot Teaching Wife To Fly

(International News Service)
GARDEN CITY, N. Y., July 11—The question—what does an aviator do on his vacation?—is being answered by Lieut. Alford J. Williams, who was the navy's crack speed pilot before resigning to enter commercial aviation.
It seems that the aviator and postman have much in common, for while the latter is enjoying his Sunday stroll, the pilot is teaching his wife to fly.

At least such is the case in the Williams family. Mrs. Williams, who was formerly Mrs. Florence Hawes Selby, has already had ten lessons at Roosevelt field, L. I., in the lieuten-

Another Step Taken In Dean Will Case

In the case of Jane Ligo against Ida B. Dodson and others, growing out of a fight over the will of the late Nellie Dean, report of the trial and opinion of the supreme court were certified from the common pleas court to the orphans' court this morning. The next move in the case will be for the judges of the orphans court to make an order certifying the case to the register of wills for the appointment of an executor. The question of the interpretation of the will must then be settled. Miss Ligo is the chief beneficiary under the will, and a recent decision of the supreme court was in her favor.

Big Liquor Plant Seized By Agents

(International News Service)
ALTOONA, Pa., July 11—Said to have been the source of this city's liquor supply, a large liquor plant was uncovered by federal and state officers in Greenfield township yesterday. The plant was equipped with a 200-gallon and 100-gallon still.
In addition raiding officers said more than a hundred barrels of mash, some moonshine and sugar were found and confiscated.
The layout was located in a particularly hidden shack in the mountains.

Youths Are Saved From Drowning By Lock Attendants

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 11—Two unidentified youths were saved from drowning in the Allegheny River near Aspinwall early today when they were pulled from the water after their small outboard motorboat plunged over the spillway at Lock No. 2.
Lock attendants who pulled the boys out said they did not know whether the boys lost control of the craft or whether they were unaware of the locks existence. Apparently they had no chance to avoid the spillway.

Legion Sponsors Drum-Bugle Corps For Boy Scouts

Planned As Means Of Stimulating Scouting In Northern Part Of County

Announcement was made today of the latest move of the American Legion in this district to assist in the Boy Scout movement. The announcement was made by Dr. H. H. Rosenthal, commander of Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343, American Legion, and was in effect that in cooperation with Herbert G. Horton, Lawrence County Scout Executive, the local post will sponsor the organization and maintenance of a Drum and Bugle Corps, the members of which will be active members of Boy Scout troops of New Castle and Lawrence county.

The principal object of Gaston Post in organizing and equipping this drum and bugle corps is to stimulate interest in scouting throughout the county and especially in the northern section of the county.

The rules governing the corps are that all members of the organization must be registered members of some Boy Scout Troop in New Castle, New Wilmington, Volant, Bessemer, New Bedford and Mt. Jackson. These scouts must be in good standing in their own troop and have at least a sixty percent record of troop meeting attendance, as well as making satisfactory progress in their scout rank advancements. Names of the candidates will be acted on by a committee named by the American Legion.

Corps members will be required to have the following scout uniform as a minimum: official scout hat, shirt, belt, breeches, stockings and tan shoes, with high shoes preferred. Those who have bugles or drums will use these. In preliminary instruction and practice. When any corps member has made good as a member of a regular corps, the American Legion will furnish a high grade standard equipment of drums, bugles, bass drums, etc.

At the present time it is proposed to have the corps meetings not more often than once every two weeks so that the scout may not have too much time taken away from troop, school and home duties. When the corps is preparing for a parade or a trip out of town, rehearsals will be held weekly.

Scouts who make good permanent corps members will be properly equipped by Gaston Post and instructed by Legion instructors and will have a chance to go on out of town trips with the Legion. It is anticipated that it will prove a great stimulus to scout work because of the opportunities afforded to participate in parades, patriotic and civic demonstrations.

SUPREME COURT RULING AWAITED BY U. S. MOTORISTS

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 11.—The question whether a motorist charged with "reckless driving" is legally entitled to a jury trial, now pending decision in the United States supreme court, is of great importance to motorists, according to the American Motorists' association.

"It is an admitted and proven fact that a defendant motorist invariably can get a more sympathetic hearing if he be tried by a jury, rather than by a judge," a statement said.

The case developed in the District of Columbia after a motorist was sentenced to 30 days in jail for reckless driving. He demanded a jury trial which was refused but on appeal to the District of Columbia court of appeals the police court decision was reversed, this court holding that the defendant was entitled to trial by jury. The government then appealed to the supreme court.

Because of the tendencies of many "road side courts" and "fining squires" to the prosecutor, judge and jury, usually with disastrous results, the decision will be of interest to hundreds of thousands of motorists annually," the statement said.

The theory of the government has been that reckless driving is only a petty offense and therefore does not come under the constitutionality of the sixth amendment which decrees that every citizen shall have a speedy, public and impartial jury trial, it was said.

Princess Of Thurn Will Have Million If Thompson Pays

Alimony Fund From Divorced Husband Gives Princess
Huge Fortune

(International News Service) UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 11.—If the Princess of Thurn and Taxis can collect $300,000 she claims is due her three sons from J. V. Thompson then she and the sons, John, Gerald and Edward, would have a fortune of more than a million dollars.

The report of the trustees of an alimony fund, left the princess and her sons twenty-four years ago, when she and Lord Gerald Purcell Fitzgerald were divorced shows a total of $722,745.80. Of this amount $425,941.86 is credited to the princess and $296,803.94 to the sons.

In 1906 Lord Fitzgerald left a fund amounting to more than three quarters of a million dollars to the princess and their sons. This mainly was the income from the operations of the South Fayette Coke Company, which previously to the divorce had netted Lord Fitzgerald many millions.

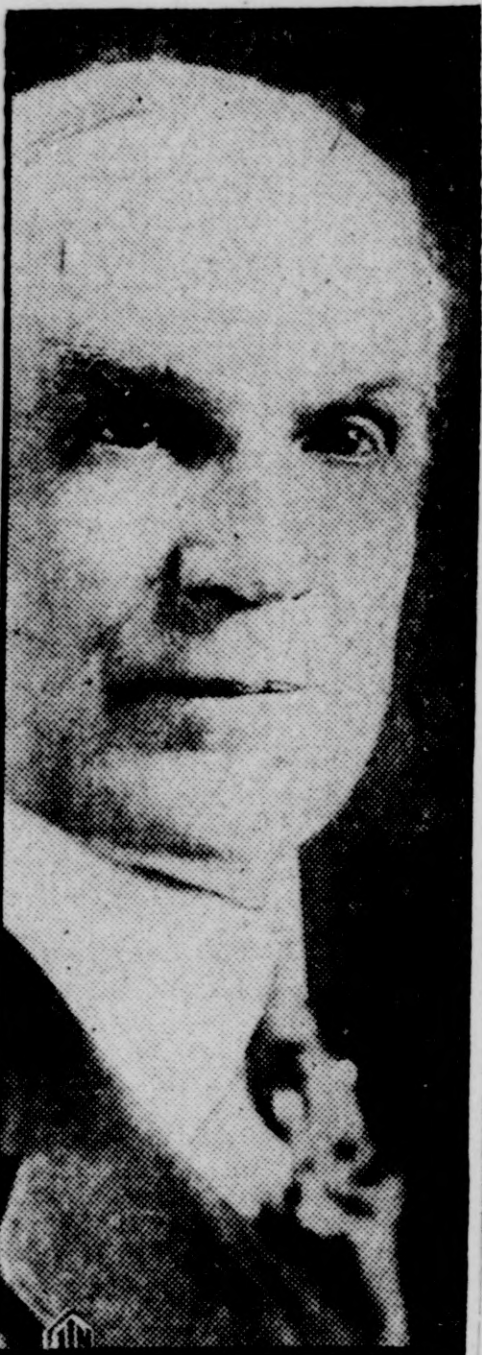

The report of the trustees of the funds shown that in five years the princess' fund increased more than twelve thousand dollars. Edward Fitzgerald is living with his father and the other sons with their mother here.

The money is invested in mortgages and bonds. The princess indicated that she will file exceptions to several disbursements from the fund by the trustees.

To Spend $500,000 For New Buildings

(International News Service) BAKERSFIELD, Cal., July 11.—Building for which the outlay will exceed $500,000 was in progress here, making the outlook for business and employment bright for the summer. Three large projects now are under construction a warehouse, costing $60,000 a new business building, costing $250,000 and the $250,000 Fox West Coast theatre.

One Legged Chicken

Paul Mrozek, No. 2 Elmwood street, Oakland, is the possessor of a Rhode Island Red rooster, hatched out May 19, which has never enjoyed the use of two legs, but has made the best of its unfortunate condition, and flies and hops about with as much zeal and ability as its brothers and sisters which were born with two legs. It has also developed just as far as the others born on the same date.

The other leg is imbedded or ingrown and is discernible, but has never been nor never will be of any use to this active little rooster. The activities of the little chicken has attracted general attention.

DARTMOUTH ADDS ROWING TO LIST OF MAJOR SPORTS

(International News Service)

HANOVER, N. H., July 11.—The Dartmouth Indian that has raised havoc with its college rivals in football, baseball, and lesser sports can now add a more "scalpy" to his belt—rowing having been added to the Hanover college's athletic curriculum.

While persistent rumors for and have circulated over the campus, alumni and sport followers for a full year that Dartmouth was to be represented by varsity and freshman crews, Harry Henegage, graduate manager of the Hanover institution made the fact known to his fellow athletic directors at a recent graduate managers meeting.

The news was greatly received from all quarters and immediate invitations were extended to Henegage for Dartmouth to meet Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Navy and Pennsylvania.

That Henegage had been in England studying the rowing conditions of the English universities and that while there Henegage had contracted for the purchase of three shells was also revealed placing further credence in the report.

The questions of coaches and a place for the Dartmouth crews to train were big obstacles confronting the management, but one of these has been answered with the announcement that the crews would train at Mascoma Lake, which is located in Enfield, N. H., about 14 miles south of Hanover.

The Enfield Chamber of Commerce will construct a modern clubhouse, with quarters for the crew candidates and storage room for the shells.

Graduate Manager Henegage was at Poughkeepsie attending the intercollegiate regatta evidently hunting for varsity and freshman crew coaches. No definite selection has as yet been made but it is known that the coaches will be named within a short time.

Collects $45,000 In Back Salary

(International News Service) ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 11.—Fifty-two years ago Thomas Halpin came to this country from Ireland a penniless immigrant boy. Today he is amassing a $1,000,000 estate.

All during Halpin's life in this country Mrs. Kate Lotius worked as his housekeeper without any remuneration whatsoever.

She sued for back salary recently and was awarded a judgment of $45,000.

As a young man of the family of David Walker, 415 West Clayton street, was returning home this morning about one o'clock a man of medium built and apparently a negro, jumped from the porch roof of the home and made his getaway.

The police were notified and Officers Lockhart, Dukes and Golis answered the call, searching the entire district for the man, without success.

While the object of the man is not known, indications were that a burglary was about to be attempted and was only stopped by the timely arrival of the boy of the family.

The man had on a dark cap and dark suit.

Greyhound Races To End Saturday

Greyhound Racing Will End At New Kensington Despite Pending Injunction

(International News Service) GREENSBURG, Pa., July 11.—The greyhound races being conducted by the New Kensington club, subject of widespread discussion and court action, will officially come to a close Saturday night, it was learned authoritatively here today.

The races will end regardless of pending injunction proceedings in the courts here which were started by track officials to restrain State police from interfering with their operations two weeks ago. No order has been made by the court either dismissing or continuing the injunction although Judge C. D. Copeland announced he will give an opinion Monday.

The opinion may govern future dog races in Westmoreland county.

The races started on May 30 and were run under auspices of New Kensington post, American Legion.

Writing Champ Is Visitor Here

E. L. Blystone of Ardara, Pa., is generally accorded recognition as one of the most expert penmen living at the present time by such publications as Collier's Weekly and in Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" column so extensively read throughout the country.

His speciality in the unusual, is the writing of many letters and words on grains of rice and in small spaces. He has written 1615 letters on a grain of rice and also the All American Football Team selections. He had written the Lord's Prayer thirty two times in a circle the size of a dime and once with his name and address in a circle the size of a pinhead.

He has received letters of appreciation from John D. Rockefeller (also a dime), the King of England, the Prince of Wales and President Hoover for greetings extended them on grains of rice, also from the members of the University of Pittsburgh football squad, which visited California recently.

He is spending a few days in the city.

P. R. R. Officers Make 81 Arrests

Eighty one arrests were made by Pennsylvania railroad police of the Erie and Ashtabula division during the first six months of the year, a report compiled today by Captain of

President Hoover's Autograph Is Valued At More Than $100

By CROSWELL BOWEN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 11.—President Hoover, by merely signing a letter twice a day for a year can earn a sum of money greater than he receives as salary as the President of the United States.

President Hoover's A. L. S. (autograph letter signed) is worth over $100. He receives $75,000 a year, and 2 times 365 times $100,—et viola.

This is based on the statement of Thomas F. Madigan in his recent book on the lure of autograph collecting called "Word Shadows of The Great," published by Stokes.

Madigan says of President Hoover: "It is too early to predict what place Herbert Hoover's will occupy among Presidential autographs. Owing to his widespread activities and the many important public positions he has held, his autograph will be moderately plentiful in all forms. Thus far I have not seen many A. L. S. There seem to be many typewritten letters already on the market however. His calligraphy (handwriting) is graceful and legible."

George Washington's A. L. S. brings $350 and Abraham Lincoln's sells for about $250, according to Madigan. Theodore Roosevelt's A. L. S. is proportionately cheaper costing $50, as he wrote over 15,000 letters during his very busy life.

The author has very definite ideas about "the elements of lasting interest and sound investment of A. L. S." He gives a list of 100 names (50 American and 50 European) which he considers decidedly worth collecting.

The factors which go to make up the value of an A. L. S. are demand and 40 per cent, contents 25 per cent and condition 15 per cent, according to Madigan.

MISSSES HIS OWN WEDDING AFTER LOSING MEMORY

OMAHA, Neb., July 11.—One of the first things Virgil C. Gotha, of Jacksonville, Ill., remembered today when he recovered from a week-end case of amnesia, was that he had missed his own wedding, set for last Saturday.

He wired reassurances to his prospective bride after explaining he had lost his memory as a result of an automobile accident in St. Louis and wandered to Omaha by way of Kansas City.

Chicago Now Has 49 Foreign Consuls

CHICAGO, July 11.—Forty-nine countries are now represented by resident consuls in Chicago, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. Increases in the city's consular family have been particularly marked during the last few days. The city's rapid expansion and the international importance given it by Charles G. Dawes, Melvin Traylor, and other well known figures is said to have made it one of the important points of world contact.

George Depasta, consul general for Greece, is the acknowledged dean of the consular corps in Chicago.

Countries now maintaining consular headquarters in the city are: Argentina, Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, British Empire, Chile, Columbia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Guatemala, Honduras, Hungary, Iceland, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Liberia, Lithuania, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, Mexico, Monaco, The Netherlands, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Paraguay, Persia, Peru, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, El Salvador, Siam, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, Uruguay, Venezuela and Yugoslavia.

Tells How To Apply For Teaching Job

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 11.—How to apply for a position as a teacher was described by John G. Rossman to students of the Butler University Teachers' College here. Rossman is superintendent of schools in East Chicago, Ind.

"Out of 335 letters received in a school system in the northern part of the state, a study revealed that only 28 per cent were reasonably satisfactory," Rossman said. "Consider your letter of application your first point of contact, your first chance to present your sales talk. Apply for the thing that you can teach."

"If an application blank is sent you, fill in every detail. If a picture is requested, don't send a portrait. If you do not know the name of the superintendent to whom you wish to apply, don't apply for the position. Take time to plan your letter."

Poor penmanship, hotel stationery, errors in spelling, especially of such words as elementary, superintendent, principal and grammar, printed letters and printed bulletins, describing the candidates were mistakes mentioned by Rossman.

U. S. Has 26,501,443 Registered Autos

NEW YORK, July 11.—The total number of motor vehicles registered in the United States in 1929 was 26,501,443, according to a report just issued by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Other facts follow.

New York state has the largest number of motor vehicles with 2,263,259 registered. California is next with 1,974,341 and Ohio third with 1,766,614 motor vehicles.

The average life of each car is 6.3-4 years.

Since the beginning of 1929 the number of bus passengers has been growing steadily larger than the number of trolley passengers. The number of trolley passengers is decreasing showing that the twilight of the street car has been reached.

There are only 54,354 automobiles dealers in the United States.

U. S. Skyscrapers Invade Europe

VIENNA, July 11.—American skyscrapers are invading Central European cities. Until lately the construction of buildings over six floors high was not permitted in Central European states. Austria, Hungary and Czechoslovakia, however, have almost simultaneously abolished the skyscraper prohibitions, and Yugoslavia is expected to follow the example.

The Vienna municipality has already begun the construction of an 11 stories high apartment house while the municipal committee of Budapest has just given permission for the erection of a 12 story building. The introduction of the skyscrapers in Prague, Belgrade and Zagreb is also imminent.

Mexico Soon To Build Own Airplanes

MEXICO CITY, July 11.—Mexico, which to date has used airplanes manufactured in the United States, soon expects to turn to Mexican made planes. According to the department of Military Aeronautics, four airplane factories will be in operation in Mexico within a year.

One factory will be located at Balbuena aviation field in Mexico City. Another is being planned by the governor of Baja California. General Juan F. Azcarate has announced plans for an airplane factory here and a fourth factory expects to start production shortly at San Luis Potosi. Motors for the planes to be made by all of the factories will be imported from the United States.

"I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at Change of Life. Now I take it every spring and fall and it keeps me in good health. I am able to take care of an eight-room house and garden at the age of 71 years. I will praise the Vegetable Compound wherever I go for it is a wonderful medicine for women. They should give it a good trial by taking about five bottles."—Mrs. Clara Riley.

"I was very nervous and rundown and weighed less than one hundred pounds. I felt tired and weak and I often had to lie down. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I read the advertisement in the paper. Now I eat well, sleep well, and have good color. In fact, I couldn't feel any better and I weigh one hundred fifty-five pounds. I am glad to answer letters from any woman who wants to know more about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Bertha Stephens.

The Parent Problem

Guard Tots From Ills In Vacation

We parents are apt to relax our vigilance about contagious and infectious diseases during the summer months. In some communities children in summer gather often in homes than in winter, since there is no school, and children of school age may more often congregate in picture shows.

There is more whooping cough, diphtheria, mumps and measles during the summer months than most parents realize. No time is there in the year when young children can come in touch with groups of other children indoors without danger of contracting such diseases. When your neighbor's child is complaining in the least, keep your child away from him. When yours is indisposed, apprise your neighbor of the fact. Work for voluntary quarantine even before the doctor comes. We are told by physicians that communicable diseases are, as a rule, most readily contracted at their onset, often before a doctor has been called.

Don't neglect a cold in July or August any more than you would neglect it in September. Pneumonia is not at all uncommon in the summer months.

Digestive disturbances in young children are most frequent in the summer time. They have dangerous possibilities and often are the forerunner of some serious children's disease. Foods in summer are exposed to more poisons and "germs," as you know. Exercise more care, therefore, at this time, concerning them. Make a careful check upon the family's drinking water and milk supply.

Your family doctor is likely to take a vacation during the summer months. Have engaged a substitute for any emergency. August and September are the months when infantile paralysis runs high. Particularly, then, keep the young children out of crowds and consult with your physician concerning preventive measures. If, next fall, there are many cases in your neighborhood or city, better keep your children out of Sunday school for several weeks and persuade the board of education to delay the opening of school. However, those schools which are well equipped for medical inspection have small dangers compared to the Sunday school or motion picture shows, which have no medical supervision, and draw from wide areas. Keep little playmates from hugging and kissing one another.

Take care of yourself during the summer months. If you are overworked and wearied by the family's care and oppressive heat, you may be more than usually susceptible to contagious. Do try to get some relaxation, mother. Let some of the seeming household duties slip by. Learn to be less sensitive to dirt and room disorder. Put first things first. If you have older children, teach them to share some of your burdens. In case you can possibly afford it, employ some domestic help. Cut down on the budget elsewhere is necessary. Steal a few snatches of vacation, away from the children, even if only a week-end at a time. Get a much longer one if at all possible, one that really is a vacation, free from all family cares.

I shall be glad to answer, in these columns, questions addressed to me in care of this paper, providing these questions seem to be of general interest.

If you have a question you would like to have answered personally, write me, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Scotland Lane Reunion July 15

Two Classes of Scotland Lane school are planning a reunion for Tuesday, July 15, which comprise the classes of '89-'90-'91-'92. Professor Robert Wilson was the instructor at that time.

The affair will be in the form of a basket picnic and will be held on the old school grounds. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock daylight savings time.

All persons who attended this school at this time and their families are urged to plan on being present. R. H. Pattison is in charge of arrangements.

Separated Sisters Meet After 72 Years

ERIE, Pa., July 11.—Seventy-two years after she was separated in 1858 from her family following the death of her parents, Mrs. Emma Maxfield, 75, of Erie, today met for the first time in her memory, her sister, Mrs. Ellen M. Phillips, of Worcester, Mass.

wealthy Worcester pioneer, whom she is visiting on the latter's nineteenth birthday.

For 20 years, Mrs. Phillips had been seeking trace of some member of the family, which was scattered by death of the parents in New York in 1858 and had given all up as dead, when a few months ago she learned by accident of the sister in Erie.

Fearing the long trip to Worcester because of her age, Mrs. Maxfield only this week consented to go to Worcester to be with the sister on her birthday, and if she will consent to remain, a luxurious home will be provided her for the remainder of her life.

Cucumber Plants Often Need Spray

If small, black and yellow, striped bugs are on the cucumbers, prepare to spray or dust the plants.

Adult beetles pass the winter under trash or in the soil and appear in the spring just about the time the young plants push through the ground. County Agent Harold R. McCulloch says. The eggs are light yellow to orange and so small that they cannot be seen readily. The larvae, or grubs, are slender white worms.

Both the seed leaves and maturing leaves are seriously injured by the cucumber beetles. The young grubs feed on the roots, stems, and undersides of leaves, often destroying whole plants.

Plants can be protected until runners develop by covering with cones made of wire fly-screening. Plants may be sprayed with 2 pounds of lead arsenate in 50 gallons of bordeaux mixture made with 4 pounds of copper sulphate, 4 pounds of stone lime, and 50 gallons of water, or lower proportions if a smaller quantity is needed. Calcium arsenate can be substituted for lead arsenate. Dusting the plants with either lead or calcium arsenate and land plaster at the rate of one pound of poison to 20 pounds of gypsum may be employed effectively. Finely ground limestone can be used instead of gypsum.

Hailstones Cause Heavy Damage

(International News Service) MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., July 11.—Hailstones that did a million dollars damage a year ago last March are still in existence. A dozen of them may be seen today in the ice cream cooler of a Moundsville store. Placed there after the storm they have been kept as large and firm as when they fell.

Yet most of the big jobs are held by men who never try to do anything to get on the first page.

THE QUESTION BOX

WHAT ARE the world speed records for airplanes?

New records were established following the Schneider cup races in England last year by the flyers of the British team. Major A. H. Orlebar flew the supermarine S6 over a three-kilometer course twice in each direction at an average speed of 355.80 miles per hour, Sept. 10, 1929. His fastest single flight was at the rate of 368.80 miles an hour. On Sept. 12, 1929, in the same plane, Major Orlebar raised the record to 357.70 miles per hour.

For what price were slaves sold at the time of the Civil war?

The price of a slave at the time of the Civil war varied as much as any other commodity would. An old and decrepit slave would be almost worthless, while a young, bright, able-bodied slave would bring as much as $1,000. In some cases a young attractive female would bring even more.

Where and when did golf originate? This sport, generally identified with Scotland, originated in Holland and was known as goff, gouff, or gofff, from which the name golf was derived. It was first played in 1457 and after some years became well known in Scotland, where, in 1754, the Royal and Ancient Golf club of Saint Andrews was founded. This became the center of the old world golf and has continued to be foremost in the world of golf. In the middle of the nineteenth century the game was introduced into this country, where it struggled along until after the World war, when it suddenly came into public favor and since that time has grown to be one of the most popular games in the country, there being millions of golfers today.

How can I remove mildew from a garment?

If the mildew is fresh it probably can be washed off with cold water. If not fresh you may be able to bleach it with potassium permanganate.

What is the difference between candlepower and watt?

Candlepower is the illuminating power, as of a lamp or gas flame, reckoned in terms of the light of a standard candle. Watt is the practical unit of electric power, activity, or rate of work, equivalent to 107 ergs or 1 joule per second, or approximately 1-746th of a horsepower.

OUT FRONT, OUT BACK "Your tour was not a great success, then?" said a friend to an unsuccessful stage manager.

"It was not," admitted the stage manager. "When we played tragedy the box office receipts were a farce, and when we played farce they were a tragedy."—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

21 Persons Try To Ride In Small Auto

(International News Service) SAUGUS, Mass., July 11.—The woman in the shoe might have got away with it—but twenty-one passengers including man and wife and nineteen of the neighbor's children, in a five passenger automobile will have to make four trips.

Patrolman Peter A. Flaherty thought he had interrupted a new bus service when he halted a machine on the Newburyport turnpike, its sides bulging with humanity. From the machine stepped nineteen children and its operator the latter explaining that he was taking some of the neighbor's children for a little "ride" on a warm evening. Since they had no machine he thought it duty bound to give the children a "ride" even though they had to "ride" on the running boards, mud guards, radiator and every available space. Patrolman Flaherty sympathized with the motorists' intentions but suggested he take the children back in groups, which he did, necessitating four trips.

Australia Taxes American Movies

(International News Service) GANBERRA, July 11.—The Australian Federal Government has decided to derive revenue from the film industry through a 30 per cent tax on all remittances and gross earnings from American films. The tax is expected to yield $2,500,000 a year.

Eighty Years Old But Is Still Adept At Art Of Carving Wood Curios

Wood carving is an art in which few Americans ever become expert. Perhaps it is because such care and attention to details is foreign to their temperament. You may live a lifetime and never run across a person who is adept at this art. Or, you may be fortunate enough to meet such a man as John Nicholls, who, in his 80 years of life, has produced hundreds of pieces of carved curios.

Nicholls was born and lived to middle age in England. He came to United States and is now living at Keokuk, a small village several miles west of Wampum, with his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burke.

For most all the years of his life, Mr. Nicholls spent all his spare time in carving wood with his knife and little saw. He has fashioned old sail boats, children's toys, furniture, jewel boxes, little dresser chests and lace cut-out pictures of intricate designs.

He likes to talk of wood carving, his visit to his native-land, and painting. Mr. Nicholls' interest in the carving art dates back to his early childhood. From the age of 9 until manhood, he was employed in coal mines near his home, Northumberland, England. At night, arriving home after spending the day in the dark and grimy mines, the lad went to his second floor bedroom and in a few minutes his parents would hear the sound of hammering, whittling and sawing. It was John making some of his unique contrivances! He called the narrow little bedroom his "workshop."

Then John came to the United States. He was here for several years and then his relatives persuaded him to make a visit to England. They expected, of course, that he would remain, but they all received the surprise of their lives, for, before five weeks were over, Nicholls had returned to the United States.

"I like United States and have made it my home because there is freedom here," he explained to the writer the other day, while sitting in the kitchen of his farm home. He gazed out the window—to the field beyond. "Look there. Why, I could rise right now and walk across that field and no one would poison me for it. But in England—well, it is different. I would be but half-way across and a nobleman would swoop down upon me with a horse-whip. That is England—no freedom for any but the nobles or the very wealthy. I have never known an Englishman who has lived in United States and who ever willingly went back to England to live."

Nicholls arose and went into the front room. He beckoned the writer to follow and pointed modestly at a square of wood about two feet by two, hanging on the wall. A massive battleship had been carved out of the wood and the words—"Remember the Maine," were cut from the wood beneath the ship. It was a marvelous piece of work.

Then, on other places on the walls were painting—also the work of this wizard. The pictures were painted on square pieces of wood. Nicholls pointed to the larger of the group. He remarked that he wished the writer could have seen the eight or nine pictures he had painted beneath the one now visible. He explained that when he got tired of looking at the first painting on that slab of wood, he had covered it over with another, after gazing at the second picture for several years, he covered it with a third and different painting. And so on. One reason for putting all the pictures on the same piece was because of the scarcity of wood.

Nicholls regrets that packing companies are now using card-board boxes instead of the wooden ones of old, because he can get no wood to carve and work with, time moves very slowly for this old timer. He wants work and, although his eyes are much dimmer than a half century ago, his artistic designing still surpasses any seen in this part of the country.

Ambassador Morrow has returned to Mexico to make sure that things are still all right between the Mexicans and us before tackling the United States senate.

Lice Attacks Chickens Here

County Agent McCulloch Suggests Means Of Controlling Insect Pests

Insure chicken comfort by controlling insect pests.

Nicotine sulphate has proved an effective control of lice in recent years, County Agent H. R. McCulloch points out. This material should be spread in a narrow strip on top of the roost about half an hour before roosting time. An oil can or paint brush may be used for this purpose. Excessive amounts should be avoided and ample ventilation provided.

Use of mercurial ointment and vaseline, as well as sodium fluoride, has proved effective. The nicotine sulphate method, however, will save considerable time and labor, McCulloch explains. If production is satisfactory and only a few lice are found on the birds, it will be practical to postpone treatment for lice until later in the summer.

Mites stay on the roosts and attack the birds only at night. There are several mite pests which can be spread on the roosts, supports, and all places where the birds roost, the farm agent says.

Quite a number of chickens on Lawrence county farms have been attacked by lice and by mites and therefore causing discomfort to the birds and lessening the production. It is important that the coops and roosts be treated as pointed out above.

Claim To Have Oldest Automobile In United States

GALENA, Kan., July 11.—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Colvin of this city, claim to own the oldest automobile in the world that is being used for daily transportation.

Mr. Colvin is driving a car today that was purchased in 1906. It is a single cylinder Reo that is now in its twenty-fifth year of continuous service.

"It's still as good as new," says Mr. Colvin, "and unless someone comes along with some kind of an exceptional offer, I expect to drive it for many years to come."

I drive this little open model about 5,000 miles a year. So far it has gone more than 100,000 miles and I still get 30 miles to the gallon."

A few weeks ago the Colvin automobile was involved in an accident with a hit-and-run driver. Mr. and Mrs. Colvin were slightly injured and the car was bumped over a fence into a lot adjoining the roadside. The cost of having the car fixed was $4.50. This is the first repair expense that Mr. Colvin has had since new rings were put into the motor in 1928. Previous to that time, the car was never in a service station. R. E. Loughney of the R. E. Loughney Motor Company is local distributor for the Reo.

Paris To Have American Week

(International News Service) PARIS July 11.—An American Week has been inserted into the French social calendar this year, coming immediately after the biggest event of the season, the Grand Prix, with its important racing and social gatherings. For one whole week there will be ceremonies and all kinds of gay doings for American visitors to the capital. President Doumergue will offer a banquet to the official representatives of the various States and peoples of the New World, the Comité France-Amérique will stage a brilliant fete presided over by Monsieur Poincaré, while the various business quarters, the theatres and the Press will all add their quota to make the week a very beautiful one.

Polish Church Will Have Special Services Sunday

Sunday will mark a busy day for members of the Holy Trinity Polish church at the corner Miller and Jefferson streets when a special service will be held at 10:30 a. m. with the pastor, Rev. A. M. Turkiewicz in charge.

Immediately following this service there will be the semi-annual congregational meeting when matters of importance to the congregation will be taken up and good news from the church life in the United States as well as from Poland will be delivered at this time. It is anticipated that all members will be present at both the morning service and the congregational meeting.

At five o'clock Sunday evening all members having cars will meet at the church to go to Farrell where they will participate in the vesper service being held in St. Paul's Episcopal church at the corner Haywood street and Fruit avenue. Rev. A. M. Turkiewicz and some of the clergy from Youngstown will take part in this service.

Restore Ancient Crypt In Bremen

(International News Service) BREMEN, July 11.—The crypt under the eastern choir of the Bremen Cathedral has been restored to its original condition and equipped as a cathedral museum.

Archbishop Adalbert of Bremen, the friend of Kaiser Heinrich IV, began the building of the crypt about the year 1050, and it was completed by his successor. Toward the end of the Middle Ages it was used as a storage-room, and was even leased later as a wine cellar.

It now contains many things worth seeing, especially the tombstone of Archbishop Udo, who died in 933, early five wise and foolish virgins, and a group in the same style representing the coronation of the Virgin Mary.

Bee Swarm Causes Traffic Violation

TULARE, Calif., July 11.—It took a bee expert to restore the majesty of the law here after Police Sergeant Ray B. Edwards had warned Gene Askings that his car had been too long in a parking place.

"Go ahead and tag the car," Askings said.

Edwards stepped over to the machine to perform his duty. And then he stepped back.

A swarm of bees had chosen Askings' car as a parking place.

Senior High Office To Close Saturday

Work at the senior high school office will be suspended Saturday, July 12 for the remainder of the vacation period, it was announced today. The office has been open since school closed with Miss Bertha Leonhardt and Miss Rhoda Leslie in charge. The office will open for the fall and winter term two weeks before the new term begins.

EAT, Brother, EAT!

What a Different World when Appetite is Keener?

YOUR whole attitude toward food changes when appetite is keen. Your own doctor will tell you it is just as important to enjoy your food as to eat it.

Some folks just eat because it's meal-time. To them, eating is mechanical—a problem, not a pleasure. But what a treat awaits these men and women when once they realize how sharpened appetite lends magic flavor to every blessed morsel.

To dull and drowsy appetites Flaxolyn cries "awake!" It is a sluggish, stubborn appetite indeed, that will not respond to the effective stimulation to the appetite, which Flaxolyn can bring.

But Flaxolyn is not alone an appetizer. It is a formula with other important functions, direct and indirect. Yet Flaxolyn is gentle in its action. It is a combination of dried herbs and bile salts with highly approved medicinal extracts. No drastic or habit-forming drugs.

Flaxolyn contains Sarsaparilla Roots, Valerian (from Belgium), Dandelion Roots, Licorice (from Spain), Aloe (from Barbadoes Islands), Ginger, Senna Leaves, Buchu Leaves (from Africa), and other potent herbs.

Right here in this neighborhood Flaxolyn has proved a tremendous success. Thousands seeking an aid to keener appetite, richer sleep and freedom from temporary constipation's tax upon the body, are today using Flaxolyn. Many of these men and women are your own age.

Perhaps you, too, will benefit by the Flaxolyn formula. Why not try it and see? Flaxolyn is Free if you personally are not convinced it is all and more than claimed for it.

FLAXOLYN

Tear out this valuable coupon and hand it to your druggist, who will supply you with a large, economical package of Flaxolyn on this POSITIVE MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE: If Flaxolyn does not bring you a satisfactory improvement by the sixth pleasant spoonful, return the partly-used bottle and have your money handed right back to you!

Mystery Quake

Shakes Marion, O.

Residents: Feel Earth Tremor Which Shakes Homes Thursday Evening

MARION, Ohio, July 11.—An earth tremor of brief duration was felt in Marion shortly after 6 last night.

Numerous residents reported homes shaken by a quake, the cause of which is a mystery.

Dishes rattled and furniture moved in homes in one section of the city but there was no property damage.

The "earthquake" shock felt at Marion last night was probably only a local shifting of the rocks under the city, Rev. F. L. Odenbach of John Carroll university, noted seismologist, said.

"The disturbance did not register on the seismograph here," he said. "It was probably caused by the shifting of one rock against another beneath the surface of the earth. Disturbances such as this are fairly frequent in Ohio."

Ohio Mail Clerk

Held For Theft

Warren Post Office Clerk Admits Thefts Over Eight Month Period

WARREN, Ohio, July 11.—Stealing a few dollars at a time from letters to finance companies and charge account stores here over a period of eight months netted Wade W. Woodford, 50-year-old Warren postoffice employee, only a few hundred dollars, he confessed today to Assistant Postmaster Jacob P. Craver and Inspector Harry W. Tavenor, they said tonight.

Woodford, employee for ten years, was caught taking a letter from the mail early this morning, officials said. He admitted burning letters containing checks and money orders and extracting currency from other letters, Craver said.

Brown Refuses

Ambridge Recount

AMBRIDGE, Pa., July 11.—Ambridge has been refused a census recount by Supervisor Orville Brown of New Castle, upon his investigation of claims of citizens that the town's population was much more than the 20,201 persons counted.

Citizens in a petition for a recount had stated that registration for voting indicated that the population was greater than the figure announced by the enumerators. The supervisor, however, is said to have declared today that the figure will stand at 20,201 or an increase of 47 per cent since 1920.

Beaver county failed by less than 1500 people to take her place as a third class county but in the past ten years showed an increase of some 35,000, it is reported.

Complete returns for Beaver county and her neighbors, Butler and Lawrence counties will be announced this week, it was said.

Executive Meeting Of W. C. T. U. In Y. W.

Members of the executive board of the Lawrence County W. C. T. U. met Thursday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. with Mrs. Jennie Forquer leading the devotionals and Miss Margaret S. Walker presiding.

Mrs. J. B. McClaren and Mrs. Stephenson of the fairs and exhibits department reported they had made plans for operating the rest room at the New Castle Fair in August and that the essays written by the school children of the city and county would be on exhibit here for any one to read who so desires.

Mrs. T. A. Gilkey, who is chairman of the health department presented recipes for non-alcoholic drinks to the members.

Mrs. Long was appointed as an assistant to Mrs. S. E. McCleary in securing subscriptions to the Union Signal.

Tentative plans were made for the county union convention, which is to be held in this city in September.

Reports Hay Will Yield Good Crop

C. T. Hamilton, 505 Winter avenue, has just returned from the 37th annual convention of the National Hay Association, which was held this year in Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Hamilton reports that the world coming in from all the hay producing sections of the United States show that there will be approximately 60 per cent of yield. This is considered a good crop.

Furniture Needed

For Two Families

Salvation Army Seeks To Aid Newport Families Who Lost All By Fire

Two of the families whose home was destroyed by fire at Newport on last Monday morning are without furniture with which to start housekeeping in another place, they have secured and there is a real need of assistance.

Ensign V. Thomson, officer in charge of the Salvation Army corps in this district is making an effort to supply the furniture required and would be glad to hear from people of this city and vicinity, who have old furniture of any kind that they would like to donate for this cause.

Chairs, tables, beds and any other kind of useful furniture will be acceptable and those having the same to give, should notify Ensign Thomson at phone 5420-J.

The ensign also has need of some wash tubs and wash board for another needy family and would appreciate the gift of articles of that kind.

This work is in keeping with that done by the Salvation Army whenever and wherever possible. One of the cases relieved recently is that of the Ellwood Road family, who lost everything in a fire and were outfitted with furniture through the efforts of the Army.

Baldwin Class

Has Annual Picnic At Cascade Park

The tables, which were set in the grove at Cascade park, fairly groaned Thursday evening under the weight and varieties of food set upon them when 112 sat down to the annual picnic supper of the Baldwin Bible class of the Highland United Presbyterian church. The members and their families with some special guests composed the group.

During the afternoon the women and children gathered for sports, games and races of various kinds, directed by Mrs. C. C. Withers. These created a lot of merriment and prizes were given the winners.

After dinner the tables were cleared and much excitement was created by spirited games and bingo, the prizes awarded causing a lot of merriment. Arrangements for the dinner were made by Mrs. I. L. Johns, Mrs. Vance Burkholder, Mrs. J. W. McCreary, Mrs. Samuel Bivens, Mrs. A. R. Batten and Mrs. Wells.

Delegates Are Enrolling For Big Conference

Enrollment is being taken for the twenty-fifth anniversary New Wilmington Conference which will take place at New Wilmington from August 8-15. Delegates from young people of the United Presbyterian churches of New Castle and Pittsburgh and other cities in this region will attend. Many distinguished instructors will give their aid at the conference.

Private homes, Hillside, Robt. Audley Browne hall and tents will be used during the week.

Swerving Truck Is Fatal To Driver

LISBON, O., July 11.—George P. Klett, aged about 50, salesman for the John S. Naylor Company of Wheeling, W. Va., was crushed to death today, when his truck, loaded with dry goods swerved into a ditch and overturned on the Lincoln highway, west of here. He was pinned under the machine.

Missionaries Safe In Earthquake Realm

Mrs. F. W. Wehr of Adams street is in receipt of word this morning from the Baptist Missionary Board in New York City that the missionaries in the district about Assam are safe.
Assam was visited by an earthquake ten days ago and much concern was felt over the welfare of the missionaries in that district but reports show there was little damage done to the buildings.
Miss Elizabeth Hay, a sister of Mrs. Wehr, is a missionary stationed in Assam.

SHORT ROMANCES OF EVERYDAY LIFE

The Adventurer

By CLAIRE WESSON

ALIX pushed aside the morning newspaper and sank her spoon into the squishy sweetness of her melon. "The trouble with the country today," she elucidated, "for the benefit of all present, 'is we've gone looney with hero worship. Aviation has fired our imaginations and they're working overtime. Lindy! The Four Horsemen! Others. And now the gallant Getchell is headed for home here this blessed minute. Means more fireworks, and polishing of the local brass band for another swell-headed Greek god. Bah! small wonder the whole male sex is getting cocky," glaring vengeance in the direction of 17-year-old brother Dee.

That worthy stopped tinkering with the miniature airplane beside his plate. "G'wan," resentfully, "what have you ever done for your country? This guy, Getchell, now—"

"Is an adventurer, on the lookout for thrills," finished Alox, contemptuously.

"And he got 'em plenty," chuckled and, jumping up, reached for a scarlet jacket. "I'm going out to Ripple Cove, Aunt Em. If I'm not back by 10 don't wait—trot along with Daddy. I'll get to town myself, somehow, in time to cheer the jaded hero's 'flag-look. Merely taking a sun-bath. I see."

As she sped along Alox marveled at the vivid morning. From his lofty perch on high. Old Sol scattered beams of gold affield across countless discs of drowsy blue chloery. Fringed by dewy wild flowers. From every thicket a bird symphony. At the cove a mile away the water gleamed like a vast jeweled thing. Nobody ventured here except lazy, lase herself, conceded that. And, (she blushed) only one other in all the world could match his aquatic prowess. Glenn Getchell! Suddenly Alox surface again. She heard a gasping sound. Simultaneously, poised on the rock like a tanager about to take wing, she tore off the scarlet jacket and raising her slim arms aloft plunged into the water.

"Would you mind," said the voice now in midstream, "throwing me my —er—jeans? They're in the cleft in the rock—under you. I exchanged resuscitation, first-aid results being dubious. Frantically she breathed into his face—some one had told her.

There in the water a dark head was bobbing up and down. "Water's fine," said the most casual voice in the world. "Coming in? No?" as she broadcast a frigid look. Merely taking a sun-bath. I see."

Alox equaled. With a chuckle at her apparent discomfiture he swam away upstream, then turned deftly swishswish of disturbed water she returned her head, woman-like. He repeated this performance while Alox was swimming vigorously toward him. The nerve of him! She eyed him tensely, her cheeks flushing. There was something wrong; my air buggy. It's yonder in the marshes. I landed here early I was dying low and the old swimming hole proved irresistible. Decided I'd amble into town later incoog and surprise the town fathers," smiling.

"Two would be a change—one wears of continual adulation from a well-meaning populace. And I haven't done anything remarkable, really."

Alox fidgeted. "Lieutenant Getchell! I told Dee this morning that you were an adventurer, seeker of thrills, a swell-headed—"

Her fragrant lips were close to his. "You didn't!" grinning. "Well," He stirred, opened one eye, murmured dryly, "you're refreshingly frank—as usual. However, you mustn't catch me. She jumper up, her face aflame. pneumonia. I've some extra flying tugs in my cabin. Your footgear is He arose. "So? . . . I see you dry—so's your packet. I'll pilot you haven't forgiven me for putting the home. Wait! He darted away. She called after him shyly: "But you're not an adventurer. And . . . I'm sorry about that c-coward business."

He came swiftly back. "Alox . . . Alox," huskily . . . "Bother these wet clothes." Kissing her at arm's length. "You should be spanked," in mock severity, "for risking your precious life—for an old codger . . . what? crying? Alox!"

She looked up misty-eyed and humbled. "I guess maybe the New England spirit is catching. Is it?" she asked tremulously.

"It is not raining, little boy," said the old gentleman; "why do you carry that umbrella? You don't think it is raining, do you?"

"No, sir!"

"And the sun's not shining."

"No, sir!"

"Then why do you carry it?"

"Well, sir, when it's raining, my father takes it to business; and when the sun's shining, mother goes shopping with it; and this is the only time I can use it at all."

WHEN Elmira Pepper was a little girl she went into the forest where she was wont to spend long afternoons by herself in quiet meditation and made two wishes. The first was that she should awaken one Spring morning and find her surname miraculously changed into a soft, beautiful one that slipped from the tongue like a bit of song. The second was that she should have a little house all her own where she would do nothing but write poetry the rest of her days.

At 47, Elmira's homely surname still clung greedily to her thin frame. But though the first wish had been denied, the second was granted with affability.

There it was, a picture-like house hidden by elms that ran cool green fingers over its low white and green walls. Scent of roses somewhere . . . Cheery clatter of a busy brook over little heaps of white stones . . . Ideal for lyricising, dreaming, whiling away long, lazy days . . .

Elmira loved the pure, uninterupted solitude of it. Her father had left her a small income in the village bank and she lived comfortably

Leaves From a Forgotten Oak

By PHIL MOORE

"For us, silly! After we're married!" She seized his arm. "Come, let's ask."

They knocked timidly at the front door. Elmira, prim and immaculate in a long, flowered veil, opened it. She looked at them wonderingly, as though they had made some mistake. "We—I—you see—" Gwen, for the first time in her life, was stumbling for words. Then, smiling engagingly, she continued in her quick little voice. "We're Summer residents at the Point. Briggs and I were passing by your house and I fell desperately in love with it."

Elmira scrutinized her for a moment. One couldn't help liking Gwen the minute one met her, and the old woman, hungering for companionship, was enamored. But just as suddenly she realized the immensity of what the girl wanted. It left her breathless and almost fearful.

"Oh, I couldn't sell it!" she cried. Gwen gently.

"Of course we knew that," agreed Briggs cordially. "But Gwen took an absurd fancy to the place. Pardon us if we've intruded."

He put his hand on Gwen's arm and started to steer her away. "Won't—won't you come in?" Elmira gasped. What power had impelled her to invite these strangers to infringe on the undisturbed calm of her life? And yet she wanted desperately to just look at them!

"Do you really write?" bubbled Elmira. "To think Briggs, we've discovered a poetess! I should love to read some of your poems, Miss Pepper. And perhaps you could part with a teeny-weeny one with your autograph on it."

"They're not at all good," said Elmira, and her stern lips quivered. "Not nearly as good as I had supposed." She looked away.

"Why do you say that?" asked Briggs. "You sent it away then?"

Elmira sat for a long time, staring vacantly out of the window. Then, determinedly, she arose and walked stiffly out of the room.

In a few moments she was back, carrying a sheaf of typewritten pages held together by three large clips. This she handed to Gwen who, with Briggs sitting close by on the sofa, absorbed every word of its contents with rapidly moving eyes.

"Leaves From a Forgotten Oak," murmured Elmira. "How beautiful!"

Elmira listened eagerly, devouring the lines that dropped like rich, ripe fruit from the girl's sweet lips. "That's my life . . . my life," she said, half to herself, half to her guests. "And it's nothing. 'It's lovely!' whispered Gwen. "Lovely."

"But the publishers refused it!" Bitterly.

"You sent it away then?"

"Yes, to New York. They wrote a letter saying that though there were some poems of merit and promise, there wasn't enough to warrant publication."

"How many publishers did you send it to?" Briggs, the business man. "One."

"Then there's more hope than you think. Many authors have to try dozens of places before their manuscripts are finally accepted."

"I couldn't do that," said Elmira with tight lips. I suppose 'Pepper' isn't an especially poetic name. And I wouldn't be as cruel as to subject my only child to further belittlement."

Gwen threw her arms impulsively around the lone woman's neck. "You're right, dear Miss Pepper. I admire you for it. But Briggs knows some people in New York—"

"Thank you. It's very kind. I wouldn't do it, though. For a fleeting moment I had a selfish desire to see my name on the cover of a little book of verses. But it's gone now."

"I understand."

"But there's one thing I'd like," said Elmira suddenly. "If it's not too early for wedding presents would you—care—for—this?"

Her poetry! The pages of her life, held together by three steel clips! "It's all I've got. And I'm giving it to you, my dears. Keep it well." She kissed them both, sadly. "Keep my only child well."

And bowing her head, she left them there.

"I have come to ask you if you will subscribe to this deserving charity."

"Certainly. I will give you a check now. Here you are."

"You have forgotten to sign it."

"I know—I want to remain anonymous."

An Important Interview

By MARGARET TAYLOR

ORDINARILY life in Belmontville was far from being eventful and an onlooker may have termed it as a very monotonous existence without feeling the least little bit as though he had exaggerated. The small population was more or less intimately acquainted with one another, so that very little excitement was due from that direction. It was no wonder that the coming of Cyril Fulton took the entire community by storm.

For the first time in 15 years the old Hadley house was being prepared for occupancy. Carpenters and painters had been busy for weeks. That car in Belmontville before. And Simon Barrett, Hadley's lawyer, had sent word that the house was leased to a man named Cyril Fulton, a writer friend of Emory Hadley who for the past 15 years had been ranching out West. Word had also come around that the new occupant was a woman hater. Hence the commotion among the women of Belmontville.

"What do you suppose has caused him to dislike the women?" Lucy Seaver asked her daughter Ethel.

"I don't know, Ma. Maybe someone threw him over," replied Ethel thoughtfully.

"Threw him over? Who'd ever throw a rich man like him over? They say he's nice looking, too."

The next day a limousine passed the Seaver house just as Mrs. Seaver was sweeping up the porch.

"He's come!" she rushed into the house. "You never saw the likes of that car in Belmontville before. And Simon Barrett, Hadley's lawyer, had sent word that the house was leased to a man named Cyril Fulton, a writer friend of Emory Hadley who for the past 15 years had been ranching out West. Word had also come around that the new occupant was a woman hater. Hence the commotion among the women of Belmontville."

"What did he look like?"

"Look like? The car went by so fast there wasn't any chance of seeing what he looked like. Well, well, I must call up Lindy Miller and tell her he's come."

While her mother was calling up, Ethel was contemplating a way of meeting him. She knew Ruth Martin would do her utmost to get acquainted and she wanted to be a step ahead of Ruth. Ruth was a decided flirt and the two of them had had more quarrels than anyone could count when it came to fellows. It was Ruth who had vamped Ethel's friend, Ted Wharton, away. So now it was up to Ethel to take the lead and beat her to it. But how?

Ah! A thought flashed into her mind and with a grab at her hat, on the wall. Suddenly a thought occurred to her. Who could that other reporter be? What if it was Fred Cosgrove of the Belmontville Daily? Ethel, was in view of the place. But where was her nerve? Just a few minutes ago she had felt so bold and ready to do anything. But to do it she must, or Ruth would find a way.

Timidly and with shaking knees Ethel rang the doorbell. A man servant came to the door.

"I—I'm a reporter. I—I'd like to interview Mr. Fulton."

"I'm sorry, Miss, but he's being interviewed at the present time."

"Perhaps I can wait a little?" ventured Ethel bravely. "The reporter must not be long."

"All right, miss," and the servant motioned her to a chair.

Ethel waited patiently, but the interview seemed never to end. Getting up she looked around the spacious hall and gazed at the paintings on the wall. Suddenly a thought occurred to her. Who could that other reporter be? What if it was Fred Cosgrove of the Belmontville Daily? Ethel, was in view of the place. But

What would she say if he saw her here?

She, Ethel Seaver, a reporter, in another second she was out of the house.

Once outdoors Ethel thought better of her rash action and circled around until she came to the large bay window that she knew was the reception room. She stepped over the low railing and soon heard voices from inside. The window was open so that Ethel could hear the voices distinctly. Ruth Martin: How had she got there so soon? Was she a reporter, too?

"You have been a reporter long, Miss Martin?" Mr. Fulton asked in a low voice.

"Yes, sir, I—I've been at it for the last three years."

"Well, I don't really know what I thought a vacation was what this place I jumped at the chance. The social life was getting to be a bore."

"Do you intend to do any writing, Mr. Fulton?"

"I don't know. I just finished a book in the city and it's being published at the present time."

"The name Mr. Fulton?"

Ethel could hardly believe her ears. Ruth talked and asked questions as though she'd been a reporter all her life.

"Hounding Women" is the name of the book, Miss Martin. I'll admit it does sound rather odd."

Ethel gulped at the title and saw Ruth shift her position uncomfortably.

"You—you are a woman hater?" Ruth continued a little coquettishly.

"Me? Why, I don't think so, Miss Martin. That is, a married man with two children wouldn't be called a woman hater. Do you think so?"

"—married? Are you married?"

Ethel was so surprised that she almost fell over from her semi-stooping position.

"Why yes. Didn't you know? My wife and children will be here some time next week."

Ruth got up hurriedly and, folding her little note book, made for the door.

"Thank you for the interview, Mr. Fulton."

Ethel waited until she knew Ruth had gone far down the road before venturing to come out from her hiding place.

That night when Mrs. Martin and her daughter came to call Mrs. Seaver soon brought up the subject of the new arrival.

"He doesn't like to go out much, I hear. Wonder why he hates the women so?"

Ethel glanced at Ruth, who sat meekly reading a magazine.

"Have you seen him, Ruth, she asked."

"No, and I don't care to. I'm not interested in women haters," she replied, without lifting her head.

Dentist.—That's a brave young man! Which tooth is it?

Boy.—Show 'em yer tooth, Albert.

Making Gum pipes, which was once almost entirely a German industry, is now being done to a large extent in Britain.

OLD Lem Hemenway paused had treated him when he called at the school. With an idea of telling before entering the house, he just what she could and what the nerve of her! Right from the very beginning he had told the school committee that a girl of 29 was far too young and inexperienced to teach the rural children. But they hadn't paid any attention to him. Instead, they told him he was old-fashioned and behind the times. Thanks to them, a fapper was now conducting the school, in direct contract to Mathilda Perkinson, the spinster, who had taught the children for twelve years.

Only last night Rhona Bricher had sent his youngest son home with a note saying that his English was not all it should be, that home study might help him to some extent. Home study! What was she hired and paid for, anyway? School work was to be done during school hours. If Dave didn't know his English, who was to blame for that? Mathilda Perkinson was her self-possessed, independent manner. Insolent, he called her him home with all the books in the school room. As if Dave didn't have plenty of other work to do at home! But worst of all was the way she

That night when Si Adams came to see Lem he found his host in a very talkative mood.

"Wal," agreed Si, stretching out his long legs and fumbling around with his pipe. "I ain't saying as a man couldn't handle the children better. Mebbe he could. But, my Joe ain't never studied so hard in all his life. An' the funny part of it is, he don't seem to object to it. Says they're even plannin' on a small moving picture machine so's they can have pictures on the wall."

"But that ain't educating the children," Lem exclaimed, "that's just for pleasure. Movies don't help the children none. Gives 'em bad habits."

"Tain't regular movies they're aimin' at, Lem. It's history, and mebbe geography. Teacher says it'll be beaps more interestin' than books."

"I ain't saying anything against the machine if they want it bad and if the committee is willin', but the freedom that there teacher allows in that school room is something terrible. This morning when I stepped in the room, what do you calculate them children were doing?"

"What was it they were doing?" Si asked with interest.

"She had 'em all lined up in front and on the sides an' they was exercising so hard as to be pantin' for breath when I went in. Don't they get exercise walking back and forth every day?"

"Wal, seems kind of foolish. It's gettin' married to a feller in the city. Don't know who, but she's told the committee already."

The year went by slowly and soon his son, Rhona Bricher! She smiling at her hand.

"I hope I'll be a better daughter-allowed it—said school hours were too short to waste on it."

"Why did she have to sass me like she did?" demanded Lem, changing the subject somewhat. "I spoke to her civil-like and she flares up and says to speak to the committee. If I had any notion of seeing the committee I guess I'd have seen them, wouldn't I?"

Seeing that Lem was getting to be more and more irritable, Si began to talk about other things and succeeded in diverting his neighbor's mind. As Si was leaving that night he turned back at the door with a grin. "Wal, you've only got to stand that there teacher one year, Lem. She's gettin' married to a feller in the city. Don't know who, but she's told the committee already."

The year went by slowly and soon his son, Rhona Bricher! She smiling at her hand.

"I hope I'll be a better daughter-teacher left for the city. Within the last few months Dave had become almost unmanageable, reading all the time and asking questions he'd never heard the like of. He even tried talking politics. A fellow 13 years old talking politics!

One peaceful Sunday afternoon Lem heard a car stop in front of the door.

"It's Howard, Pa.," exclaimed Dave, looking out of the window, "and he's got a woman with him."

Howard was Lem's oldest boy, who had been working in Rockford for two years as a mechanic in his uncle's garage.

"Hello, Dad," Howard greeted his father on entering the house. "I've got a surprise for you. Got married!"

Lem stared at the woman beside his son. Rhona Bricher! She smiling at her hand.

"I hope I'll be a better daughter-in-law than I was a teacher, honest I do—father."

Today Lem Hemenway is the greatest advocate for young woman teachers in the village. It may be because young Mrs. Hemenway is teaching again as a result of Howard's putting up a garage of his own a short distance from the schoolhouse. Anyway, Lem helped her set up the little moving picture machine.

"Oh, my memory is excellent!" exclaimed the old lady. "But there are three things I can never remember: I can't remember names, I can't remember faces, and I can't remember—I forgot what the third thing is!"

Teacher—How would you practice economy, Johnny?

Johnny—Well, for instance, by not letting our mothers wash our hands and necks we could save soap.

Says U. S. Will Acquire Old World Traits

(International News Service)
PARIS, July 11.—America will finally be resembling old Europe. America has a greater need of us than we have of her.

This is the opinion of Fortunat Strowski, French professor known on both continents.

"Nobody can live and develop without the influence of the past," writes Monsieur Strowski in "Comœdia." "The instinct of stability and continuity can never be abolished. A day will come, in fact, it has already arrived here and there, when these men on the other side will want their tombs to be as eternal as those of the pyramids in Egypt and where they will know, having attained a certain kind of perfection, they will no longer have the right to destroy it."

America, goes on to say the Frenchman, has two secrets: one is that she has her traditions in front of instead of behind her. Her tradition is the mirage which precedes the caravan and not the remembrance of the past.

Her second secret is the fact that she has her colonies within her own boundaries, and not like the English in the case of India, for example, where the colonies are, in reality, nothing more than an exploiter, or even a functionary. The American colonies are absolutely empty of their ancient inhabitants. The colonists who settle there disturb no one; they are the creators of the new nations.

Because of these two secrets, Monsieur Strowski believes it to be not only dangerous, but fantastic, to desire to form a United States of Europe. It is entirely contrary to the nature of things and runs a great risk of diminishing the natural forces and the life of the old world, the intellectual life of each nation.

Europe, he explains, is founded upon its accumulated traditions. Each and every country has been formed by long experiences of life in common, under a certain sky, within certain limits and amid geographical conditions which are special to it. Besides, each country possesses its own history and national conscience.

"It is just as foolish for the Americans to criticize Europe because it is not formed in their manner as it is for a European to condemn America," concludes Professor Strowski. "Remember her double secret. To forget it is to misunderstand her completely."

Detroit Man Kills Wife And Escapes

Mother Of Five Children Slain By Enraged Husband; Small Daughter Looks On

(International News Service)
DETROIT, July 11.—While their 14-year-old daughter, Stefania, looked on, Joseph Polak, 41, alleged Ham-tranck bootlegger, today shot and killed his wife, Stefania, aged 36, the mother of their five children and then fled. The man, enraged over domestic troubles, fired six bullets into his wife's head.

Police seized 200 gallons of alleged moonshine liquor when they searched the dwelling.

TEXARKANA BECOMES HAVEN OF THE LOVELORN

TEXARKANA, Ark., July 11.—Texarkana, which is located half in Bowie county, Texas, and half in Miller county, Arkansas, is proving a veritable Gretna Green for the impatient lovers of the "Lone Star" state who desire to escape the "three-day marriage intention law" enacted a year ago by the Texas legislature.

Since the Texas law became effective 930 Texas couples have crossed the state line for the "hitching" process. On the Texas side of the town a grand total of but 89 licenses were issued during the same period.

Business has become so brisk that justices of the peace J. S. Draper, 78, and G. M. Orr, 76, remain at their posts in the courthouse from early morning until late at night.

For the lovers who desire marriage "on the fly" curb service is available—with no more fuss or ado than ordering an ice cream soda or a gallon of gas.

And so it is that Daniel Cupid is snipping his bow-string in Texas and getting action in Arkansas—a mere matter of walking across the street in Texarkana.

Noted Rum Chaser Gets Promotion

BOSTON, Mass., July 11.—Capt. Cecil M. Gabbett, skipper of the coast guard cutter Mojave, will soon take over the command of base 2, Staten Island, one of the most important coast guard districts on the Atlantic seaboard. The base has about 45 ships and a personnel of about 500 men.

Capt. Gabbett, who has been in command of the coast guard post at the navy yard in Charleston, has figured in many rescues off this coast. Two of his most spectacular rescues were that of the steamships Silver Maple and West Hika, both with cargoes valued at $500,000 and $1,000,000 respectively.

Chinese Youths In U. S. As Aviation Students Plan Trans-Pacific Hop

ALBERT JUNG and HARVEY TONG

By KEEN A. RAFFERTY
Central Press Staff Writer

BALTIMORE, July 11.—Sergeant Stuart Dietz, of the Maryland National Guard and an instructor in aviation for an airport in Baltimore, is ready to tackle pretty nearly anything; he has taught everybody from manicurists to financiers something about flying airplanes.

But when it came to teaching a Chinese to handle the controls, without knowing any Chinese, Dietz pretty nearly went back into civilian life.

Not only did Dietz know no Chinese—his pupil knew plenty of Chinese and no English.

Fair Exchange.
But Dietz tackled that job, too, and made good. Now Albert Jung, of the Kuomintang, or Nationalist governing party in China, is flying around over Baltimore, and even talking about "tail-spins" and "fuselages" and Sergeant Dietz has learned some good solid Chinese words.

Both Jung and Harvey Tong are in Baltimore to become experts in aviation for the government of China, and they are preparing to go back to the Orient as soon as possible to impart their knowledge to other ambitious young aerominded Chinese.

And they have adopted a typically American way of getting back to China; they have tentatively laid plans to fly across the Pacific from San Francisco to Hong Kong, just to make it a real homecoming.

Although Jung is being taught by Dietz through sign language, Tong is a master of English, and has progressed to the stage where he is ready for his first parachute jump. Tong's aid has proved of great value to Dietz in making a flyer out of Jung.

The American instructors regularly send reports to the Kuomintang government on the progress of their pupils, and so far have been able to report highly pleasing progress; both the Chinese boys are anxious to get back home, and are studying and working hard.

Tong is 25 years old and Jung 27. Both are educated. They live in rented rooms in Baltimore, and when not engaged in flying practice at the airport they are busy with studies of the technicalities of aviation at their apartments.

Miners To Fight Wage Reduction In New Contract

Anthracite Miners Want Higher Level And Will Not Accept Cut

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 11.—Anthracite miners, fighting for a higher wage level and insisting upon at least maintenance of present wages, were confronted today with the possibility that mine operators would suggest a wage reduction.

While it is not likely that operators will press demands for a wage cut, it is known that such a proposal has been worked out and may be presented to the tri-district conference here to formulate a new contract to replace the one expiring Sept. 1. Maintenance of wage levels at least at the present rates together with the demand for the check-off system for collection of dues by operators constitute the heart of the miners' program.

Will Fight Cut.
The operators' committee acknowledged the miners' demands that operation costs be cut instead of wages, but intimated that a wage cut also might be unavoidable. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, insisted that no wage cut would be tolerated by the miners.

Report Cards.
The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said that someone had found a way to make money by obtaining kittens and puppies from persons wanting to find homes for the pets, and then selling the animals to hospitals for vivisection.

Matthew McCurrie, secretary of the society, warned persons having pets to dispose of to be sure that they did not get into the hands of "kitten racketeers."

Kittens Victimized In Newest "Racket"

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—A new racket came to light here recently.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said that someone had found a way to make money by obtaining kittens and puppies from persons wanting to find homes for the pets, and then selling the animals to hospitals for vivisection.

Matthew McCurrie, secretary of the society, warned persons having pets to dispose of to be sure that they did not get into the hands of "kitten racketeers."

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

Just to show you how difficult it is to get a perspective, when your face is flat up against your own troubles, I am going to print a letter I got yesterday. I will wager that eleven out of every ten people, will be able to see at a glance what the difficulty is. Read it and see:

"Dear Miss Allard: Twenty years ago I married a man much younger than myself. He was thoughtful of my comfort and welfare. He was energetic and ambitious. We lived in our old family home because of my older maiden sister who always lived there and to whom my husband was kind and thoughtful to please me.

"I am much against liquor and the use of it in any form. He said he was in harmony with my belief. But sometimes—perhaps an interval of years he was unable to resist drink, and for a time would indulge freely. He would try to hide the fact. If I mentioned it he would refuse to acknowledge the shortcoming, thereby distressing me. I would love for him to confess the fault and always tell the truth.

"Now I have another cause for distress. He took a job in town coming home to sleep and for dinner. I tried to advise him but he wouldn't listen. He wanted to get ahead. He met the wife and daughter of a member of the firm and he carries their pictures with him. Carefully laid away in the trunk were cards for Christmas, Easter, Birthday—all telling him what a wonderful man he is and all signed "Me" and "Me to you."

"I went after him for it and he tells me he loves the daughter. Now he hardly speaks to anyone in the house—the infatuation is on both sides—I am genuinely fond of my husband and I am grieved to give him up to such a creature—He is full of faults but has admirable qualities. If a man is sorry to have slipped—she won't believe it, some women do—why can't she help him to forget it, instead of insisting that he acknowledge the fault? Denying it is a strength, because it means he is going to beat the fault. If it is semi-occasionally why nag about it? You are a bound for the truth now aren't you? Why not call it a weakness instead of "a vile curse?"

You admit the other woman told him he was a wonderful man. Why don't you try it? From your letter I take it that's all he needed, but you let the other woman do it when you could stop nagging him and pay an honest compliment without sacrificing any principles that I can think of.

You are making your own unhappiness. Before it's too late, stop trying to catch people in sin and then making them admit it. It's fatal. Pretend you don't see, say kindly things, forget, forgive and don't be a determined joykiller. This is meant kindly because you need the advice and you need it in a hurry.

(If I'm wrong, write me, care Premier Syndicate, Inc., 235 East 43rd St., New York City.)

Want Married Teachers Fired

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—A petition that married women employed in the public schools of Philadelphia as teachers "whose husbands are earning a proper livelihood" be dismissed next fall to provide positions for the "nearly 1,000 unmarried teachers in this city," was presented to the board of education today.

The petition was presented by the Active Workers' Association of the Order of Independent Americans and says it represents 15,000 citizens.

"We earnestly request the removal of such married teachers," says the petition. "For the reason that it is not fair to parents who make sacrifices to have their daughters receive teachers' diplomas which really mean nothing on account of present conditions."

Poison Liquor Is Fatal To Drinker

UNIONTOWN, July 11.—Believed to have taken a fatal draught of liquor and then crawled into the front seat of an abandoned touring car in the rear of the Matthews' indoor parking place, Arch street, Nick Hubeck, aged 50, was found in an upright position in the front seat.

Life had been extinct several hours before the body was found. Investigators believed that the victim had been given poison liquor. A general probe has been ordered.

Eskimo Dentist Dies In Canadian Island

OTTAWA, Ont., July 11.—"Siberian Mike," Eskimo dentist is dead.

In 1922 the Hudson Bay company sent a dentist to Herschel Island to look after the toothaches of its employees. Mike was employed as a dental mechanic. When the dentist left, the Eskimo kept much of the dental equipment. Since that time he has carried on an itinerant practice in the Arctic.

Mike spoke several languages, including Russian and English.

Says Movies Teach Manners To Stage Actors

By W. E. OLIVER
International News Service Staff

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 11.—A quiet-spoken, keen-eyed, forceful man told how the stage is using the talkies' own weapons in the titanic struggle now going on for empire in the amusement world.

He is Brock Pemberton, noted New York producer.

In the new stage stratum, he emphasizes politeness, comfort, speed, glamour, organization and advertising. Most of these tactics are borrowed from the picture industry itself, he admits.

"Pictures taught us good manners," comes his confession. "We can't afford arrogance at the box office, nor allow our ushers to dismiss patrons to their seats with the lordly air of yore."

The American instinct for affluence—so quickly exploited by the picture industry—is not being catered to by the stage.

"A plush carpet never ruffled the feelings of the most democratic patron," he says.

With a taste for artistry tempered by the conviction that correct principles of merchandising must underwrite success in the theatre, he believes in short, fast, witty plays that seize the audience, hold it and quickly allow playgoers to be on their way again.

"Long winded drama has had its day. Succinct themes are the mode. Arthur Hopkins said it exactly: 'The idea in a good play should be reducible to a sentence.'"

"It is Cinderella taking off her slippers and everything in full view of the audience."

"The glamor of an audience, light sparkling on faces and the glow of a social gathering are the special province of the theatre. Light up the theatres, decorate them. Keep good music going between acts so that the people might talk and be stimulated. Serve coffee or tea—anything to keep the ball rolling. Once you've got the audience in the theatre, never let go of them, until the exit doors are opened."

University Argues Over New Statue

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, July 11.—Whether the spirit of a university may be symbolized by a brawny Greek warrior waving a sword over his head was subject of discussion here today at the University of Southern California alumni association prepared to unveil its contributions to the campus ornament.

Dr. Harold Stonier of New York, educational director of the American Institute of Banking and an alumnus of Southern California, will dedicate the monument on June 6, as a feature of the University's one week celebration of its golden anniversary.

Proponents of the gigantic bronze figure, the work of Roger Noble Burnham, who sculptured the Valentino memorial recently unveiled in Hollywood, say the statue personifies eager, intelligent, healthy young manhood. Its critics, on the other hand, fail to see that the militant, aggressive gladiator type symbolizes the pacific cultural idea of a university.

Senate Fighter Faces Battle In Home State

ALBERT J. GALEN
By Central Press

BUTTE, Mont., July 11.—U. S. Senator Thomas J. Walsh, nationally known for his senatorial investigations, and a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1932, may have a battle for re-election this year.

With Judge Albert J. Galen of the Montana supreme court, a resident of Helena, endorsed by the Republican central committee for the Republican nomination for senator, the primary of July 15 becomes significant.

For Judge Galen, also, is a figure of more than statewide importance. Like Senator Walsh, he is an eminent lawyer.

Says Pen, Typewriter Are Ruining Writing

(International News Service)
PARIS, July 11.—The fountain pen and the typewriter are ruining good French writing, declares Professor Fortunat Strowski, member of the French academy. He is warning Frenchmen that their language and their literature are being changed radically by these two modern inventions and reminds them that the great authors of the 16th and 17th centuries made use of goose quills.

In those days, the writer was patient, slow and precise. Their manuscripts looked like the works of monks. Writing became less laborious with the era of the steel pen and when the fountain pen came in, hackneyed phrases and ordinary words came with it to threaten the beauty and orderliness of French writing.

Professor Strowski, who finds that the modern student armed with the fountain pen is turning out much more nonsense than his ancestors ever did, is fearful for the future when all writers will undoubtedly use a portable typewriter.

Grandsons Of Man-Eaters Eat No Meat

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Two Fiji Islanders whose grandfathers were cannibals, arrived here recently as delegates to the world's convention of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Both informed the manager of their hotel that they are vegetarians, eating no meat of any kind.

The Fijians—Jiali Tikavale and Setareki Chevaca—wear coats, collars and ties, but no shoes and skirts, instead of trousers.

They were brought to San Francisco by the Rev. A. G. Stewart, a missionary, who has spent more than 20 years in Fiji.

Hawk Eye Will See Through Thick Fogs

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Mass., July 11.—Aviators in the near future will not have to trouble themselves over fog on landing fields.

This was the opinion today of John Hays Hammond Jr., who recently announced from his Gloucester experimental station that he has found a television system which equips an airplane with an eye equal in intensity to a hawk, which will pierce the thickest fog.

Blow Up Quarter Million Tons Of Rock

(International News Service)
TYRONE, Pa., July 11.—A quarter-million tons of rock lurled skyward by 60,000 pounds of dynamite was the scene witnessed here recently in a mammoth blast at the Pemberton quarry.

The 60,000 pound explosion represented the largest charge ever set off in Central Pennsylvania. The rock is to be used by the State Highway Department in road construction.

REPUBLICANS URGED TO STICK BY HOOVER

Republicans Up For Re-Election This Year Asked To Exploit Party In Power

Hoover's Record So Far Speaks For Itself—Needs Support In House And Senate

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 11—"Stand by the President!"

Republicans up for re-election this year and feeling none too chipper over the outlook were advised today by Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, Republican leader of the Senate, to rest their cases on this ancient war-cry of the party in power.

Over a national radio hook-up last night, the veteran senator wrote what is generally considered to be the Republican text-book for the current campaign, in which a new house is to be elected as well as a third of the Senate.

Great Program
He counseled his colleagues to go to the country on the record of the Hoover administration—not apologetically, but with high praise for its accomplishments, and defiance for its critics.

"The American people," said Watson, "should back President Hoover to the limit. They should give him a congressional majority in both branches that will try to help and not hinder in the development of his plans.

"He is near mid-stream in his administration. He has faced grave problems that he did not create. He has met innumerable difficulties for which he is in no wise responsible. To solve them he has carried through a great program of legislation and administration."

Mr. Hoover has accomplished all this, Watson declared despite the fact that he has "labored under the handicap of constant opposition" from one branch of congress. He referred to the senate where the republican paper majority is nullified by the Western Insurgents voting as often against the administration as with it.

The three principal accomplishments of the administration, and upon which it asks for the return of a republican congress in November, Watson listed as follows:

- (1). Farm Relief.
- (2). Tariff Revision.
- (3). The London Naval Treaty.

Despite savage assaults on all three, Watson asserted republican orators need apologize for none of them. The administration's Farm Relief plan, he said, "represents the best thought of students of this problem."

The new Tariff law he declared, is beneficial equally to business and to the farmer.

Farm Relief Measure
"In fact," he said "the new tariff law is chiefly in its rates a farm relief measure."

As for the London Naval Treaty, it represents, he said, a great forward step down the road to world peace.

Anticipating that republican candidates are going to be hard-put to explain the business depression of the last eight months, Watson declared that they need offer no apology for it from a political standpoint.

Watson's speech, which was almost like the keynote speech at a national convention, was delivered with the approval and "ok" of President Hoover. It thus constitutes virtually an administration document, for the senate leader was speaking for the White House.

The democrats had it under the microscope today and reply will not be long in forthcoming.

Democrats Plan Answer

The answer of the democrats is to be a new and more savage assault upon two of the very accomplishments which Watson cited, Farm Relief and the tariff. The one, they will assert has failed to relieve, and the other will take from the consuming public a billion dollars a year in the form of higher living costs.

The democrats will point ironically to the fact that wheat corn and other farm products are selling substantially lower today than they were before the farmers were "relieved" by the passage of the Hoover bill.

They are also going to do considerable pointing at the unemployment situation, sluggish business, and the general economic condition of the country.

The Watson speech was the opening gun of the oncoming campaign from now on the firing will be general along the fronts of 48 states.

4-Year-Old Bay Gelding Drops Dead

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 11.—The first casualty of the spring racing meet at Riverdale Park occurred when gelding, dropped dead while running fifth at the back stretch in the fourth race of the opening day program. The jockey, hurried clear of the horse, was uninjured.

SCANTY GARB BRINGS THEIR ARREST

Beauty unadorned has led Earl Carroll, Broadway theatrical producer, into trouble again. Arrest of nine of his "Vanities" show girls for giving an allegedly "indecent performance" recalls the bathtub episode which led to a five-months' federal sentence, at Atlanta, for Carroll in 1926. Two of those arrested in New York are Ellen Wenzel, above, and Frances Joyce, inset. The show-girl beauties drew the biggest crowd of the season when haled into a New York police court.

Women Students Rank High At Chartres

(International News Service)

PARIS, July 11—Women students it appears, rank highest in the class which are graduated from the French school of Chartres. This is where one studies ancient manuscripts and documents and there seems to be something about this which appeals especially to the ladies. Someone has suggested that, always having been the enemy of dust and disorder, every woman attacks these moldering archives with great zeal and energy. But, whatever the reason, women are winning a recognized place as skilled paleographers and are making a name for themselves in the large libraries of Paris.

Many a man looks run down because of the bills his wife runs up.

Geneva Most Cosmopolitan City In World

By RUTH JANE WILLIAMS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

GENEVA, July 11.—More committee members than any other city in the world, is Geneva's latest boast.

For the recent establishment of the world headquarters for the International Narcotic Defense League in this city, the number of associations making Geneva their permanent home and headquarters, has risen to 74.

Long before the League of Nations pitched its tent here, Geneva had become celebrated as an ideal home for world-wide organizations.

The first organization to start the rush to Geneva was the Red Cross which established its international committee here in 1863.

From that time to the present, the list has swelled, especially since the war and since the League of Nations was created.

Political institutions, economic, social, scientific and educational institutions, organizations devoted to humanitarian work, to moral, and to religious work, are all represented here, as well as a large number of miscellaneous associations of all kinds.

The personnel of these establishments varies from three or four, to hundreds, and besides providing employment for local Genevans, these organizations have brought people of every nationality to this city, making it one of the most cosmopolitan cities in the world.

Potato Problem Calls For Sprays

Lawrence County Farm Agent Is Warned Of Danger Ahead For Potato Crops

Pennsylvania potato prospects are good to date, but there is danger ahead, County Agent H. R. McCulloch has been warned by extension plant pathologists of State College.

Growers who used good seed have the best stands in years, the communication states. The crop is not made yet, however, and herein lies the danger. With a range of moderate to abundant rainfall over the state during the past few weeks growing conditions have been favorable.

From now on either extreme of abnormally dry or continued wet weather will be disastrous to many potato growers.

Owing to the favorable growing conditions, potato crops have shot up rapidly and are extremely succulent. Under the continuous wet conditions which some sections of the state are experiencing the root system will be shallow where growers have not been able to use the weeder regularly.

Transpiration and evaporation are very rapid, so that potato field will go down quickly with tip burn and leaf scorch if the weather becomes dry and hot. There is but one remedy under such conditions and that is thorough and frequent spraying, the plant disease specialists declare. They recommend that the lime content of the spray be increased to 10 pounds for each 100 gallons of solution during extremely hot weather. This will make the formula 8-10-100. During the period of extreme conditions sprays should be applied at not longer than 5 to 7 day intervals.

On the other hand, continued wet weather is almost certain to introduce an epidemic of late blight. Two years without blight should not cause growers to forget the disasters which swept the state a few years ago. Here again there is but one remedy—thorough and frequent spraying. No grower can wait the coming of late blight before beginning to spray with hope of control. Continued wet weather during July or August is one of the most urgent reasons for constant and efficient applications of Bordeaux mixture.

The solution of the problem potato growers face in wet or dry weather calls for thorough and frequent spraying.

HUNDRED ATTEND DAIRY MEETING

E. J. Moffatt, Of State College, Speaks To Group Of Dairymen

Over a hundred attended the meeting of the New Castle local of the Dairymen's Cooperative Sales Company, held Thursday evening in North Liberty grange. Speaker of the evening was Earl Moffatt, of State College. Mr. Moffatt gave talk which was extremely interesting to those present. His subject was "Dairy Farm Management."

Musical recitation were parts of the program.

Cheapest Planes Made In Britain

(International News Service)
LONDON, July 11.—As a result of a recent $400 reduction in price, Britain now produces the cheapest light airplanes in the world.

A Gypsy Moth two-seater light airplane, similar to that owned by the Prince of Wales, can now be purchased for $4,975.

This reduction in cost, which came as a welcome surprise to British aero clubs, has been made possible by the introduction of mass production into British aircraft factories.

"Airplane production," the manager of the de Havilland Company declared, "is rapidly assuming the same proportions as motor-car manufacture."

"We are now turning out 1,700 machines a year, and we make the entire craft and engines, we are able to work on the mass production system, which saves both time and money."

"Even American manufacturers," he said, "who pride themselves on cheap production, have been unable to reach so low a selling figure as this."

In the aircraft world the Moth airplane is similar to the light family car on the road. The craft is fitted with a 100 horse-power engine, dual controls and has a cruising speed of 90-100 miles an hour.

Find Gold Ore In Nevada City Street

(International News Service)
NEVADA CITY, Cal., July 11.—The phrase "streets of gold" has a literal meaning when applied to Nevada City.

During the excavation for the erection of a power pole at the main junction of streets in the business section, a highly mineralized quartz ledge was uncovered by workmen.

Free gold was found in the rock and only the fact that the "strike" is located in the town's main street kept miners from locating the claim.

The power company in installing a new set of poles along the business section has been experiencing much difficulty with rock.

Blasting has been resorted to at this particular point. It was thought that they had encountered a large boulder but the striking of high grade ore shows that they are in the bed rock and have tapped the old Nevada county ledge.

Supreme Court To Hear Ballots Case

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 11.—The Pennsylvania Supreme Court will hold a hearing August 8 in Philadelphia to determine the legal status of the ballots cast in Luzerne county during the May primaries. Acting Chief Justice Robert S. Frazer announced today in an order setting the date.

Justice Frazer's order, announced by him in the absence of Chief Justice Robert Von Moschizker in Europe, will bring to a head the contest between Gifford Pinchot and Francis Shunk Brown of Philadelphia, and determine which name will appear on the ballot as Republican candidate for governor.

NEW YORK, July 11.—While the whole town of Goshen, N. Y., stood by, a freight carload of beer seized in the Erie railroad yards there was poured out to ground.

New York prohibition agents, who made the seizure, said the car was billed from Mayer Brothers Supply company of Lakeview, N. J., to the American Woolen Mills, of Bethlehem, Pa. It was labeled "wool softener."

NOW FOR WISDOM

The framers of the constitution believed that the best interest of the people would be served if unlimited freedom in speeches and debate were permitted in both branches of congress. It sounds fine as a theory. But as one writer points out, we have the freedom but not the wisdom. As it is now, members of the house and senate can speak with freedom and say as much as they choose. The constitution gave them that right. Now who will give them the common sense to know what to say—and how little?

A PUBLIC CAREER

A new college graduate says he had thought of going in for politics and a public career. He has become discouraged by what he has heard about politics and public life. Let's hope he will recover from his discouragement and go into it with all his might. Politics needs nothing so much in America as an influx of young men with ideals and courage. Kettering, able scientist, says manufacturing often suffers from too many men of experience. An experienced man thinks "it can't be done." An inexperienced man does not know it can't be done, and he goes ahead and does it. Politics suffers from men who have been doing things the wrong way for generations. They are over-experienced. We need young men who have not found out that things must be done in a certain way. Not knowing this, they will go ahead and do them in another way. And public life in America will be better for the change.

Never advise a young man not to go into politics and public life. Public life needs new blood.

800 FEET UNDER WATER

Beebe, noted authority on the deep seas, descends 800 feet off the shores of Bermuda. Using a steel ball with fused quartz windows, he observes life down there. He hopes later to go down half a mile. Fortunately for the rest of us there are always some who have courage enough to find things out.

FOR ALL TIME

Cass Gilbert, famous New York architect, says the new supreme court building at Washington, soon to be erected, will be built to last all time. Of course Mr. Gilbert, excellent architect as he is, is mistaken. It will not last for all time. Nothing made by hands with material things will last so long. The thoughts, principles, minds of the men who will sit on the supreme bench will be more enduring than the building. Principles endure, mind endures, truth endures, life lasts forever.

HOT WEATHER

Hot weather is less a matter of the thermometer than of the mind. What we think about the weather and its effect on us is largely what we allow ourselves to think. Don't get upset by the heat. It's not worth it. The best way to treat the weather is to ignore it. Give it a chance and it will get you.

Officers Named By Home Circle

David Tucker Is New President Of New Castle Circle No. 5, P. H. C.

The busy session held by New Castle Circle No. 5, Protected Home Circle, on Wednesday night, called to the circle chamber a large representation of the membership when the big feature of the meeting was the semi-annual election of officers. The closing term in the local circle reflects much credit upon President Helen Hurst and the retiring officers for another successful one and as they leave their stations it is with the appreciation of the members for their efforts in the interest of the circle.

Many important items were disposed of before the election and it was the pleasure of the circle to have with them Supreme Auditor and State Deputy Dr. R. G. Baird and wife, of Sharon, filled with enthusiasm for the junior department in the order, to be installed in No. 5 at an early date.

Dr. Baird gave an excellent address along this line, while Counciler Roy Erwin took notes and is now ready for action, while Past President Leonard E. Dandy is looking forward for a juvenile team as the best in the state. Excellent reports were given by the representatives attending the recent grand convention held in Harrisburg, reporting especially the splendid activities of our famous knickerbocker team while in the Capitol City. And then too, the honor bestowed upon the local circle with the election of Past President A. L. Conn as supreme representative.

Past President L. E. Dandy as supreme guide, with Past President Roy Erwin as alternate and Past President Gertrude Halboth on one of the most important committees.

Trustee A. L. Conn, chairman of the picnic committee, reported that the outing this year, held at Cascade Park, promises to be the very best held in years and requests the committee to meet with him at the park on next Monday night for final arrangements for the big family gathering on August 7.

A feature of the event will be an address from the recently elected Grand President John C. Garrity, of Munhall, Pa., who is noted for his original wit and oratorical ability. The election of officers, with Past Presidents Grace Hoover, Esther Jeffries and Sister Gladys Gray follows and are:

President—David Tucker.
Vice President—Mary Patterson.
Guardian—Helen Ray.
Chaplain—Nora McCann.
Guide—Sara Dandy.
Companion—Marie Hearing.
Sentinel—Harry Mehlman.
Watchman—Flora Cunningham.
Pianist—Etta Welsh.

The accountant is appointed by the supreme directors and is George W. Must. The secretary, Lillie B. Jones and treasurer, George W. Wyman, are annually by the circle.

LILLIE B. JONES.

Secretary.

COUNSEL

They will laugh when a trickster gets by with his trick

And chuckle when cheaters succeed; To grin at deception the public is quick.

And books about crooks it will read. But don't be misled by the smiles which you see.

A thief's still a thief although clever he be.

It may seem as you gaze at the throng passing by

That honor is painfully slow; That favor and flattery lift men up high.

To the places which merit should know.

But just wait your time. You will find before long

Men may favor a weak man, but can't make him strong.

You will see easy money being lavished about

While you struggle you wages to earn.

But life has the habit of turning crooks out.

As the sharpest and smartest will learn.

And the cleverest trickster, whatever he gains,

Goes to prison at last, notwithstanding his brains.

So don't be deceived when they chuckle and grin

As fortune has prospered a cheat. Who does for the gains which men easily win

Is headed for certain defeat. It's the hard way and long way that leads to the top;

No trickster gets far without having to stop.

Boy Dies Trying To Save Pet Dog

(International News Service) MEXICO CITY, July 11.—The love of a boy for his dog cost the life of Bartolo Rodas Jaurez 13 here the other day. Bartolo playfully threw his dog into a stream. When he saw that the dog was unable to fight the current, he plunged into the water, though unable to swim, and drowned in a frantic effort to save the dog.

Snake Oil

Will Positively Relieve Pain in a Few Minutes
Try it right now for muscular rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sore stiff joints, swollen joints, pain in the back and limbs. After one application pain usually disappears as if by magic.
A new remedy used extensively by Congress, John, Group Influenza, Sore Throat and Coughs.
This oil is conceded to be the most penetrating ointment known. Its prompt and immediate effect is relieving. It is due to the fact that it penetrates to the affected parts at once. As an illustration, pour ten drops on the thickest piece of sole leather and it will penetrate this substance through in through in a few minutes.
Refuse imitations. Nothing like it in bottles.

ROUGHAGE IS ESSENTIAL IN REDUCING DIETS

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Ideal Roughage

If you are following a reducing diet, it is doubly important that you take a regular amount of roughage into the system daily. Most reducing diets do not contain a sufficient amount of roughage. The result is constipation—thief of both health and beauty.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is recommended by many doctors and dietitians because it contains the bulk necessary to insure proper elimination.

Also, because it contains the iron needed to help prevent anemia—another danger in reducing diets. ALL-BRAN is not fattening. Its bulk sweeps the system clean of poisonous wastes—helping to promote glorious health and beauty.

A popular way to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is soaked in fruit juice. Try it! It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals, salads and soups. It adds flavor to cooked foods and is equally effective. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is served in restaurants, hotels and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FAIR HARVARD'S HALLS INVADED BY 1,000 WOMEN

(International News Service) CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 11.—Fair Harvard's halls soon will again ring with the voices of feminine students. For six weeks every year, the historic university is transformed into co-educational institution, where young men and women from all parts of the country come to study, some for academic credit, some for education and some for pleasure and "atmosphere." This year, the summer school attendance totals more than 2,000, equally divided between men and women.

The teaching staff of the summer college is comprised mainly of teachers from the faculty of many western and Pacific coast universities, although many of the Harvard faculty remain to lecture. Professor J. Ralston Hayden, of University of Michigan will give two courses on Current Government, and Professor Lawrence M. Parsons of University of Illinois, will give a lecture course in history. The students will be quartered in Harvard freshman dormitories.

Miss Spends $10, Rides Five Hours To Pay $5 Fine

(International News Service) NEW YORK, July 11.—In these days of disregard for law, read about Erna Griminger, a 20 year old miss. In order to answer a summons for parking for her uncle, Otto Haugh, of Endicott, N. Y., with whom she lives, Miss Griminger arose before dawn, took a five hour train ride and spent $10 in railroad fares to appear in traffic court here at 9 a. m. and then the case wasn't called until noon. After paying the $5 fine, she departed lamenting the unpunctuality of New Yorkers.

"Back Roads" Useful To Men Of Medicine

(International News Service) HOOKSETT, N. H., July 11.—"Back roads"—the tourist condemns them, and the hiker dreads them—but to the medical profession they still have their merit and in this case solved a very delicate situation.

When the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo LaFleur swallowed a penny, which stuck in his throat, Dr. B. L. Freeman of Allenstown ordered the youth to the hospital. A short cut through the back roads was necessary.

The boy was jolted about in the car so much that he coughed up the penny proving—the back roads was the best instrument.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

5. The Puritans—The Puritans Cross The Atlantic

ON MARCH 29, 1630, FOUR VESSELS BEARING THE ADVANCE GUARD OF WINTHROP'S PURITAN COLONISTS SAILED FROM COWES, ENGLAND, FOR AMERICA, FOLLOWED A LITTLE LATER BY SEVEN OTHERS BRINGING THE REST OF THE EMIGRANTS.

THERE WERE, IN ALL, NEARLY A THOUSAND COLONISTS. THEY HAD BROUGHT THEIR HOUSEHOLD GOODS WITH THEM, AND WERE WELL SUPPLIED WITH CATTLE AND HORSES.

(Copyright, 1930, by J. Carroll Mansfield)

MANY OF THE EMIGRANTS WERE NOT PURITANS, THERE WERE EVEN A FEW WHO FAVORED THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND, BUT ALL SHARED THE COMMON DESIRE TO PLANT A HOME IN A NEW, STRANGE LAND.

IN JUNE, 1630, AFTER MORE THAN TWO MONTHS ON THE BROAD ATLANTIC, GOVERNOR WINTHROP'S SHIPS REACHED THE NEW ENGLAND COAST AND DROPPED ANCHOR IN THE HARBOR OF SALEM.

Armour And Smith Lead Golfers In First-Round Play

Tommy Armour And Mac Donald Smith Turn In 70 Cards To Lead Open Field

Bobby Jones Has Card Of 71 For First 18 Holes—Hagen Looks Good

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 11.—With the toothless glee of an out-of-town buyer off on a romp, age was having its fling this morning when the second round of the National open golf championship unlocked its sample case and spread its vivid features upon the counter for all the world to see.

Featuring the display was a couple of "museum pieces" one of them a British War Veteran with one eye, Tommy Armour; the other, good old MacDonald Smith, beaten in the play off twenty years ago and still trying for his first major title.

Pair of 70's
They topped the first day's returns with a pair of 70's, which burst upon the consciousness of semi-consciousness of the gallery at the end of a veritable "killer" of a day. These rounds were so good that they even went so far as to improve upon perfection, meaning they bettered the score of the perfect golfer, Bobby Jones, by one stroke.

Jones struggled through smothering vapors of heat to a 71, one under par, and for a time, found himself seated upon the throne that seems to be so inherently his. It seemed like the usual routine to find Jones recent winner of both British championships and defending his own title in this event, heading the slaving hordes but fate had decreed that this was not to be.

Jones is tied
First Jones was tied by a gentleman known as "Wifty" Cox, professional at a very exclusive public course in Brooklyn. It is so exclusive that, if you haven't got a dollar, they won't let you play. Next, along came Armour, the 1927 champion, to sink in a 6 footer on the eighteenth and take the lead. And finally there was Grim, hard-bitten MacSmith, the man whom fate had kicked for a football, fighting his way up to the home green for what looked to be an inevitable 69 for the course record.

But he still was prey to the whimsies of fortune and so he was trapped near the green and took a 70.

Hagen Looks Good
Later still came the old champion, Walter Hagen, who is trying to fight his way back to the honors that once fell to his hand at the merest gesture. He rallied grandly on the back nine to get a par 72 and tie with Horton Smith, George Smith, Harry Cooper and John Rogers.

So this morning it still was anybody's championship, as always it must be in the second round, and with men like Armour, Mac Smith, Hagen, Johnny Golden, Willie MacFarlane, Jim Barnes and Johnny Farrell within a broken-stride of the pace makers, age and experience were holding high carnival. The very grave and unemotional Mr. Jones combines a little of both, being well on his way to getting enough years and having attained more than enough of experience at the ripe, old age of eighteen.

Watch Jones Today
Jones, of course, will be the focal point today, as always. He already has done more than mortal man can expect in winning that pair of British titles in as many months. He wants to do more. He wants to win this national open championship for the fourth time and so not only achieve the miracle of all golfing miracles, but at the same time, put his friends in Atlanta in the way of winning a quarter of a million dollars.

This can be done if Jones wins the four major championships of the two major countries. Lloyd's of London having wagered that he wouldn't, at odds of 50 to 1. Those odds will be for sale at the notion counter if Jones wins this tournament and, in the spot he occupies this morning, no one would care to say that he won't. As a matter of fact, he would be so far out in front now that they would never catch him with a writ of extradition—if he had been putting yesterday. However, they don't use "if" columns on the score cards.

Starting Time Reversed
The field so weary from the chronic heat that it finished yesterday with its collective tongue down upon its collective vest, will turn about this morning and reverse its starting times, in order to equalize everything. Jones therefore will start at 12:30 o'clock, while Hagen, his arch-rival in gallery consciousness, will be away at 10:40. Armour and Mac Smith, having attained over night consequence, will be in the focus, too, and they are to start off after the manner of a pursuit race at 10:30 and 10:55 respectively.

It is a heartening thing to have the Hagen's, the Armours, and the Mac Smith's reinstated to popular attention again, and perish the day that sees them returned to the comparative obscurity that has been theirs this year. But the continued heat is certain to be a factor in the final returns that will be posted, like Gabriel's roll of eligibles, late tomorrow afternoon. Jones not only has the golf but the youth and the stamina and this event seems to be becoming as much a test of endurance as of golf.

This fact will assume heightened significance when the field is cut down like so much Minnesota wheat and the survivors sent forward to that stifling 36 hole grind tomorrow. Of all those who are up in the money this morning only Jones would seem to have all the essentials demanded by this heart-breaking test of the morrow.

Hillville Team Trims Universals

The Hillville team downed the Universal Sanitary team 4 to 2 in a well played game at the Hillville field last night. Riley on the mound for the winners pitched good ball, allowing but six hits and fanning seven men. Shiek hurried for the Universals and was found for 12 hits, but he fanned nine men. P. Grist had the only extra-base hit of the game.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Six games back of the A's and seven to the rear of the on-rushing Senators, the broken Yankees left today for a three weeks tour in the west which ultimately may determine if the Shawkeymen are a first division club, let alone near champions.

Without the power and inspiration of Babe Ruth, the Yankees practically suffered a technical kayo yesterday at the hands of the world's champions, who rang up a 9 to 1 victory in a skirmish that rendered the Yankees almost pitiful. Gehrig, Lazzeri, Coombs, Rice and Dickey, all 300 hitters, folded up like envelopes before the offerings of George Earnshaw, who gave the Ruthless orphans only three hits. Bishop starred with the hickory for the A's, grabbing a single, double and tri-sacker.

Orders Stribling Remain On Ground

(International News Service)
PARIS, July 11.—Young Stribling's plan to fly from here to London on Monday for his scheduled bout with Phil Scott on July 28 was blocked today by Jeff Dickson, promoter of the affair, who maintained flying involved too much danger.

Shortly after his arrival in Paris, the Georgian ring marvel purchased a French touring airplane. Dickson immediately threatened court proceedings if the boxer should persist in risking flights before his battle with Scott.

All players making the trip with the Indies to Kinsman should report at the DiMuccio store at 11:30 o'clock. The Indies play the Soda Jerkers next Tuesday night. Those desiring games should call 9061 and ask for Jimmy.

Postponed Game Arranged Tonight

There will be a postponed Church League game tonight at Clifton Flats field. The Third U. P. and First Christians will tangle. The contest starts at 6:30 o'clock. This game was rained out earlier in the season.

Bessemer-Polish A. A. To Battle Saturday

The Polish A. A. and Bessemer game for Saturday at the Glasser field looks like a top-heavy drawer. The teams are tied for the lead in the City-County League. The game starts at 2:15 o'clock.
Tonight at 6:30 o'clock the Polish team will stage a practice session at Glasser field. The Bessemer team will come here tomorrow to down the Polish boys and climb into the bandwagon, but the Polish boys may have something to say about that.
The Polish A. A. would like to play a few Sunday games with Ohio teams. For games write to Edward Kellar, 56 High street, or call phone 9375 and ask for Kellar.

Eighteen per cent of recreation accidents occur in the game of baseball, according to a large insurance firm. Swimming is second.

The first race horse he ever saw was hitched to the tailboard of a prairie schooner. Two years later, every track in America resounded to that famous cry, "C'm on Sande!" He always gave the public the best run for its money.

That's the reason, too, for OLD GOLD'S quick success. OLD GOLD gives the public a run for its money. Made of nature-blessed tobaccos, it offers you the taste-thrill you've always longed for. . . it eliminates the throat-hack you've always hated.

Council Refuses Plea For Fireworks

Councilmen Will Not Make Exception To New Ordinance—Council Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, July 11.—Ellwood Councilmen held their regular meeting of boro council in the city building last night.

Among other things taken up was a petition from the pastor of the Purification church, whereby the congregation wished to have a few set pieces in a fireworks display, in connection with a festival to be held on the church lawn and athletic grounds August 14 and 16 inclusive. Although the matter was discussed pro and con, regarding the fireworks, the councilmen decided to grant the request for the right to have the festival, with the exception of the fireworks in the boro limits. This motion made by Gail Morrison was carried in a vote including all councilmen with the exception of Mr. Rocco, who took exception to the fact that they would not give the permission for fireworks, although the new ordinance does not permit it.

The old town pump on Lawrence and Sixth street is to be no more. It is to be replaced by a modern drinking fountain by the W. C. T. U. with the boro furnishing the water.

The ordinance in regard to the sale of milk in the boro on application of permit, which must be procured annually and only granted those whose dairies were accepted by the health department was passed on second and final reading.

A corner of the paving leaving Fifth street from Keystone Way will be rounded in order to make it safer for traffic. This matter was referred to the street committee and boro manager.

That the American Legion should assume the responsibility of conduct of the amusement at their circus it was decided by councilman to retain the fee, holding it as a bond until a later meeting. The fee charged by city is $50 for fifty dollars for main tents and $10 for all small tents.

The police committee and fire chief asked that they might be relieved of the regular fee when they have their circus July 21 and 22. This request was granted.

The police department reported 10 arrests, 2 discharged, 2 fined and 3 commonwealth cases, for the month of June. Fire chief H. T. Plante reported 3 fires none of which had reported damage. Health officer Youngs reports showed that Ellwood has had three cases of measles in the last month.

Work on the three tennis courts at the athletic field will be started the first of next week, according to councilman W. A. Kerr. As per request from the boro manager, L. W. Monro, a concrete mixer which will cost $1,005.00 will be purchased for use by the boro. His request for a modern type of typewriter was also granted.

A communication was received by the finance committee from attorneys representing officers Booher and Chassey who were placed under arrest from June 21 to September 25 in 1928. He placed a request for pay which was placed on file and the police attorney is to be instructed as to the action taken.

Toward the close of the meeting the boro manager introduced Wilfred Juppenlaz, representing the Morris Knowles Engineers of Pittsburgh, who addressed the men at length concerning the advisability of considering a zoning plan before it was too late. He illustrated his talk with a map of Monessen where one part of the town showed the beauties brought about by such a plan, while the other part showed many discrepancies.

The idea as outlined by Mr. Juppenlaz was well received by the councilmen who told him that they might be interested at a later date, especially in regard to the park placing and planning.

Three Scout Leaders Pass Tests At Camp

ELLWOOD CITY, July 11.—Scout leaders held their last meeting of the training course at Camp Phillips yesterday afternoon. The tests were taken and passed by Spurgeon Elder, scoutmaster of the American Legion troop; J. A. Pearson, district commissioner, and Perry Uber, field executive.

This was a five-hour session and an interesting one, with woodcraft, fire building, knot tying and camping included in their tests. The men found the camp in splendid shape with the boys from Ellwood now camping, absolutely happy.

Contests Feature Happy Hour Class Picnic Thursday

ELLWOOD CITY, July 11.—Great fun was enjoyed by members of the Happy Hour class of the Slippery Rock church and their husbands when they assembled for their picnic at the home of Mrs. Jesse Weingartner of the New Castle road with their husbands, last night.

Following a picnic dinner on the lawn, contests of every form were in vogue. Ball tag was followed by pillow races, between the men and women.

The combination race, wherein the men donned a dust cap, apron and wheeled a baby carriage was featured as well as the women donning straw hats, jackets and wheeling wheelbarrows.

Mrs. Jesse Weingartner and Ephraim Wilson won the contest, which included throwing 25 beans into a bag one at a time.

The measuring contest honors went to Mrs. James Perdue and J. M. Hook. The cracker eating contest was won by Charles Wilson and the "Light it" test which included sitting on a overturned milk bottle with legs crossed while lighting an unlighted candle was awarded to no one, as there were no winners in this contest.

Gas Piped Into Slippery Rock Church For Stove

ELLWOOD CITY, July 11.—At the regular meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Slippery Rock church, the subject creating most of the interest was the fact that gas has been piped into the church and will command the purchase of a gas stove.

The money for furnishing the gas was produced by the Ladies Aid Society, most of whom are members of the Missionary Society. Quitting was the chief object of the all day meeting. A tureen dinner was served at noon.

Famous Colored Baseball Team Takes 9 To 7 Victory Over County Leaguers

ELLWOOD CITY, July 11.—One of the greatest attractions of the season Ellwood City's Beaver County Leaguers battled with the Homestead Grays here last night to a 9-7 score before a large crowd of fans from this district.

As usual the Grays started the fireworks in the very first frame by collecting four runs and then two more in the next. Ellwood was not far behind as they also scored twice in the second session.

The visitors gardnered three tallies in the fourth but this ended their scoring as the locals settled down and held them scoreless the remainder of the tilt.

In the fifth the Tubers secured a lone tally but had a good sixth inning as they chalked up three tallies and then still another in the next. This rally was not quite strong enough to tie up the fray.

Fred Sanders enjoyed a good day at the bat as he was credited with three bingles and also one tally. Latano had two to his credit while Fitzgerald and Burke had three bangers. Cowie crossed the plate twice for Ellwood.

Stevens, Harris and Scales featured for the colored crew as the first two had three sacks apiece and two markers while the latter had two runs and hits. One of his was a home run.

On Saturday the local club plays a New Castle club, which replaces Rochester. The contest will take place on the local grounds. According to reports, Rochester, has withdrawn from the league due to difficulties in securing players.

The afternoon was devoted to contests, for which a number received awards.

Fire Alarm System Passed On By Board

ELLWOOD CITY, July 11.—At the meeting of the board of directors in the chamber of commerce rooms yesterday afternoon, they decided to adopt the survey as recommended by the committee appointed to investigate and study a new fire alarm system in Ellwood.

The board in turn will recommend this adoption to members of boro council at a future meeting.

At present Ellwood is without an alarm system, having to depend entirely upon a telephone. A great expense, caused by a fire might be avoided if alarm boxes should be placed at equal distances over the city.

CHURCH OF GOD NOTES
Miss Blanche Seasholtz who is in the city in interest of Bible work will address the Y. P. C. T. S. at the Church of God, Friday at 7:45 p. m., with both societies present. She has been attending the Anderson college, Anderson, Indiana, for the last four years. Her subject will be "Efficient Workmen."

The police of Newark, N. J., have voted for cooler conversation in the ball park and less of it.

Hereafter describing umpires as so-called so-and-sos will not longer be a release to pent up baseball feelings. It will be a misdemeanor.

Umpires have ears and the Newark badge bearers intend to protect them even if the fans strangle on their stifled vocabularies.

From now on an umpire's oral ornaments will be tickled by nothing warmer than sunburn.

The plight of the Newark fans is fearful to behold. Their team is in seventh place and now they can only discuss the disaster in drawing room language.

And just thinking about it is liable to spread an epidemic of New Jersey headaches.

However, the rule stands. From now on Newark's motto is: Suffer in silence or listen to the game over the radio.

The Stein Song was written over 30 years ago, which shows how dangerous it is to delay a prohibition act.

More than three keen disappointments to get the best of a good golfer and Jock is one of the best. That's why he's once more trying at Inter-lachen this week.

Jock's first chance came in 1916 when he shot a brilliant 288. That mark would have won in most years but not 1916 for it was that year that Chick Evans won the title with 286.

Jock had to be content with second place.

Jock's second chance came in 1920, the year Edward Ray won with a 295. Jock shot a 296 and was forced to share second place with Harry Vardon, Leo Durol and Jack Burke.

In the 1923 tourney Jock led the field until almost the very end when Bobby Jones and Bobby Cruickshank beat him out and tied for first, Jones winning the playoff.

SAYS ALL WORK IN THIS COUNTRY IS HONORABLE

(International News Service)
PARIS, July 11.—"In America there is no dishonorable work. It is considered the natural state of men and women," writes Professor Fortunat Strowski in "Le Matin." "I have known young fellows who washed dishes and peeled potatoes and later became bankers, professors and diplomats." Monsieur Strowski goes on to give great praise to the American workmen's federations and associations having found that their aim is neither mystical nor political, nor fanatical, seeking only more independence and a greater measure of equality for all workers. American Socialists, he says, differ in large measure from the European ones, the latter working primarily for a class war and the former bending all energy toward the elimination of class distinction. Since the war, he reports that 11,000,000 bathtubs and 11,000,000 telephones have been installed in the homes of private persons in America, largely workmen, inasmuch as these so-called luxuries were already enjoyed before the war by the reasonably well-off. "The workers' federations in the United States," concludes the French writer, "do not consider themselves a special form of humanity nor a period in human evolution; they are workmen's organizations, that's all. They are able to set going terrible strikes, but they do not separate prosperity."

Left Ranch Once In Fifty-Five Years

(International News Service)
ALTURAS, Cal., July 11.—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Higgins are well content with the mountain ranch near Adin in southern Modoc County. Only once in 55 years have they left the homestead which Higgins located in 1874 when he operated a stage line between Susanville and Adin, and brought in the first mail. The Higgins were married in 1875 and made their home in a log cabin, still standing today near the modern house in which they now live. Their only absence from the ranch occurred in 1926 when they made a trip to their old home in North Carolina.

They were both born in Yancy County, N. C. Higgins in 1846, and his wife ten years later. He served with the Confederate Army, and came to California in 1869.

Princess To Attend Legion Meeting

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Mass., July 11.—Princess Alexandra, Gr. Cantacuzene, of Roumania, a member of one of the oldest royal families of Europe, is to be a guest at the annual National convention of the American Legion to be held here next October, according to announcement from the National Auxiliary. Princess Cantacuzene, International President of Fidae Auxiliary, an organization of women relatives of World War veterans of Allied Nations and a member of many other international organizations, is well known for her social work among women and children. Her family's history goes back to the 13th century and has given many emperors to Roumania and many important military and literary leaders. Her husband is also of a very old Roumanian family. The princess is a Roumanian member of the League of Nations. London a year ago.

Boston U. Announces 47 New Promotions

(International News Service)
BOSTON, July 11.—Forty-seven promotions and twenty-three new appointments to the faculty of Boston University, were announced by President Daniel L. Marsh. The faculty changes included the College of Liberal Arts, Business Administration, Practical Arts and Letters, School of Medicine and School of Education.

Meals Cost Wives $60,000,000 Daily

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., July 11.—Setting three meals a day on the family table costs the housewives of America more than $60,000,000 every day, according to Dr. H. E. Barnard, food authority and collaborator in the formation of the modern pure food laws of the United States. "The nation's food bill amounts to $22,000,000,000 annually, or more than the total capital invested in all railroads of the country," Dr. Barnard declared. "This includes every type of edible commodity purchased by the public from the grocer, the butcher, and the confectioner. "Growing knowledge of dietetic values is making American housewives the most scientific food buyers in the world."

Plan Memorial For Famous War Bulldog

UHRICHVILLE, Ohio, July 11.—Waterford Post, American Legion, Uhrichville, of which "Bing" bulldog mascot of company D, One Hundred and Thirty-sixth Machine Gun Battalion, was a member, will ask other Tuscarawas county posts and the public to help rear a granite memorial for the dog in the soldier's plot in Union cemetery on Armistice Day. Bing, who was wounded and gassed overseas, had to be chloroformed recently.

Chicago Drys Make Big Hauls

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, July 11.—Nine stills, 42 breweries, 22,771 gallons of beer, 6,344 gallons of alcohol and 163,321 gallons of mash were seized by the prohibition bureau during May, according to the report just made by Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yellowley. In addition 446 arrests were made.

MRS. LINDBERGH AND HER SON

Adding To Plant At Sharpsville

has awarded to Wade D. Mertz a contract for construction of an addition to its local plant. The new building, 42 by 100 feet, will be used in the manufacture of pumps for gasoline stations, one of the company's principal products. Works will be started at once.

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Remember that little poem in McGuffey's, that started, "how doth the busy little bee improve each shining hour." A whole flock of bees have been improving each shining hour up on East Street, but at the expense of somebody else. And now Mrs. R. K. Aiken would like to get rid of them.

A few days ago some carpenters were hired to make some repairs about the house and the first day there found that a bee colony was established under the flashing of the house. The bees had work to do, they were in a hurry to do it, and they did not relish the intrusion of men with tools. A council of war was held by the bees and it was decided that as long as the men didn't bother them they wouldn't bother the men.

On the other end of the argument the men working there are glad enough to leave the bees alone so that the bee colony still continues.

That moon last night was one of the kind, sentimentalists get mushy over, and the ones with a flair for poesy throw out a lot of lines that nearly rhyme. Without attempting to state anything but a fact, you must admit that it was a wowser.

Looked for all the world like a huge plate of lemon ice cream hanging over the world, with nothing needed but a spoon. In many cases this was probably provided, but it's the moon we were talking about. It was the same moon in town of course, but not nearly so attractive, or as infectious as it was out where the trees are tall and heavy.

For about an hour the moon fought the tree tops, endeavoring to break through but with varying success. Little pencils of silver would filter through, only to be blotted out. Gradually the moon worked its way higher until finally the radiance was too much for even the heavy foliage and it broke through. The alchemy of it turned everything into silver, while the creek looked as though it was filled with phosphorus, as the reflection of the moon lit up the surface of the water.

And the next thing you know this colyum will be going mawkish and the boys down at the fire house will blame it on the heat.

If you happen to be an old timer, do you remember when there was a grist mill near Armstrong's Bridge on the Slippery Rock, or when the Rebecca well was out there, or when the valley was dotted with oil riggings. Or can you remember why they called that hollow leading off from the creek, Turkey Hollow?

MONTEREY, Cal., July 11.—Justice of the Peace Ray Baugh, who came into prominence several months ago when he sentenced Mrs. Sue Brown, young Monterey mother, to jail for having homemade beer in her home, has filled notice of his candidacy for re-election.

Baugh, who is now 29 years old, has served as Justice of the Peace here for four years.

Educator Plans Airplane Tour

(International News Service)
BOSTON, July 11.—Arthur W. McLean, founder and dean of Portia Law School of this city, will spend the summer touring Europe. He will proceed to each city by airplane.

$5,000,000 Mart Planned In St. Louis

(International News Service)
ST. LOUIS, July 11.—The Terminal Railroad Association is sponsoring a plan today whereby a $5,000,000 sixteen-story merchandise market building will be erected in a busy section here.
